

Close Victories Mark Closing Boxing Show

BY GEORGE MILLER.

Close decisions in three bouts highlighted the final bouts of the all-university boxing tournament which closed last night at the coliseum before a crowd of approximately 2,800.

Footballers Bob Lipps and John Sedlacek pounded out victories in the 160 and heavyweight divisions, and Sedlacek scored the only TKO of the final bouts when he won over Mack Robinson, Norfolk griddier, at the end of the second round.

Del Roth took a close triumph over Norris Sibert of Morenci, Mich., in the finals of the lightweight class, using a left jab to keep the aggressive NROTC slugger out of range. Roth, from Plymouth, scored repeatedly with stinging jabs to offset the rushing style of Sibert.

Wayne Watson, Clarks 147 pounder eked out a narrow win over Hal Haldeman of Gretna in the finals of the welterweight class. Watson had a definite reach advantage and kept his shorter opponent at bay until late in the third round when Haldeman connected with several hard blows, but these were not enough to reduce Watson's early point advantage.

Thorne Wins Twice.

The light-heavyweight king, Chick Thorne, won two bouts during the evening. He opened the card with a TKO over Harlan Cranston of Stockham in a semi-final match, and decided fraternity brother Jack Adams of Winnetka, Ill., in the championship bout. Both Adams and Thorne are members of Phi Delta Theta.

Stan Diller of Diller gained revenge for his all-university wrestling defeat. Diller pounded out a convincing triumph over a tired Sid Wells in the 126 pound class to reverse the outcome of the wrestling finals in the same weight division.

Sid Salzman of Ainsworth took top honors in the flyweight division with a decision over Marvin Runyan of Chadron. These two were the only entrants in the class, and last night's action was the first appearance for both of them.

In the 118 pound title bout Ray Roth of Memphis used a height and reach advantage to good effect in taking a split decision over Darrell Ellis of Clarkson.

Southpaw Bob Lipps of Lincoln punched his way to a win over Gould Flagg of Ord in the middleweight final. Flagg ran out of gas in the third round and was unable to pile up the points necessary for a win.

ATO's Win Team Honors.

Alpha Tau Omega took first place in the team honors, and manager Tom Noble accepted the award for the winners following the final bout. Phi Delta Theta finished second in the team standings, with Beta Theta Pi third. The Lillies, an independent team, finished four points ahead of the beat's but were not in the intramural supremacy race. Sigma Nu finished fourth and Delta Upsilon fifth.
