

Ragged Edges

BY JEANNE HICKEY

Amid the scramble to get to class, plans for the Minnesota-Nebraska game are taking shape. Sal Swiler, Ruth O'Hanlon and Susie Storz plan to travel via the air while Bill Perkins, Art Beindorff, Dodie Easterbrook, Perry Rankin and Norm Loger will burn up the highway. There promises to be a good turnout judging from all the houses who have bought block tickets.

Dancin' to Anson at the Pike Saturday night were Sarah Murray with Jim Pettis, Ellie Stahl and Bill Edgecomb, Jerry Anderson and Amy Jo Bergh and Bob Winkie and Sal Stefans. The Phi Psi deal Saturday found Nancy Mines with Bill Mickel while Ginny Johnson and Don Ostrand completed the party.

Candy Already

Candy passing got underway last night when Liz Stuart passed out the sweets with new pinmate Stan Premer. Dee Boren still has his pin.

Couples of the week: Bill Lear with Peggy Cowles, Nancy Watkins and Don Bock, Marilyn Diestel and Tom Milliken and Duke Schemel and Sue Tauby and M. A. Cawood with Al Cochran.

Good news for places to go—King's has proclaimed Friday night as College night starting October 4th. No stags and lots of good bands. College men will be at the door so if you don't think you look much like a Joe College bring your I. D. card. Sounds like a good deal.

See you all at the game!

Amberology Freshman's Last Resort

BY BETTY McGRATH

The unhappy freshman boldly looked through her binoculars to see if the end of the line were in sight. It was. New hope

Four hours and two packages of cigarettes later the Book Store attendant braked. "Next!!" and our Freshman collapsed on the counter.

"One 'General Biology Book,' please."

"Sorry, the amoeba in front of you took the last one."

"May I have an 'Introduction to Spanish' book?"

"All out. However, our present order will be filled in 1958. Please drop in then."

"I'm afraid I can't wait. I'll need two pencils."

"Saw-ree, no pencils. No pencils, no paper, no dictionaries, and NO 'Encyclopedias Britannica.' The only thing I have left is one copy of 'Forever Amber.'"

"I'll take that, thank you."

And the Freshman got an A in Forever Amberology.

The moral of the story is, don't give up hope. There is a book for everyone, and if you can't get the one you want, make the most of what you can get.

Cheerleader Tryout

Additional tryouts to fill one remaining male vacancy in the yell squad will be held in the Union ballroom tonight at 7 p. m. Any men students of sophomore standing or above who are interested in trying out should report to Art Beindorff, Yell King, in the Union at the scheduled hour.

High School Band Entries Roll In For Oct. 5 Game

Entries for High School Band Day which will be celebrated when the University of Nebraska opens its home football season against Kansas State, October 5, are beginning to arrive.

Donald A. Lentz, in charge of the affair, stated that no entries would be accepted after September 23. All band members in uniform will be admitted to the Nebraska-Kansas State football game.

In the morning the bands will be each given seven minutes at which time military men and musicians will judge them. Between halves the bands will be massed for the playing of three numbers. These will be "The Star Spangled Banner" in B flat; "El Capitan" and "His Honor" march.

Peter Lorre sums himself up in two words, "adult delinquent".
