

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

Nebraska's win over Kansas boosted the Huskers in the estimation of the nation's sports experts, for Paul Williamson, originator of the Williamson Ratings, places the Huskers 65th in the nation and consigns the Jayhawks to 68th position.

Missouri and Oklahoma are ranked ahead of Nebraska, the Sooners taking 14th place and the Tigers receiving the 47th spot.

Clyde McBride, sports editor of the Kansas City Star, acclaims the Nebraska team as one of his teams of the week as a result of the U. N. performance at Lawrence.

Kansas State sounded a lot of warning to future foes by giving the Oklahoma Sooners a terrific battle for three quarters before bowing 28-7. What makes the Wildcats' feat even more impressive is the fact that the first three K-State fullbacks were left at home because of injuries.

Two of the three, Vic Jones and Karl Kramer, acquitted themselves in fine fashion when the 'Cats were in Lincoln, and their loss was a considerable blow to the Kansas State hopes.

Maybe the men of Coach Hobbs Adams will pull a few surprises during the final month of the season.

Bo McMillan, Indiana coach, has won more games during his 13 seasons at Bloomington than did his eight predecessors who handled the football fortunes at the Big Nine school after it was admitted to the conference in 1900.

According to Indiana press releases, the school became a Bo-educational institution in 1934 when the genial McMillan took over the coaching duties.

Altho Indiana lost only three men from last year's starting lineup which was good enough to win the Big Nine championship, all three have proved to be hard men to replace.

A pair of fine ends, Bob Ravensburg and Ted Kluszewski, and the leading offensive ace in the Western conference, Halfback George Taliferro, are not with the Hoosiers this year and McMillan is still experimenting to find adequate replacements.

Cyclones Face Powerful Sooners Next

AMES, Ia.—Iowa State dropped a 33 to 13 decision to Missouri last week but not before the Cyclones had struck cold fear into the Tigers and Oklahoma.

Not that Oklahoma is going to admit that Iowa State has a chance to win its 35th annual homecoming game here Saturday. The second and third quarter display of football shown by the Cyclones did, however, enable Scout Walter Driskill to take back a report which will warrant respect on the part of one of Oklahoma's greatest gridiron machines.

Oklahoma will not regard Iowa State lightly but with the wealth of football power that roams the campus at Norman, the Sooners cannot help but agree that they will win their third game of the year and the second in the Big Six.

Sooners Great?

"Are the Sooners a great team?" has been a popular Big Six question all season. Perhaps the best answer can be given by the "wolves" of Oklahoma. Notoriously impatient with a loser, the Oklahoma backers have been more solidly behind this 1946 team than at any time in the history of Sooner football.

Many strange faces will confront the Cyclones here Saturday but two familiar ones will be enough to convince them of the enormity of the job cut out for them. Joe Golding, rated before the war as one of Oklahoma's all-time great backs, has come back to add more luster to his reputation. In one game this year he moved right to the top of the scoring heap with 18 points.

Ed Davis, the fullback who hits like a train or speeds like a deer, tossed touchdown passes twice in his last appearance here as Oklahoma won, 14 to 7, in 1942.

Only one conference game is on tap this week end in the Big Six but that game involves the longest bit of traveling that any team must do in loop play.

Oklahoma makes the journey from Norman to Ames this week-end to meet the Cyclones at the feature attraction of the Iowa State celebration.

Coach Jim Tatum's crew will make the trip by plane, leaving Norman Friday afternoon and returning to the southland immediately after the game Saturday.

Table Tennis Competition Gets Started

The intramural team table tennis tournament got under way Monday at 5 p. m., when Alpha Tau Omega defeated Sigma Alpha Mu, 3 out of 5 matches.

Results of Monday's games were: Lagman, SAM, defeated Flagg, ATO; Weiler, ATO, defeated Goldware, SAM; Marsh, ATO, defeated Levinson, SAM; Veitzer, SAM, defeated Anderson, ATO, and Loudon, ATO, defeated Weinstein, SAM.

All team entrants are warned to have their men present at the scheduled time, as forfeits will be declared promptly at 5:10. The five men from each house are seeded and matched just prior to the game. This week's schedule:

Wednesday, Oct. 23—Sigma Chi vs. Beta Sigma Psi.

Thursday, Oct. 24—Phi Kappa Psi vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Publications . . .

(Continued from Page 1.)

Other speakers will be: Phil Maxwell, Chicago Tribune promotion director who plans to transcribe his weekly radio show with a cast of A. P. C. delegates, Kenneth Olson, textbook writer and dean of journalism at Northwestern university, J. E. Stemple, head of the department of journalism at Indiana university, M. V. Charnley, co-author of "Magazine Article Writing and Editing" and professor of journalism at the University of Minnesota.

Delegates will also hear John Paul Jones, director of the Illinois College Press Association, and professor of journalism at the University of Illinois, and Dr. W. L. Young, vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Dr. Young was former president of Park college and is associate editor of the Presbyterian Tribune.

Such schedule listings as "Editorial Roundtables," "Yearbook Program," "Editorial Survey," and "Business Roundtables" promise an informative convention, and Johnny Marlowe's orchestra plays for Friday night dances, to brighten the social side of the A. P. C.

FRIDAY, OCT. 25

COLLEGE NIGHT

at

KINGS

The Gay Mite Spot

SPECIAL RALLY DANCE

J. Cox & Orchestra

Dancing 9 until 12

College Couples Only

No Stags

Bring Your Ident. Card

Weir Cheered By Return Of Morrison

University of Nebraska track hopes soared Monday with the return of Don Morrison, former Lincoln high miler and Big Six indoor and outdoor two-mile champion at Nebraska in 1944 and 1945.

It was hoped that Morrison, who has just received his discharge from the army, would be in school in time to run last week against the University of Kansas, but as results turned out he was not needed.

Ready to Run.

Don has kept himself in shape by running the two-mile in the east, and will be on hand when the Huskers meet the University of Missouri two-milers in Lincoln on Nov. 2.

Nebraska chalked up their first triumph this season by whipping Kansas Saturday, 22 to 33.

Harold Moore, ace K.U. runner, nosed out Bobby Ginn for first place, but Phil Myers, Harold Kopf, and Jim Martin, all of Nebraska, finished in that order to give the Huskers their win.

Lou Means Tours State This Week On Speaking Trip

Louis E. Means, director of student physical welfare at the University of Nebraska, has several speaking engagements scheduled this week.

His first address will be Thursday afternoon, Oct. 24, when he will speak to the state teachers convention group of physical educators in McCook, Neb. On Friday, noon, Oct. 25, he will appear before a similar group of physical educators at the state teachers convention in Lincoln. The same evening he will be the principal speaker at the Concordia College Homecoming Banquet at Seward.

Howard da Silva, the famous bartender of "The Lost Weekend," has been winning high praise for his portrayal of the tough ship captain in Paramount's "Two Years Before the Mast."

Scarlet Team Awaits Barrage of Passes

It's the same old story in the Nebraska football camp this week.

Pass defense is taking the spotlight as the Huskers drill for the Indiana Hoosiers who will be in Lincoln on Saturday for a gridiron battle with the Huskers.

Ever since the opening game against Minnesota the Nebraska

Quarterback Sam Vacanti, who turned in his best performance of the season against the Jayhawks, is hampered with a shoulder injury and four tackles, Carl Samuelson, Vern Stiner, Mike DiBiase and Gordon Hall were severely bruised in last week's tussle.

Although none of the ailing

—Courtesy Lincoln Journal.

HUSKER CO-CAPTAINS—End Ed Nyden and Halfback Roy Long have been named to captain Nebraska Saturday against the Indiana Hoosiers. The Huskers will be shooting for their third win of the season and will be out to revenge three top heavy trouncing received from the visitors during the last three years.

coaching staff has been concerned with the Huskers' weakness against passes. Despite the win at Kansas last week, the defensive lapses against an aerial game are still evident, for both Kansas touchdowns came on passes and Ray Evans was a threat each time he got set to throw.

This week the man to watch out for is Brooklyn-born Ben Raimondi, the overhead artist of the Indiana attack. In every game this season the Hoosier quarterback has been deadly accurate with his throws and there is no reason to believe that Bo McMillin's ace will be any different Saturday.

Injuries to a host of stalwarts have caused Coach Bernie Masterson some concern as he drills the Scarlet gridders for the game.

players will see much action during the week. Trainer Elwyn Dees is confident that they will be set to go on Saturday.

On the sunny side was the report that End Willard Bunker would be able to play. Bunker did not see action against Iowa or Kansas because of a knee injury, but the veteran wingman will be on call for service against the Big Nine outfit.

Halfback Roy Long and End Ed Nyden will serve as game captains for the Huskers Saturday. Both the veterans of prewar Husker teams, and both played service football. Nyden competed with Northwestern in the '43 season, while long was a standout with the Seventy-first infantry division eleven which claimed the ETO title.

The coach who thinks football is a GAME!

Some coaches regard football as a serious, dollars-and-cents business. But not Southern California's Jeff Cravath! While he plays to win—and he wins his share—he has a unique theory that football is, after all, a game that should be fun for the players. Why, he's even been known to give touchdowns away to needy opponents! Football fans will be interested in the lively article This Coach is a Softie—He Says by Collie Small in today's issue of The Saturday Evening Post. If you want to keep posted on the world of sports, you can't afford to miss a single issue of the Post.

by Collie Small

Coming in December
THE POST WILL PUBLISH THE
All-American Football Team
SELECTED BY THE AMERICAN FOOTBALL COACHES ASSOCIATION

DICK WHITTINGTON PHOTO