The Daily Nebraskan

FORTY-FIFTH YEAR

Subscription rates are $1.00 per semester or $1.50 for the college year. $2.50 mailed. Single copy 5c. Published daily during the school year except Mondays and Saturdays, vacations, and examination periods, by the students of the University of Nebraska under the supervision of the Publication Board. Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office in Lincoln, Nebraska, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, act of October 2, 1917, authorized September 30, 1922.

Union Action . . .

It begins to look as if there is hope of future action on the ag Union question. The petition circulated by students urging the location of the Union branch in the ag student activities building has stirred the Board of Regents to appoint a committee to look into the matter. At the moment developments rest on the investigation supposedly in progress by committeemen Sellack, Arndt, Means and Seaton. Hold your breath kiddies, our grandchildren may yet see a Union on the ag campus!

Education Unlimited . . .

Appearing along with budding trees and the return of the robins heralding spring on the university campus are announcements of scholarships and awards offered to aspiring students.

Most students are aware of the fact that there are several scholarships offered by the university, but few realize just how many or how to get one of these scholarships.

Some awards have already been made this year. The Donald L. Miller scholarships, the Franklin E. and Orinda M. graduate fellowships and the Mortar Board awards have been announced but many others are still open.

Renewed interest in these scholarships has led to the announcement by the Regents that the Langworthy Taylor fund of $10,000 is at last to be used. The $250 annual award will be granted to a coed in the college of business administration. This fund, established several years ago by the late Prof. W. G. Langworthy Taylor, has never been awarded until action was recently initiated by Dean John D. Clark of bizad college to use this fund.

There are 21 general scholarships, ranging from $20 to $750, available to qualified applicants in any branch of study. Regents' scholarships, listed under the "general" heading, are, however, open only to seniors in Nebraska high schools and junior colleges who take an examination to apply.

In addition to these general funds, each college of the university offers at least one scholarship to students in that college.

Also available to students are loan funds administered in accordance with the wishes of the donors, or in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the Student Loan committee and the Board of Regents.

In custody of the regents, the loan fund is not regarded as a part of university resources. Loans made to students are limited to the actual needs of the applicant and are limited to $100 a semester. The student borrower signs a note for the full amount of the loan and pays 5 percent interest.

Several of these loan funds were donated by graduating classes of the university and all students are eligible to apply for the general loans. Each college also has loan funds available to its students.

Information as to eligibility requirements for individual scholarships or loans is contained in a booklet published by the university called "Fellowships, Scholarships and Student Loan Funds" which can be obtained at the registrar's office.

With such a wealth of aid offered to students in every field of university study, no worthy student should be forced to discontinue his education here if he will take advantage of the scholarship opportunities.

Ragged Edges

BY GRACE SMITH AND BARBARA TURK

At last the big vacation is over, and we all must return to those dreadful classes, study hours, and eight o'clocks. Love affairs seem to have bloomed during the last week, and that alone is something to take our minds slightly away from the same old grind.

Big event of the week is the Prom tonight, and from all appearances the outlook of fun and success is very promising. Prom dates include Pat Burnett with Bob Deitameyer; Peggie Laurie with Dan Hergert; and Barb Wentz with Bill Sloan—this by the way seems to be quite the steady deal. Other dates will be Mary Stuhl with Tom McCarville; Barb Dunn with Gayle Lebsack; Barb Polite with Larry Thomas, and Leota Nispel with fiance Bill Sondreger.

Circus Date.

Just a date to the circus turned out to be quite an occasion for Sarah Murray and Jim Pettis. Not only did Sarah steal the heart of one of those adorable clowns who followed her around all afternoon, but Jim did equally as well when one of the bears showed his affection by giving Mr. Pettis a not too slight love tap right on the jaw. Must be love to say the least . . .

Getting back to the vacation and the parties that took place, we can't forget to mention the party that resulted when some of the "eager to celebrate" kiddies of Nebraska U. congregated in Beatrice for a big time. Some of the fun seekers were Janie Fry with Stan Nordgren; Jack Dickey with Ellie Detweiler; Jeanie Douglas with pinmate Ted Ramsey; and Wy Walker with pinmate Gene Woodhead. Rumors have it that Orv Glass and Dave Speck were there also. Certainly a big event . . .

Big Plans.

Big plans are in preparation at the Phi Delt house for the buffet supper which is to be given on Sunday night. Taking in the affair will be Chuck Hyatt with Jody Wolcott; Bob Weaver who is importing his pinmates, Bonnie Yates from Council Bluffs; and Bob Heinke with Shirts McKenna. Looks like quite the celebration for all included . . . Another party with many promises is the one so elaborately planned by the Beta pledges for their greatly admired actives. Jack Buffington with Sally Shirley; Ken Kailley with Joan Titus; Dean Neill with Helen Howell; and Jack Bailey with Jeanne Hickey plan to take in the affair.

With all of this work and preparation to a wonderful weekend, it really can't be too bad to be back in the old routine after all. School is out only too soon; so enjoy yourself while you can. . .

Church Groups . . .

of Life series at St. Paul Methodist church will be held from 5:30 to 7:45 Sunday evening. A group of young people from Nebraska Wesleyan will have charge of the inspiration hour and the table program. The quest groups will include: Church and Labor, directed by Prof. Curtis Elliot; "Religion in Art," directed by Lola Ervingham; and "God and the Day's Work," directed by the Rev. Robert Drew.

Dr. Melville O. Williams, personnel secretary of the Methodist Board of Missions will be at the Student House all day Friday to interview students who are interested in home and foreign service. Friday evening all Methodist students are invited to attend the "Friendly Friday" party at the Student House, beginning at 8:00. Sunday morning service at the St. Paul Methodist church will be at 11:00, and a Sunday school class for university people will be held at the church at 10:00.

Services at the University Episcopal church for next Sunday will include Holy Communion at 8:30 a. m., Litany at 10:45 a. m.; choral eucharist and sermon at 11 a. m.

Another communique from the land of the midnight son . . . Phi Psi Gulch. And to think some people manage to find time to use those study tables provided in all the houses. Others learn just as much by picnicking, they tell me. "I'm working my way through college, and I'm gaining a lot of knowledge that I hope I never have to use again."

Big deal coming up tonight . . . as though you hadn't already heard. The worries we've had . . . sales clerks sneering as we ask, trembling, to see their formals . . . pondering the proper wig for the occasion . . . to say nothing of the difficulties over pancake make-up shades for those white shoulders. The fellow who writes the definitive life of Holcomb will have to be a genuine boilermaker broadcaster. If the last time we ventured out on the maples is any indication, you can look for us; we'll be falling for you.

Victories are hollow things
That crumble in the hand.
A golden shaft of nothing,
Upon a silver stand.

Get ready, kids, and don't make up any lame excuses like a couple of broken legs. Those of you pledges who let down old Hubba Hubba chapter the last factional registration day are going to have another chance. If you're going to do and die for the Scarlet "F" be sure to check in case you don't know how to spell Union Independent before you descend to . . . the basement. You sour Creamers who slashed your wrists in a vow against all exclusive organizations, exclusive of the PAC, AT&T and BO, get behind that so-called stalwart student leader. Nope, we didn't say a word about as far behind as possible.

Remember, above all, that it's considered a privilege of democracy to choose one side or the other, and let's not have any of this dilly dallying around. If you're strictly unprejudiced and open minded, you'd better change, son. You'll feel awfully lonesome when they begin cracking skulls, and no one parts your hair for you.

GAMMA LAMBDA.

Gamma Lambda will meet tomorrow at 5:00 p. m. in room 313 in the Union. VETS ORG.

The executive committee of the Veterans' Organization of the University of Nebraska will meet in room 322, Teachers college, at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Vets' Club Urges Ex-GIs Turn in Certificates Soon

The Veterans Organization of the University of Nebraska urges veterans who have not turned in their certificate of eligibility and entitlement to Mr. J. P. Colbert's office, to do so immediately.

The law requires either this certificate or a cash payment, according to Richard Sinsel, publicity chairman.

How to starve a spring fever (with an Arrow Sports Shirt)

Comes once again the indolence that follows the first robin. What to do?

This: Get the slickest Arrow Sports Shirt or Sport Knit you can find at your dealer's. (That won't be hard. Every one gets its share of fine Arrow looks and tailoring. Most of them are washable.)

The moment you're in its trim lines, you'll want to dash out for some golf, tennis, or you-name-it.

If not, you can always sit around in your Arrow and look like a retired champion.

P.S. If your Arrow dealer hasn't the one you want, try him again.
