

EDITORIAL

COMMENT

The Daily Nebraskan

FORTY-FIFTH YEAR

Subscription rates are $1.00 per semester or $1.50 for the college year. $2.50 mailed. Single copy 5c. Published daily during the school year except Mondays and Saturdays, vacations, and examination periods, by the students of the University of Nebraska under the supervision of the Publication Board. Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office in Lincoln, Nebraska, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, act of October 2, 1917, authorized September 30, 1922.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor Betty Lou Huston
Managing Editors Phyllis Teagarden, Shirley Jenkins
News Editors Mary Alice Caswood, Phyllis Mortlock, Jack Crossman, Dale Novotny, Marthella Holcomb
Sports Editor George Miller
Society Editor Pat Toof

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager Lorraine Abramson
Assistant Business Manager Dorothea Kosenberg, Donna Peterson
Circulation Manager Keith Jones, Phone 3-5223

It's Your Move...

Forgetting all sentimentality and bouquets, here are a few simple facts. They are for you, students, to either accept or reject.

There is a famine in Europe. Americans everyday throw out more food than many European children have seen in their lives.

Five million people in Europe and China are facing starvation. Americans eat too much.

One-fourth of the population of the world is starving. In the last few months, there has been a 30 percent rise in for consumption in the U. S.

So a few students in one of the French classes on the campus formulated an idea whereby we could help to alleviate the situation. This group is merely the nucleus for a campaign that is campus-wide.

All organized groups have been contacted through letters and are collecting donations and contributions within their individual groups. A large box has been placed in the front corridor of the Student Union for contributions from those students who have not been contacted otherwise. Monetary donations may be left in the Union office.

Contributions may include anything useful and appropriate for overseas shipping, such as clothes, tooth paste, tooth brushes, combs, yarn, needles, thread, etc.

You ask why anything should be sent to Europe. You think they brought it on themselves. Somewhat perverted philosophy, isn't it? It is possible that the tables may be turned some day. Americans do have the reputation for being more than a little self-satisfied and egotistical.

It isn't such a great effort, bringing a tube of tooth paste or a jar of canned fruit over to the Union on the way to the Crib. And it's nothing to feel particularly smug about.

A comparatively simple effort in itself, with the total result meaning one step further toward world peace.

P. T.

A. E. Baragar Warns Against 'Buying Jitters'

Arnold E. Baragar, university associate home economist and housing equipment research scientist, warned Nebraskans Friday against contracting the "buy-it-now" jitters because he believes that there will not be enough household appliances to go around.

"Over 50 percent of the consumers in Nebraska want to buy postwar appliances right now. The rest of the buyers have adopted a "wait and see what they look like" attitude. Our advice to both groups is: Conserve what you have—buy only what you need," the home economist advised.

Appliances Scarce.

Mr. Baragar, in whose laboratory all leading makes of household appliances are thoroughly tested for performance and durability, pointed out, "There won't be enough household appliances to go around, by any stretch of imagination, this year at least. Many men who already have appliances, altho they are probably considerably worn, jam the market places and make it impossible for many to buy who are just starting a home—especially the veteran."

"There isn't much basis in fact for the gossip you hear these days that appliances aren't as good as before the war. Most of them are as good or better because of the profitable wartime inventions experienced by most manufacturers. Some minor substitute material is being used now, but it isn't detrimental to the product."

No Revolution—Yet.

Stressing that there may be a lot of temporary manufacturing companies organized to capitalize on the present shortage, Mr. Baragar points out that you can't be stung if you buy "reputable goods."

"From our research studies it is evident that the much discussed revolution in design and operation of household appliances in the post-war years simply isn't going to happen—for quite a while at least," Mr. Baragar informed.

Prices Same.

"Contrary to prevailing opinion, retail prices at present on such things as washing machines, irons, stoves and refrigerators are the same, or less, than in 1942," he pointed out.

RUSSIA—THREAT OR OPPORTUNITY?
Discuss This Ally
May 15, Union Ballroom, 7 p.m.
Refreshments.

FREE VARIETY SHOW

Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck
in "MEET JOHN DOE"
Directed by Frank Capra

8:00 P. M., SUNDAY, MAY 12
UNION BALLROOM
Coffee Hour 5 to 6 in Union Lounge

Faculty Talks To Hi School College Grads

Over 34 university faculty members will address approximately 100 high school and college graduating classes in the state during May and June, according to a recent estimate made by Dr. W. C. Meierhenry, assistant director of the university extension division.

A partial list of faculty members who have accepted commencement speaking engagements, schools, and dates is as follows:

Dr. George W. Rosenlof, director of admissions: Imperial—May 15, Arnold—May 16, Benedict—May 17, Salina, Kansas—May 19, Auburn—May 20, Nebraska City—May 23, Uni of Nebr. Teachers high school and LeMars, Iowa—May 24, Ferry, Iowa—May 22, and Skokie Township high school, Skokie, Ill.—June 13.

Dr. K. O. Broady, director of the university extension division: Friend—May 16, North Bend—May 22, Arcadia—May 23.

Dr. Walter K. Beggs, associate professor of history and principles of education and secondary education: Wayne—May 17, Cozad—May 21, Underwood (Omaha)—May 22, Kearney State Teachers college (morning) and West Point—May 23, Plattsmouth—May 24.

Dr. LeRoy T. Laase, chairman of the department of speech and dramatic art: Unadilla—May 14, Eagle—May 15, Sterling—May 16, Brady—May 17, Hubbard—May 23.

Dr. W. C. Meierhenry, assistant director of the university extension division: Thedford—May 15, Republican City—May 16.

Dr. David Fellman, associate professor of political science: Rokeby—May 9, Exeter—May 16.

Dr. W. H. S. Morton, professor of education: Pilger—May 8, Cedar Bluffs—May 13, Weston—May 14, Hebron—May 15, Ong—May 16, Bellevue—May 23, Deshler—May 24.

Dr. H. C. Filley, professor of rural economics: Filley—May 16, Harrison—May 17.

Dr. H. E. Bradford, professor of vocational education: Oketo, Kas.—May 14, Battle Creek—May 15, Whiting—May 16, Effingham, Kas.—May 17, Wakefield—May 21, Snyder—May 23, Arlington—May 24.

Dr. Ralph Bedell, professor of education, psychology and measurements: Bartley—May 15, Oxford—May 16, Elliot, Ia.—May 23.

Dr. W. R. Baller, professor of educational psychology and measurements: DeWitt—May 17.

C. C. Minter, associate professor of vocational education: Syracuse—May 14, Howells—May 23.

Dr. W. E. Hall, associate professor of educational psychology and measurements: Roca—May 16.

J. H. Paustian, instructor in practical mechanics: Cortland—May 16.

The Ash Can

by Marihella Holcomb

(Ed. Note: Elmer Sprague, champion of the returning veteran and the common people, pre-war member of the student publications board, and author of facetious themes for English classes, is today's guest editor of The Ash Can.)

BY ELMER SPRAGUE

Schuberholtz collapsed just inside the Crib, and I had to drag him to the nearest booth. After four grapefruit cokes he had recovered enough to speak in a rasping whisper. "Why did you revive me?" he snarled bitterly.

"Schuberholtz, what's happened to you?" I asked sweetly. At my question he collapsed again. But after a shower of hot tears he began his story. "I," he paused for the effect, "I've been alone in the same room with Marthella Solcomb," he said.

"Oh, come, Schuberholtz," I remarked cheerfully, "Perseus was alone with Medusa. What are you complaining about?"

"But, I know, now," he said, and began sobbing again. "Know what?" I asked innocently.

"I know why Marthella has been wearing those black glasses, all of this time," he said.

"Why?" I gasped expectantly.

Schuberholtz gathered himself for the final effort, and whispered hoarsely, "So she could know how she would look in a Mortar Board mask."

Poor Schuberholtz, the terrible truth was too much for him. We buried him with a link of the daisy chain in his buttonhole, and a sprig of ivy between his teeth.

And there you have it, fellow imbibers (of the fountain of knowledge, that is). You just can't win.

We carefully refrained from mentioning the game of Jacks which Tommie Cook promoted on the lounge carpet, thereby frightening Pat Lahr half out of her wits (she thought it was dominoes). We even resolved not to mention the hooks, crooks and curves included in the plans of the NROs for scraping together $366 per month to go to school next year by the simple expedient of marrying an ex-service woman, and then letting her work. But we can't let the day go by without mentioning their appearance Tuesday on VE-Day plus 365. Only thing we needed for an Annapolis background was cobblestone streets, frowning chaperones in every door, and Chesapeake bay off to the right. On the tour of Navy Hall, of which you children shall hear more later, we did, however, find one prominent bay. Not to be confused with sick bay. This one was plenty healthy.

Veterans Elect D. Kimmel Head Of Organization

At a meeting of the Veterans Organization Tuesday night, Don Kimmel was elected chairman of the group.

Other officers elected at the meeting were vice chairman Don Baker, secretary Joe Bolker, treasurer Richard Mattison, Public Relations Richard Sinsel, Housing chairman, Carl Booton, Membership chairman, Bill Brown, athletic chairman, Jack Norman, ag representative, Joe Pappas and social chairman, Tom Smiley.

By-laws supplementing the present vet constitution were adopted, subject prior to Student Council approval.

Men's PE Club Hears Speakers

Four talks by local sports figures were of special interest at the final meeting of the Men's Physical Education Club which was held Tuesday night, May 7, in the N room at the coliseum.

Glenn Presnell, assistant football coach, spoke on Competitive Athletics; Charles Miller, professor in physical education, spoke on Physical Education; Ralph Beechner, athletic director and football coach at Lincoln High, had the topic High School Coaching, and Lou Means, director of student physical welfare at the university, discussed Trends of Athletics.

CHECK UNDER ARM ODOR AND PERSPIRATION In Just 2 Seconds!

Under arm perspiration and odor vanish instantly when you use the new 5 DAY UNDER ARM PADS or 5 DAY CREAM DEODORANT. Choose the handy pads... or the vanishing-type cream. Either way, the 5 DAY way will keep you bath-sweet from 1 to 7 days (you and the weather determine how long). Kinder to clothing and skin, too. 5 DAY Cream, 50¢. 5 DAY Pads, Jar of 35, 55¢. Economy Jar of 100, $1 plus tax.

MOTHER'S DAY
MAY 12th

Send Her a
NORCROSS Card

Her day of days deserves special attention. Come see our Mother's Day cards, which are especially lovely. They radiate the true spirit of Mother's Day and will give a special happiness to her.

GOLDENROD STATIONERY STORE
215 North 14—South of Student Union

PILLERS PHARMACY
16th & O STREETS