

Ragged Edges

BY GRACIE SMITH

BARBARA TURK.

With vacation just around the corner, the time has arrived to catch up on all the last minute details and parties before the great migration to the old home town. Speaking of home town ventures, we name as a fine example Sid Salzman's attempt to find a quicker and more interesting route home. See a lot of the old buddies, Sid?

More formals, more dinners, and more parties to add to the excitement of the up and coming weekend. The Alpha Phis are combining a dinner and formal dance for added attraction. Pat Thompson with Bob Veeder; Georgie Wythers with Dallas Cotton; and Kay Kinsey with Bud Wheeler, will join in the celebration. The Sig Ep Blue Party will be anything but blue for Narine Braunsroth with Jim Riley; Claire Steele with Harry Wagner; and Maxine Lingafelter with Irish O'Conner. Fun is in store for all.

Taking the Extremes.

From one extreme to another, we find that some of the "gee, I'm glad that spring is here" couples will take advantage of our long awaited warm weather. Bill Bacon with Nancy Mines; Dean Neill with Betty Chipman; and Arlie Swanson with Spence Brown will take in Friday night's offering for entertainment. Saturday night dates include Jody Harrison with Jim Goll; Pat Lathen with Chuck Humpel; while Saturday means Omaha and gala time for Bonnie Haney and Max Lingafelter, who will be there for the weekend.

Betas will trail off to Fremont on Saturday for the wedding of Bill Hawkins and Betty Baldwin . . . truly a big event. Not to forget the recent steady deal between Don Ashford and Joan Fankhauser.

What a Deal!

Seems to be quite the deal and understanding between Bob Lee and Joanie Vingers . . . really a cute couple with happy outlooks. We mustn't forget to mention the results of Janie MacArthur's bet with the Phi Gams. Her little "duck walk" from the Tri Delt house yesterday afternoon must mean that Janie lost the bet. Should be that people wouldn't make such foolish bets.

AFCW . . .

Registration.

Convention discussions will be given by individual WAA campus groups at 10 a. m., following the 9 a. m. registration. These discussion groups, open to the public, will review topics to be used as the basis for team competition in intramural activities.

How to activate and continue student interest in WAA will be another topic discussed at this time. Also, the trend in officiating intramural awards, the WAA cabin, and activities offered in WAA, will be talked about and considered. A joint discussion and business meeting will follow a Union luncheon for the delegates.

Selected as one of the top 15 swing bands in Downbeat's national poll, Dunham is classed with the best bands in the nation by Tin Pan Alley reviewers. He plays both the trumpet and trombone.

University Advancement Committee Will Start Organizational Activity in April

The university advancement committee, Alumni association's state-wide organization plan, is expected to start activity early in April, according to Clarence Swanson, Lincoln, association president.

Chairmen of each of the state's 20 districts under the plan will be appointed within the next two weeks, Swanson announced.

The plan, which was set up in order to foster interest in the university, the association and the university foundation, has received unanimous support from the Board of Regents and university officials.

District Chairmen.

The chairman of each of the 20 districts will be an alumnus, alumna or friend of the university, and will be appointed for a one-year term. As representatives of the alumni association and administrators of their districts, the chairman will be in close touch with developments of the Board of Regents, Foundation and the university in general in promoting interest and support.

A meeting of the chairmen with officers of the association and University Foundation, as well as the regents and university officials will be called on the campus once or twice a year. Swanson said that the first meeting will be held as soon as appointments are complete.

Need.

"This new state-wide plan is one which has long been needed. It has been enthusiastically received by everyone who has studied it," Swanson stated.

"The Board of Regents heartily endorses the establishment of an organization which will give unified expression to the general support the university receives from its wide circle of friends throughout Nebraska." R. W. Devoe, president of the Regents Board, said Tuesday.

"We all seek a better university and the Alumni association has taken a positive and much needed step forward in helping us in the university family to express our accomplishments and needs."

Create Interest.

Howard S. Wilson, president of the University Foundation, commented, "The new state-wide organization will be of great help in acquainting a wider circle of alumni and friends of the institution with the rapidly expanding work of the Foundation."

"The young people of Nebraska deserve the best university education obtainable and an organization such as this will help all of us express this interest in a better university in a concrete form."

A joint committee of the association and foundation set up plans for this organization. Representing the association are Swanson and Past President Bert Reed, Lincoln. Foundation members are George Holmes, Joe Seacrest, T. B. Strain, Lincoln, and Walter Pierpoint and Linn C. Campbell, Omaha.

Awgwan Thrusts Itself on Students With Ads, Humor

The Awgwan, in case you were wondering as to the identity of that orange fringed catastrophe which was thrust upon you Wednesday, came out!

There is much to be said on the subject of this magazine as it is doubtful whether you ventured past the cover which was so unusually decorated by Miss Guenzel and the TNE sign. The inside is composed of the usual pages, pictures, print, advertisements, and an occasional bit of humor.

Expose.

The highlights of the Awgwan are, of course, Dr. Shestak's brilliant expose of an amnesia victim, which, because it was actually funny, is destined to be printed in the next five issues. Interesting also, was the good-night peck on the cheek given to the Intersarsity Queen by her evening's date so typical!

And, as you leaf through, be sure to note a distinctive piece of variety in form of a dramatic disclosure of how not to lose your blue book in an exam if your best friend is writing both yours and her tests and you are merely dabbling your time away.

On the back cover is a striking Chesterfield ad.

Last year Alpha Omicron Pi won the organization trophy and Irving Epstein received the top ranking individual prize. Mary Dye and Ardith Smith won second and third prizes in last year's individual competition.

How about your own little "sphere of influence?"

That's the region containing your shirt, collar, tie, and handkerchief. Your mirror will show how much it influences your entire appearance.

To make that inner circle a winner, do this:

Wear an Arrow Shirt. It has a collar that sets and slopes perfectly. (Also the Mitoga form-fit body.)

Wear an Arrow Tie. It knots wonderfully, thanks to a special lining.

Wear an Arrow Handkerchief. It matches, and has the quality of staying fresh.

At your Arrow dealer's.

P.S. If your Arrow dealer hasn't the one you want, try him again.
