Hail the Frosh.

For the first time in five years the freshman class entering the University of Nebraska can descend upon the institution with no mutterings of war or its immediate consequences ringing in their ears. Those who have come back for the second, third of fourth time can pursue their respective endeavors with no shadow of war priorities hanging over their heads.

Those of us who have been around during the last few years have become hardened to the ever-present word "no" that was invariably tossd in our laps when we requested anything directly or indirectly connected with "restrictions due to the war." That time has passed now, but the job is still here, and it isn't an easy one. We know that the University of Nebraska is a great institution, one of the finest in the country, and our job here and now is to uphold those standards which have been established and carried down through

The class of 1950, one of the largest this university has seen in several years, has the odds stacked definitely in their favor. No dark clouds hovering over the ivy-covered walls, but rather an optimistic picture of university life as we have heard it expressed, a bowl of roses with a few thorns thrown in to add flavor and perhaps make us sit up and take notice now and then.

There are a few rough spots, but it's all in how we look at it. The housing situation isn't completely solved, but the UN is in better circumstances than most universities throughout the country. The food situation could be better, but it could also be much worse, and is in several localities. And as far as the shortage of men is concerned, the university's faminine population need have no qualms. The ratio is definitely in their favor!

In all seriousness, we salute the class of 1950 at the University of Nebraska. With a free rein they begin their life at the university, and may they realize that they have a strong vote of confidence from the rest of the student body. A new year, a new opportunity-let's make the most of it, TOGETHER.

To the Student Body:

Welcome to the University of Nebraska. The days are finally here that you have hoped and prayed for. Let us make the most of them.

A good many of you are being housed in homes that have been opened up for student for the first time. Let us show our high appreciation by seeing to it that our hosts shall have no cause for regrets for this hospitality.

I wish you the very best of luck.

Means Announces Registration ... Chest X-Rays For All Students

All university students will be given chest X-rays this fall according to L. E. Means, director of student physical welfare. The X-rays will give accurate data of all types of chest pathology as well as indications of tuberculosis. Means stated.

Previously it was announced thta only entering freshmen would be given X-rays, but the added service for upperclassmen will commence Sept. 23, Means said.
Supplementing the university's equipment will be state health department's mobile X-ray unit.

10,000 Students Means said an estimated 10,000 students and university employes would be given X-ray examina-Nebraska is one of ten universities in the nation which is giving this type o fexamination.

In addition to student X-rays, all university faculty personnel, office workers and university employes in general will be invited to avail themselves of this privilege annually. Saturday mornings are being reserved for these employes and their families, as well as wives of veterans enrolled in the university.

Roseniof Statement

In a statement to The Daily Nebraskan, Dr. Rosenlof said, "Registration has exceeded all previous registration periods, and has established a precedent for the number of new students admitted for one semester or a summer session. In spite of the problem created it is felt that the registration has been run as smoothly as it is possible to have it run.

"The major difficulty is that many departments, especially the service departments, are understaffed, and consequently could not provide a sufficient number of sections to meet the demands of the heavy enrollment in the freshman and sophomore years. Registration in the junior division moved so rapidly on Monday and Tuesday that it was necessary to discontinue registration on Wednesday morning to allow the as-

In its season ticket sales this year, the University theater presents a plan by which those who wish to see its productions may be guaranteed a reserved seat for the entire season. A season ticket, costing three dollars, entitles the holder to a seat of his own choosing at all five major productions.

Tickets.

Tickets are obtainable at Miller & Paine, Hovland-Swanson, Gold's, Magees, and the University theater box office in the Temple building. On campus they are being sold by the Tassels, who maintain a booth for the convenience of students in the Student Union.
