Huskers Meet KU Friday, K State Teams Saturday

Husker golf and tennis teams will make their first appearances of the spring season this week end, as both squads invade Kansas for matches with Kansas University and Kansas State on Friday and Saturday.

Four-Man Squads.

Four-man squads will represent Nebraska in both sports, with Friday's competition being against the Jayhawks at Lawrence. On Saturday the teams move to Manhattan for meets with the K-State squads.

Julius Hatton, NROTC member from Grand Rapids, Mich.; Bill Barrett, Lincoln; Jim Kane, NROTC member from Detroit; and Bob Evans, Norfolk, will be the tennis squadmen. Ed Higginbotham will accompany the squad, replacing Ad Lewandowski, who has been supervising the workouts this week. Illness will pre-

Baseball Team Goes Against Gophers Today

The Nebraska baseball team, seeking their third consecutive victory, go against the Minnesota Gophers this afternoon at Minneapolis in the first game of a two-game series.

First Game for Gophers.

Today's game will be the first appearance of the season for the Gophers, who have been working out in their spacious field house since early in February.

Coach Frank Smagacz will probably stick with the starting lineup he used against the Colorado nine in the Huskers' first series of the year, although he has not named his starting pitcher.

Sandstedt Probable Pitcher.

Big Jim Sandstedt is the probable choice, for the former Omaha sandlot hurler was untouchable during his six inning stint against Colorado, giving up two hits and no runs. Other moundsmen who may be called upon are Harold Jacob, who appeared in a relief role in both games last week; Wally Scheef, who started Saturday's game and did not give up a run during the time he worked; John Olson or Dick Lebbs.

Rog O'Donnell made the trip as reserve catcher, while Fritz Hegwood will be available for service in the outfield or infield.

While the Huskers play at Minnesota, Coach Smagacz will keep an eye on the results of the Oklahoma-Iowa State series in Norman, for these teams are next on the Nebraska schedule.

Footballers Prepare for Scrimmage

Cornhusker football players got a foretaste of what their Saturday scrimmage will be like, during the Thursday afternoon drill. Coach Bernie Masterson had his gridders doing a lot of contact work, both on offensive and defensive formations.

Full teams ran through plays against live opposition. A Red team was on the offensive, while green-shirted defenders opposed their efforts. Aggressive line play featured the session, for the Green eleven caused plenty of trouble for the Red ball carriers many times during the workout.

No Permanent Assignments.

One line combination composed of Mandula, Samuelson, Manning, Taylor, Rolfsmeyer and Nyden was especially rugged on the defense, but none of the players were permanently assigned to either squad. The Husker coaching staff juggled the lineups to give various outfits a chance to work together.

Several new backfield prospects reported, among them Jack Pesek, Ravenna ball carrier, who is the son of wrestler John Pesek. This influx of backfield material resulted in the transfer of Bob Lipps of Lincoln from the right halfback brigade to the guard squad. Lipps played guard last fall and had been shifted to the backfield during the spring drills.

Throughout the workout, however, the number one backfield quartet consisted of quarterback Fred Metheny, left half Dick Hutton, right half Marv Athey and fullback Jerry Moore. This combination got first call as the Scarlet gridders ran through plays from the "T" formation.

vent Lewandowski from making the trip.

Number 1 spot will go to Hatton, with Barrett playing in the No. 2 post. Kane is the Nebraska No. 3 racquet wielder, with Evans handling the No. 4 slot. Hatton and Barrett combine to form one doubles team, and Kane and Evans handle the other doubles match.

Golf Coach Bud Williamson has named Don Spomer, Lincoln; Kenny Adams, Grand Island; Mac Graham, Detroit, Mich., and Don Stroh, Lincoln, to make the trip for the golf team. These men were chosen through a series of qualifying elimination matches held at Pioneers, Hillcrest and the Lincoln Country club. Spomer has been low man in most of the qualifying play.

Both squads are slated to leave Lincoln Friday morning, and will see opening action Friday afternoon at Lawrence.

Little is known about either of the Husker opponents, since these matches will be the initial starts for all teams.

Lewandowski Asks For More Tennis Players

A. J. Lewandowski, who has charge of varsity tennis this spring, has asked that all men interested in trying out for a spot on the squad report at once to his office where they will receive information about practice sessions.

The team will play its next match on April 19 against the University of Oklahoma at Lincoln, and players should turn out immediately in order to join the squad for this competition.

Men who are now on the varsity team do not have their places cinched, and any candidate has an opportunity to displace one of the present team members.

Workouts in Coliseum.

In case of bad weather nets will be set up in the coliseum so that players can continue their workouts.

Following the Oklahoma meet, the team has matches with Iowa State at Ames and a return engagement with Kansas at Lincoln. Both of these meets are scheduled in May.

IM Softball, Last Group I Sport, To Open April 22

Intramural softball, last Group I sport of the school year, starts the week after Easter. Organizations desiring to enter competition must file their team lists in Room 207 in the Coliseum before Thursday, April 18.

In the meantime, any men who wish to practice may check out balls, bats, and catchers' masks at the coliseum cage, and work out on the IM diamonds, west of the coliseum.
