

Twelve Nebraskan Cagers Leave for 3 Game Jaunt

A squad of twelve Nebraska basketball players and Coach Pop Klein left this morning by car for Kansas City, the first stop on a road trip which will find the Huskers playing three games before they return to Lincoln Tuesday.

The games to be played at Kansas City will have no bearing on Big Six standings, and will serve only to indicate the relative strength of the four competing teams, Missouri, Kansas State, Kansas U. and Nebraska.

Sunday morning the squad will leave for Iowa City where they will face the powerful Iowa university quintet on Monday.

Servicemen Write To Col. Murphy For Information

An average of seven letters a day from service men in this country and overseas, inquiring about courses offered by the university, are being received by Col. James P. Murphy, director of military training at the university.

"If I can believe what I read from these men the university is going to be literally mass invaded by veterans within the next year or two," Colonel Murphy said. "In all my experience with universities I have never seen a stronger bond exist between students and their university than at Nebraska. It speaks well for the University of Nebraska for they are all free to attend any school of their choosing under the GI Bill of Rights."

The university will experience a new type of student because most of the veterans are much more mature than the average civilian student, according to Colonel Murphy.

"Study Centers" Offer University Extension Credit

University credit can be gained for study in off-campus classes which are being established in communities throughout the state by the university's Extension Division.

"Study centers," as they are called, are open to anyone for a small fee, and are held generally once a week.

Five communities have these centers now. They are located at Grand Island, Loup City, Ord, Wahoo, and Franklin. Others are being organized at Hebron, Clay Center, Kearney, Elmwood and McCook.

Aviation Workshop.
The Grand Island class is an aviation workshop conducted by Prof. Frank E. Sorenson of Teachers college; Loup City, a course in social institutions conducted by Prof. Karl M. Arndt of the economics department; Ord, a course in speech conducted by Prof. Leroy T. Laase of the speech department; and Wahoo, a course in school law conducted by Thomas H. Adams, Lincoln attorney, and a course in public school art taught by Mrs. Clara M. Allen of the art department.

UN Foundation Announces New Scholarships

Establishment of the Ak-Sar-Ben scholarship foundation for students in agriculture was announced Thursday by the University Foundation.

The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha will make awards, this year totaling $5,800, which will include 24 scholarships of $100, $200, and $300, and two fellowships of $500. Scholarships adding up to a minimum of $3,400 will be given each subsequent year by the Knights.

To All Classes.
Eight $300 scholarships will be awarded this year to freshmen, eight $200 scholarships to sophomores, and eight $100 scholarships to juniors. The awards will be apportioned evenly between men and women and between four districts of the state. The two $500 fellowships will go for graduate research in fields that will contribute to the state's economy. Appointment of a statewide committee to administer the scholarships will be made later. Qualifications set up by the original committee include scholarship, adaptability, and need for assistance.

Permanent Plans.
The permanent plan for the awards calls for two $500 fellowships and eight $300 scholarships to go to eight freshmen each year. The scholarship winners will receive $100 in each of their succeeding years as undergraduates. Members of the Ak-Sar-Ben committee announcing the foundation are De. E. Bradshaw, W. B. Millard, jr., and W. D. Lane. Plans for the awards were worked out by members of this committee, Dean W. W. Burr of the Ag college, and other university representatives.
