

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

A review of the Big Six track and field championships held Saturday at the spacious Kansas City auditorium reveals several encouraging performances by Nebraska athletes.

Ned Nutzman's first place in the shot put was one of the biggest surprises of the evening, for Leroy Robison, Kansas university weight expert, was conceded the event in pre-meet calculations. The Nebraska strong boy cut loose on his last throw with a heave of 47 feet 7 1/4 inches, the best recorded in the conference this year, to take top honors.

Another bright spot was Harvey Stroud's showing in the 440 yard dash. The North Platte "thin man" flashed a bit of his former style in the evening finals, as he uncorked a stretch drive that brought him a fourth place tie in the race with Dick Shea of Kansas. Stroud was far back, but finished with a diving lunge at the tape to catch up with the Jayhawk runner.

Bill Moorhouse took third in the same race with a steady pace behind the Iowa State pair of Jim Alexander and Bob Rowland. Saturday's meet was the first time Moorhouse, along with several other Nebraska runners, had run on a board track. The Chicago navy trainee is a fine prospect for future races, for this indoor season is the first time he has ever run in competition.

Two more months of conditioning should produce plenty of improvement in the returned veterans on the Husker squad, and Nebraska will be a definite contender for the outdoor championship.

Bobby Ginn, Stroud and Blaine Young, with more training time under their belts, will be ready to make strong bids for flat race championships, and the addition of the discus and javelin events will strengthen the Nebraska hopes.

Herb Grote, former Big Six javelin ruler, is back in school and will bolster the Nebraska field performers.

While the Nebraska fans were disappointed, consider the plight of the Kansas University rooters. The Jayhawks were ranked as the probable champ in early forecasts, but a plague of injuries and ineligibility removed the Kansas squad from all contention.

John Jackson, quarter miler who had turned in the best time posted by a Big Six 440 man this season, was forced to withdraw due to kidney trouble, and Bob Stoland, regarded as a certain point winner in the broad jump and high jump, pulled a muscle during the afternoon broad jump preliminaries, and was also forced to the sidelines.

The crowning blow to Coach Ray Kanehl came when he learned that distance ace Harold Moore had been declared ineligible by navy officials and would not compete.

These three men cost the Jayhawk team plenty of points, and as a result the Kansas squad finished in fifth place with a total of 12 1/2 points.

Big Six pole vault champion Dick Miller is on the hunt for a new vaulting stick. During one of his vaults Saturday night, his pole cracked as he swung towards the bar, and gave the Husker performer a severe jolt.

Disconcerting as the fall was, Miller came back in fine style to win the event at 13 feet using a pole borrowed from Missouri. He missed his first two attempts at the height, but pulled himself over on his last try to shake Missouri's Dick Higgins who finished in second place with a vault of 12 feet, 9 inches.

Bamboo vaulting poles are not being manufactured, and the aluminum replacements do not have the necessary spring, so Miller is anxious to find another pole. The pole he had been using was uncovered in the girls' gym, and with the Chicago Relays coming up at the end of the month, he will not have too much time to get accustomed to the replacement.

Nebraska Coach Ed Weir summed up the attitude of everyone on the Husker squad when he observed, "We'll have to be careful about what team we get mad from now on."

or cherry but a stern glance and a sharp—haven't you heard about the strikes—will often be sufficient to discourage him."

Supplementary.

I could go on and on about the wonderful subjects taught, how to sell hot water bottles in the summertime, how to tell if liquor customers are of age, what kind of pulp magazines sell best, and a speculative course on the advisability of laying in a supply of well-drilling equipment. This is all much too involved for you laymen, however, so next time you pass the Pharmacy college, doff your hats or curtsy. They're doing a great job.

Kansas Quint Wins Big Six First Place

FINAL BIG SIX STANDINGS.

Team	W	L	Pts.	Opp
Kansas	10	0	557	399
Oklahoma	7	3	521	439
Iowa State	5	5	502	461
NEBRASKA	5	7	428	535
Missouri	3	7	391	457
Kansas State	2	8	408	536

Kansas University took the Big Six basketball title for the 12th time in the league's 18 years of competition, with victories last week over the second and third place teams.

Coach Phog Allen's Jayhawks, sparked by Charlie Black, raced through ten league games without a defeat, and left no doubt as to their right to the crown, by downing Oklahoma and Iowa State, their two closest rivals in the final week of play.

The Nebraska cagers missed a chance to take undisputed possession of the fourth place berth when they dropped a 54 to 49 game to Kansas State last Thursday at Manhattan. If the Huskers had won, they would have finished the season ahead of Missouri. The final standings, however, show that the Tigers and Nebraska are tied for fourth and fifth.

Charlie Black Scoring King.

Charlie Black led all conference scorers with 173 points in ten games for an average of 17.3 points per game. Second in the scoring scramble was Oklahoma's left handed sharp-shooter, Paul Courty, who collected 136 points in ten games.

Joe Brown, NROTC cager from Akron, O., paced the Nebraska scorers with 88 points for an average of 8.8 points per game. The Scarlet point maker ranked tenth in the final tabulation, while two other Nebraskans, Don Barry and Bob Korte placed 18th and 19th with points per game averages of 7.00 and 6.70.

A breakdown of team scoring totals indicates that the KU five was the best offensive aggregation, and also boasted the strongest defense.

Coach Pop Klein's Huskers scored a total of 428 points for fourth place in team scoring, but lagged in defense. The opponents scored 535 points against Nebraska, only one less than was scored against the last place Kansas State team.

IM Boxing Tourney Will Start at 8 Tonite

BY BOB HOLLAND.

Preliminaries of the intramural boxing tourney get under way tonight at 8:00 in the Coliseum. Nearly sixty entries have been registered in the intramural office. The Phi Deltis top the team entries with nine registrants.

Both the preliminary bouts and the semifinals are on Tuesday's card, with the finals listed for the following Tuesday, March 12.

A new raised ring has been installed on the Coliseum floor for the occasion, and the department has invested in new equipment for all fighters.

Glenn Presnell is slated to referee the matches, while Jerry Adam and Harry Reed will handle the patches, plaster and ammonia in the two corners. Bouts are three rounds of two minutes each, with a minute between sessions for the boys to recuperate.

Student admission is 25c; general admission 50c; reserved ring-side seats 75c. Gate receipts go to defer the cost of the boxing program, estimated by Intramural Director Lou Means at $1,000.

Football Men Compete.

Plenty of competition is promised in the heavier weights, footballers Chick Story, Bill Rolfsmeier, and John Sedlacek on deck. The lighter men are not so numerous, however, and the flyweight division has only two entries.

Incidentally, rumor around the Coliseum has it that the heavy-weight to watch is big John Sedlacek. During a slight misunderstanding in the Nebraska-Missouri football game last fall, Sedlacek planted such a haymaker on Tiger tackle Jim Kekeris that the 290-pounder had to be taken from the field.

"Any man with a punch like that," says Director Means, "has to be reckoned with."

This will be the first intramural boxing tournament since 1935, and Means predicts that it will be one of the best intramural events of the year.

letters, the ag college publications board will make appointments to the specific positions. In addition to a number of associates in each division, the positions will probably include editor-in-chief, circulation manager, business manager, home economics editor, and photograph editor. Appointments will be made for one year.

Membership of the college of agriculture publications board includes five faculty members and two students. Two members from the executive board serve in the latter capacity. Ralph Reeder is chairman, and other faculty members are Dr. M. S. Peterson, George Round, Margaret Liston and Mathilda Peters. Marie Abraham and Wilbur Blum are the student members.
