YWCA Membership Drive Opens Monday

To contact each upperclasswoman on the campus for membership in the YWCA for the current year will be the goal of the membership chairmen when the one week drive opens Monday.

UNLibrary Has Varied Life Story

BY RUTH MARVIN.

Studying on composition topped tables beneath fluorescent lighting, walking on rubber tiled floor silencing sound and soft blue green walls comforting the eyes, the student of today enjoys the advantages of Love Library, the result of 34 years of work.

Since 1911 when talk of a new library first began, Love Library has had a varied history. Dr. Robert A. Miller director of libraries from 1937 to 1940 led a vigorous campaign pointing out the inadequacy of old library hall. With a student body of over 5,000, the old building had a seating capacity of 400. Over half the book stock had to be stored in 23 different places over the campus and because of a bad roof many volumes were damaged by water. There was only one seminar room, eight seats in the stacks and no faculty study carrels. Despite its low capacity of 400 the library was rarely full for students found the poor lighting and ventilation unattractive.

Conclude Campaign.

Concluding the four year campaign, the Board of Regents announced in October, 1940, that the bequest of Don L. Love, prominent lawyer, banker and twice mayor, would be used for a new library. Ground on the present site was broken in April, 1941, and the building was completed in the spring of 1943.

Instead of serving as a library the $350,000 building became a (See LIBRARY, page 2.)

Students Assist Hospitalized Vets As Study Course

Three students from the university graduate school of social work will be chosen to assist the Veterans Administration in Lincoln with the increasing number of soldiers being hospitalized, Dr. Frank Z. Glick, school director, announced today.

Working on a dollar-a-year basis, these students, who have been requested by the Veterans Administration, will incorporate this experience in their graduate study course. They will help Lincoln veterans seek hospitalization, assist hospitalized veterans with home and community affairs, and help those released from the hospital to fit themselves into community life again.

Dr. Glick said the school is in addition "loaning" students to the Lincoln social welfare society, The Lancaster county assistance bureau, Nebraska orthopedic hospital, The Omaha family welfare association and the Omaha child welfare association.

Last Call—Come Get 'Em or We'll Throw 'Em Out!

Last call is coming up for the three identification cards and one Cornhusker receipt left in The Nebraskan office!

For several weeks, three ident cards have reposed in the catch-all drawer of the managing editor's desk, waiting patiently for their owners to call for them. The other day while investigating the odds and ends stored in that drawer, the staff discovered the lost cards again.

Glen R. Faulhaber, Roger McWilliams and Lee Carter are being paged. Come and get 'em or we'll throw 'em out!

Huskers Score 14 Hoosiers Reach 54

It wasn't as bad as last year.

Husker fans could console themselves with that fact after Nebraska's 54 to 14 defeat by Indiana's versatile and well-balanced Hoosier eleven Saturday afternoon before a Hoosier homecoming crowd at Bloomington, Indiana.

Spotty defensive work ruined Patsy Clark's men in the second quarter, and repeated lapses in the second half put a finish on Nebraska hopes for a close score as Indiana ran and passed at will through and over the Husker defenders in chalking up their third win of the season.

State College Envoys Seek Relief Fund

Representatives from every college in the state will meet at the Union this afternoon to consider strategy for the collection of funds for student relief in war torn countries.

Bill Miller, president of the University Religious Welfare Council, is to preside at the meeting which will be held in parlors X, Y and Z at 1:30. All students on the campus are invited to attend.

Miss Erva Meedy, regional director for World Student Service Fund, who has done Lutheran mission work in China, will speak at the meeting. Also on the program is Miss Huguette Balzola. Miss Balzola spent the past summer and early fall in Europe under the auspices of the World Student Service Fund. Born in Paris, she lived in France and Spain until 1937, and since then in Mexico.

She obtained her B.A. degree at the University of Kentucky in 1944 with "high distinction." Miss Balzola has earned her place in "Who's Who" as a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Philosophy Club, President of Mortar Board, the Cosmopolitan, Spanish and French Club, and a member of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

An experienced speaker, she will have a fresh and vital message about the condition of students abroad.

Turning to Nebraska's brief offensive moments, the scoring formula remained unchanged only the principles being different. This Saturday it was Game Captain Ed Gradoville, Plattsmouth flash, who pitched the scoring passes.

First Score

The first scoring play came early in the third quarter on a sustained drive down the field after the Huskers received the Indiana kickoff following the Hoosier's fifth touchdown.

Starting from the Nebraska 29, Gerald Moorer and Gradoville alternated in carrying the pigskin to the 40. At this spot Ed hit end Paul Kipper with a pass which moved the ball to the Indiana 34. Another pass to Chick Story was good for a first down on the Hoosier 10 and from here Gradoville spotted Kipper in the end zone and fired a payoff toss, Kipper outfighting two Indiana defenders for the ball. Burwell Bill Sloan added the extra point to conclude the third quarter offensive show from the Nebraska standpoint.

Late in the final quarter, Don Sailors intercepted an Indiana pass on the Hoosier 26 to put Nebraska in scoring territory once more. Sloan passed to Sailors for a first down on the ten and after two fruitless plays, Gradoville entered the game. After one incomplete pass, the Plattsmouth ace, one of the three lettermen on squad, unleashed a scoring pass to Dick Skog, Omaha fullback, who took the ball in the end zone. Again Sloan added the point.

High Hopes.

Nebraska fans had hopes in the early moments of the game, for the Huskers repulsed a Hoosier scoring bid on the three yard line after the black-shirted In-

Union Board Picks Committee To Plan Ag Recreation Center

Appointment of three members of the Student Union board to supervise expenditure of funds for the ag recreation center was announced by Mildred Engstrom, president of the board.

Those chosen for the committee were Miss Florence Smith, faculty member; Milton Anderson, alumnus member; and Mildred Engstrom, student member. This committee will have final authority for expenditure and distribution of funds for the recreation building and will be assisted by Miss Evelyn Metzger, professor of home economics, T. H. Gooding, professor of agronomy, and Allan Klingman.

Blue Print Stage.

Plans for the building are still in the blueprint stage, but those plans include furnishings and equipping the center in the new foods and nutrition building on ag campus. The center will be housed in the basement of the building in the north wing and will act as an extension of the Union program already maintained on the city campus.

Under the supervision of the Union board of managers, the ag center will include a general lounge and reading room, fountain, and all-purpose room for meetings, an annex to the fountain as a dance hall, record room, two small committee rooms or organization offices, an office for a Union supervisor and a check stand.

The three non-members of the committee studying the plans for the center will act as advisors.

Faculty Membership

Membership cards will be issued to all university faculty and staff members to identify them and give them the right to enjoy Union privileges, both on the city campus and on the planned ag campus Union. This course of action was decided on at the board meeting in order that adults who are not entitled to the privileges may be identified. Pat Lahr, board member, stated that any staff or faculty member who was not mailed a card could receive one by calling at the Union office at any time.

Also under discussion at the board meeting was the question of office space for the Awgwan, campus humor magazine. Board members referred the issue to publications board, suggesting that space formerly used by War Council be permanently partitioned off for use by the Awgwan.

Avery Heads Conference

Harold V. Avery, who received his master's degree in music from the university in 1944, has been elected president of the Mississippi Music Educators conference. He is now head of the music department of Belhaven college, Jackson, Miss.

Mr. Avery did some teaching in addition to studying for his master's degree while he was enrolled in the school of music. Mrs. Avery was an instructor in voice at the university for three years.

Cornhusker Lists

All organized women's houses must have their lists of girls who purchased Cornhuskers at registration into the Cornhusker office by 1 p. m. Monday. If lists are not in by that time, those sales will not count toward beauty queen candidates, according to Joyce Crosbie, Cornhusker editor.
