Coeds Vote for 'Bachelors' Today

Chorus Sings Traditional Carols in Annual Concert

Traditional carols of many countries will be sung by the University singers at the sixth annual Christmas carol concert Sunday, Dec. 2 in the Union ballroom.

Two performances will be given to accommodate the crowd and free admission cards which will guarantee a seat are available at the Union office. The first performance is at 2:30 and the second at 4:00 p. m.

Holiday Decorations.

The stage will be decorated in the holiday motif with Christmas trees and the Christmas star in the background. A string quartet composed of faculty members from the school of music will play several numbers at intermissions. Those in the quartet are Mr. Emanuel Wishnow, first violin; Mr. Wilbur Price, second violin; Mr. James Nehez, viola, and Miss Sara Davis, cello. Miss Mary Alice Peterson will play the organ.

Under the direction of Arthur E. Westbrook the group of 100 voices will present carols from Italy, Bohemia, England, Poland, France and Germany. Miss Peggy Shelley, student director, will direct the group in one number.

The program is as follows:

1. Alla Trinita, Traditional.
2. Gloria Patri, Palestrina.
3. Adoremus Te, Palestrina.
4. O Magnum Mysterium, Vittoria.
5. Glory be to God, Znamen Tradition. Andante—quartet in A minor, Schubert.
6. The Mass Kings, Govert.
7. The Shepherds, Saboly.
8. A Christmas Carol from Lapland, Traditional.
9. Still Grows the Evening, Traditional Bohemian.
10. Touro-Louro-Louro, Provençal.
11. The Twelve Days of Christmas, English; directed by Margaret Sheller.
12. Interlude in Ancient Style, Glazunow.
13. The First Nowell, Old English.
14. Carol of the Doves, Polish Carol.
15. The Sleep of the Child Jesus, French.
16. Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming, Praetorius.
17. Jesu! Thou Dear Babe Divine, Traditional Haydn.
18. Silent Night, German.

Home Ec Club Sponsors Ellen Richards Party

To celebrate the 103rd birthday anniversary of Ellen H. Richards, home economics founder, the home ec club will sponsor an annual dinner tomorrow in the Union ballroom at 6:15 p. m.

Main speaker for the event will be Mrs. Roscoe Hill, who will discuss "Looking Forward and Backward on Home Economics." Miss Margaret Fedde, head of the Home Economics department, will welcome the dinner guests.

Present Tribute.

A tribute to Ellen H. Richards will be presented by Miss Jean Potadle; and the Betty Lamp, symbol of home economics, will be explained by Miss Gloria Bremer. Miss Margarida Davis, foreign fellowship student from Brazil, will sing several Portuguese songs; and Miss Rose Dunder, home economics secretary, will sing "Italian Street Song." President Monica Alberty will be toastmistress.

The dining room is open to all home economics students and faculty. Tickets will be on sale in the home ec office until tonight.

Laurel Adams and Eleanor Johnson are co-chairmen for the banquet. Other chairmen are: Marietta Schoup, publicity; Elaine Otto, decorations; Beth Norenberg and Florence Arnold, music; Marianne Srb, hostess; Helen Plechas, tickets; and Vauna Burbank, program.

Women Elect Six From 18 Eligibles

Campus coeds today will choose the Six Most Eligible Bachelors, the men who stand highest in their estimation as being the most charming and UNATTACHED.

The polls will open at 9 in the basement of the Union and will close at 6 p. m. Women may cast their votes from 11 to 3 in Ag Hall on Ag Campus.

Coeds will elect the bachelors from 18 candidates named by organized groups and the results of the election will be announced at the ball. The presentation ceremony is being kept secret.

Eighteen Candidates.

The candidates include: Lowell Anderson, Cecil Jacobsen, Al Liedel, Donald Bauman, Bill Swanson, Duane Foote, John Bell, Fred Teller, Jim Pettis, Don Barry, Gordon Ehlers, Richard Koefoot, Dewayne Bourne, Bob Korte, Merle Moser, Don Chapin, Mick McGuire, and John Adams.

The six bachelors will be presented at the Mortar Board Ball Saturday night at the coliseum where Morton Wells and his orchestra will play from 8 to 12. The turnabout dance, when the coeds act as escorts for the evening, is the first postwar semi-formal affair.

Tickets for the dance may be purchased from Mortar Boards and Tassels. The tickets are now $1.50 and will cost $1.80 at the door. Spectator tickets are 50c.

Ted Jorgensen Discusses Atom Power at Convo

Prof. Theodore Jorgensen, jr., will return to the university from work on the atomic bomb to address students at a convocation a week from today on the subject of "Atomic Power."

Professor Jorgensen has been on leave from the university department of physics since Feb. 1, 1943, and has been working at Los Alamos, New Mexico. In the government metallurgical laboratory at Los Alamos, Professor Jorgensen and a group of University of Chicago scientists constructed and tested atomic bombs.

First in Series.

The convocation will be at 3 p. m. in the Union ballroom, according to Dr. Henry H. Marvin, chairman of the university physics department. This will be the first in a series of talks Professor Jorgensen is to give over the state.

He received his A. B. and A. M. degrees from Nebraska and a Ph. D. from Harvard in 1936. Before going on leave, Professor Jorgensen was an assistant professor of physics at the university.

Pharmacy College Students Receive Education Awards

Four scholarships valued at $50 each, given the university by the American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education, were awarded to four College of Pharmacy students.

The recipients of the scholarships are Frances Longfellow, Esther Anderson, Helen Ullom and Charlotte Cox.

YWCA Invites Guests to Hang Greens, Dec. 5

The Hanging of the Greens, traditional event sponsored by the YWCA to decorate Ellen Smith hall for the Christmas season, will be held December 5 at 5:30 p. m.

Board members of AWS, Coed Counselors, Home Economics Council, BABW, ag and city YWCA cabinets, Student Foundation, Student Council, Tassels, publications staffs, presidents of organized houses, dean of women and assistants, and YWCA Advisory board members are invited.

Chairman of the committee is Cleone Reetz.

Business College Leads in Number of Vets Enrolled

Leading all colleges on the campus in the number of veterans enrolled, the College of Business Administration has 105 veterans this semester. The College of Engineering has 101 veterans, followed by Arts and Sciences with 75 and College of Agriculture with 50.

Other college totals are: Teachers College, 35 veterans; College of Dentistry, 24; Graduate college, 15; College of Medicine, 11; and Pharmacy, 6.

Eight Per Day.

According to Prof. J. P. Colbert, chairman of the university's Consultation Board for Veterans and ExWar Workers, veterans have been streaming to the university at a rate of eight per day inquiring about admission to the university when second semester classes start in February.

Preferences expressed by veterans planning to enter the university in the different classes and in the graduate college are for the colleges of Engineering, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration and Law.

Inquire About Engineering.

Mr. Colbert believes that the large number of students inquiring about engineering courses reflects three things: the mechanized warfare brought a larger number of young men into contact with the machine, much publicity has been given the possibility that our country is about ready to enter another vast scientific era, and the war has drained off thousands of young men who would ordinarily have staffed the (See BUSINESS COLLEGE, P. 7.)

Surprise! Surprise! Mortar Board Ball

Have you ever felt that you couldn't stand it any longer? Has your brain been racked until it is bare and empty of ideas? Have you ever thought and thought and thought and found no answer?

That's the way I feel. I just found out that there is going to be a surprise at the Mortar Board Ball. Not just the surprise of knowing who the six eligible bachelors are, but something else. "It" will be presented right after the announcement of the bachelors.

Secret.

Just thought I'd let you in on the secret so you, too, may look up from your books and mutter, "I wonder what the surprise is," and may startle your professors when you answer his question with "No, it couldn't be that. What have those Mortar Boards cooked up now?"

Really, it's quite embarrassing at times. My loyal classmates have been investigating the best sanitariums in the nation, trying to find one that will cure talking to yourself and gazing into space with wrinkled brow and gritted teeth.

What Can It Be?

At first I went thru the dictionary, picking out likely subjects for a surprise. Ah, "ability"—maybe it's an act with talent and sparkle, something new. Or, here's "book"—maybe a new donation for Love Memorial Library. No, that doesn't sound as logical as "prize" which might mean they're giving a prize for the best dressed couple or something.

AWS Grants 1:00 Nite

University coeds will be given 1 o'clock for the Mortar Board party Saturday evening, according to Midge Holtzschaver, AWS president.

I only hope I've got you doing it now, because it's awfully lonely here in this padded cell. They're planning to let me out Saturday night in hopes that the sudden shock will restore my wandering mind and the pleasure of discovering the secret surprise will give me something to live for.

Let's see—it could be "wealth" which would mean—

Positions Open

Two staff positions on The Nebraskan, circulation manager and assistant business manager, are now open to any students desiring to file for them.

Applications for the positions may be obtained in the journalism office in U Hall. Publications board will meet Tuesday, Dec. 4, to interview applicants and to select the new staff members. Applications must be in before the meeting Tuesday.

Students Discuss Present-Day Questions in Campus Forums

Presenting both sides of those steaming questions that everyman likes to stop in the street and discuss, a series of All-Campus Forums will be inaugurated with the first to be held Thursday of next week.

Purpose of the forums is to give the student body an opportunity to hear both sides of such current questions as increased wages for labor, racial discrimination, and full employment.

First Forums.

Participants in the first forum will discuss the question, "Are Labor's Demands for Wage Increases Justified?" Members of the faculty participating in the panel will be Richard Bourne and Curtis Elliot. Two student members will also be chosen to complete the panel.

Planning the forums is a special forum committee made up of representatives of campus organizations. Chairman is Helen Laird, student council member appointed earlier in the semester to organize the series.

Westbrook Invites Students to Sing in Messiah Choir

University students who have sung in the Messiah previously and are familiar with the choruses are invited to sing again this year, according to Director Arthur E. Westbrook. The Messiah is being held on Sunday, Dec. 9, at 3 p. m. in the coliseum.

Those who wish to participate are asked to report for a special rehearsal Tuesday night, Dec. 4, at 7 p. m. in the Temple theatre. Other rehearsals will be held Saturday, Dec. 8, at 1 p. m. in the coliseum and Sunday, Dec. 9, at 1 p. m., also in the coliseum. The chorus will rehearse Thursday afternoon, Nov. 29, at 5 p. m., in Temple 103.

Awgwan Deadline

Friday is the deadline for copy for the December issue of the Awgwan, according to Ruth Korb, editor. All students are encouraged to submit original and humorous stories, jokes and cartoons to the Awgwan office in the basement of the Union.

Cornhusker Pix Schedule

All unaffiliated students are scheduled to have their pictures taken for the 1946 Cornhusker at Miller & Paine's studios on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 29 and 30 and December 1. Any pictures not taken on these three days will not appear in the yearbook.

Carl Hall, women's residence hall and Beta Sigma Psi are also scheduled for these dates, according to Beth Montgomery, picture editor.
