

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By
George Miller

The movement to put the University of Nebraska back among the elite in collegiate football circles, a position the Huskers occupied before their pigskin stagnation brought about by war years, receives added impetus. The increasing cloud of rumors to the effect that Notre Dame will be a Nebraska gridiron opponent in 1947 are too insistent to be overlooked.

Nebraska headman Bernie Masterson and Irish mentor Frank Leahy have long admired one another, and Leahy is understood to have presented the possibility of a Nebraska series to the Notre Dame athletic council. Pending the approval of the dates by the South Bend school, no verification of the series has been announced.

No definite word on the situation has been released here in Lincoln by Ad Lewanowski, acting Cornhusker athletic director.

The Nebraska athletic council held a special meeting Tuesday afternoon, and a consideration of the Notre Dame series is thought to have been the topic of discussion.

If the series does materialize, the Irish will play in Lincoln on the years that the Huskers journey to Minnesota. This arrangement will assure Husker fans a chance to see one of the best teams in the nation each season, for year in and year out the Gophers and Notre Dame rank with the best gridiron machines in the country.

The Notre Dame-Nebraska rivalry lapsed following the 1925 game which was won by the Huskers 17 to 0 in Lincoln. The two schools have met 11 times, each team winning five games. The 1918 battle ended in a scoreless tie.

That 17-0 win by the Huskers was the largest margin ever piled up by either eleven in the series which found the Scarlet team winning twice over Irish combinations which included the backfield quartet known as the Four Horsemen.

Realization of the Notre Dame series will give the Huskers one of the toughest gridiron slates in the nation, for in addition to their five Big Six tilts, Nebraska has games with Iowa, Minnesota and Indiana. Also a possibility is a return engagement with UCLA, although the contract between the two schools calls for only next year's game in Los Angeles.

Fem Fun . . .

Coed sports activities have all of the zest of spring. Basketball elimination games are fast and furious with the Alpha Zeta Deltas and the Delta Gammas tying a 20-20 score last Wednesday nite and replaying Thursday evening. The final basketball contest on Monday brings together the Dorm team versus the winner of the Alpha Zeta Delta and Delta Gamma fracas.

Featured this week is the badminton tourney for double teams. The partners may be of different houses and should file their team-mate preference with the WAA office by 5 o'clock Tuesday of next week. After spring vacation the tournament schedule will be posted on the Grant Memorial bulletin board. Those qualifying teams remaining in the meet should watch for bulletin board notices concerning their games.

Contestants absent from designated bowling workouts for the forthcoming tournament may practice Friday in a make-up section, according to Phyl Hope, president of the bowling club.

WAA Appointments.

Yesterday noon the existing WAA council met to appoint new board members. Vacancies to be filled are the student head of intramurals and the cabin, bike and social chairmen.
