

Nubbins End Grid Slate Undefeated

By Walt Loomis.

With their 27-0 win over Midland College last Saturday the University of Nebraska B team wound up its 1946 schedule with a record of four wins and one tie. The only blemish on the slate was the 14-14 stalemate with Kansas State in the return game at Manhattan.

The Huskers opened the season in impressive fashion by thoroughly trouncing the Iowa State B team by 33-6. In this game several men gave notice that they were going to be heard from a good deal during the grid campaign, and most of them matched their first game accomplishments in following games.

Harvey Stroud, Wally Hopp, Bob Schreiner, Mickey Allen, and Bob Schneider scored the touchdowns in the Cyclone rout and then went on to become the mainstays of the Nubbins team in later contests. Stroud, the North Platte thin man, and Hopp, younger brother of the Boston Braves' Johnny Hopp and Harry "Hippity" Hopp, both advanced to the varsity squad and are now on the west coast preparing to meet unbeaten and untied UCLA Saturday.

At Alliance, Nebraska, the Nubbins outscored Colorado University's jayvees 18-0 before a crowd of 3,000 western Nebraskans. Following this victory came a 25-14 conquest of Kansas State, the 14-14 tie with the Wildcats, and the 27-0 wallowing administered to Midland in the finale.

'47 Standouts.

Besides the above mentioned men, some of the standouts who add strength to Bernie Masteron's varsity next year are Gail Gade, husky 200 pound center from Omaha Tech, Oscar Musman, giant Deshler tackle, Dale Adams, freshman halfback from Randolph and Bob Harrington, burly guard who specialized in extra points.

Scarlet Matmen Watch Experts In Exhibition

Two wrestling notables, Giles Penstone and Bill Doyle, were visitors in the Nebraska wrestling camp last week and give an exhibition on various specialties and wrestling techniques.

Penstone is a former University of Chicago star and Doyle is a past National Intercollegiate champion from Kansas State. Both are in business and will visit the squad from time to time.

Nebraska's brother combination, Ed and Newt Copple, are working out with the squad. Both are lettermen. However, Newt will not compete this year but Ed will be available the second semester. Two former squad members, Bill Marks and Ray Starostka, have also checked out togs.

Big Entry List.

Entries for the all-university tournament have exceeded 70. Some of the later entries include Bob McGill, Bruce Shurtleff, Charlie Roberts, Duane Anderson, Bob Beker, Don Andrews, and Bob Nedrow.

HUSKER HIGHLIGHTS

By George Miller

For the last time this season, except for the innumerable bowl games, we will take to the typewriter in an effort to predict a few winners in football games slated for Thanksgiving and Saturday, November 30.

Nebraska vs. University of California at Los Angeles—With the squad at full strength, the Huskers would be decided underdogs, but in the team's present condition the chances for a win seem to be almost nil.

There's always the chance of an upset, however, and the Uclans have been held to two touchdowns three times this season. If the Nebraska speedsters, Dick Hutton, Cletus Fischer and Bill Moorme, could break loose Bernie's boys might have a chance of toppling the west coast giants.

Missouri vs. Kansas—A crucial Big Six tussle, this game will determine which teams will share first place with Oklahoma. Ray Evans is running in top form and he should be the difference between the two old rivals.

Kansas State vs. Arizona—The Wildcats dropped to New Mexico by a one touchdown margin last week, and the Arizona eleven is considered even stronger. Coach Hobbs Adams' crew will have to end its season content with one victory.

Arkansas vs. Tulsa—Another top notch Turkey Day clash, bringing together two of the southwest's best. Sparked by Clyde Scott and directed by wily John Barnhill, the Razorbacks get this vote by the narrowest of margins over Clyde Leforce and his Golden Hurricane mates.

Georgia vs. Georgia Tech—The big game for the Bulldogs. After a slow start the Engineers are coming fast and will give the nation's No. 3 club a rough time before succumbing by a touchdown.

Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma A. & M.—Jim Tatum's Sooners should not have too much trouble with the Aggies, although the intense feeling between the two schools will keep the Cowpokes on edge.

Army vs. Navy—The end of a perfect season for the Cadets. After three years of dominating the football scene this looks like the last unquestioned win for the West Pointers. Davis and Blanchard will be wanting to finish up in style. Army by three touchdowns.

Texas vs. Texas A. & M.—Dana Bible puts in his last Saturday as coach of the Longhorns and his Orange and White warriors will be determined to make his last appearance a winning effort.

Southern California at Notre Dame—Two tough games in a row for the Trojans. After the Uclan battle last week, it is too much to hope for the U.S.C. team to come through against the high and mighty Irish.

Cyclone Cage Quintet Opens Against Grinne

AMES, Iowa. — Louis Menze, Iowa State college basketball coach, isn't certain which five men he'll start against Grinnell Dec. 2 but that they will have plenty of experience is certain.

With more than six weeks of drills behind him, the veteran Menze is still not able to select a starting five for the opener. He starts out by naming Jim Myers, 1945 all-Big Six forward from Sioux City and one of the greatest scorers in Cyclone history. And from there every night sees a change in the top five. Only man of the top 12 not yet considered for a starting spot is Ron Norman of Fairfield, and Norman reported last Tuesday.

So far, in addition to Meyers, Roy Wedhe, Holstein; Rollin Kuebler, Carroll; and Jim Buck, Ames; have been at the forwards. Ray Wehde, Holstein, just returned from the hospital, was in the running before his recent appendectomy.

At center Menze has been alternating Jim Jessen, Everly, and Leo Schneider, Rock Island, Ill. The guards, not counting Norman, have been Bill Block, Muscatine, all-Big Six star in 1945; Lloyd Kester, Ames; John Sheperd, Gary, Ind.; and Charles Grado-ville, Des Moines.

Former Husker.

The top 12 men are all letter winners. Schneider won his letter at Nebraska while Sheperd lettered at Miami, Ohio, university. All the others won letters at Iowa State.

The rest of the varsity squad, the men most likely to represent the Cyclone "B" team includes Ed Anderson, LaGrange, Ill.; Gaylord Anderson, Council Bluffs; Don Ferguson, Ottumwa; Bob McLuen, Ashton; Dean Norman, Fairfield; Don Paulsen, Huxley; Therol Petersen, Clinton; Harland Platte, Waverly; Dick Pownall, Centerville; Norman Smith, Chicago, Ill.; Jim Van Deusen, Iowa City, and John Wroan, Deer Creek, Ill.
