

Battered NU Squad Prepares for Uclans

Now basking in the California climate, the Husker football squad took a turn for the better as far as injuries are concerned.

Latest word from Trainer Elwyn Dees and Team Physician Dr. Earl Deppen reveals that Center Joe Partington may get to do his bit for the Scarlet eleven against the powerful UCLA Bruins.

Three other members of the hospital brigade, Fullbacks Tom Novak and Gregory Moore and Guard Eddie Schwartzkopf, are also in line for pigskin chores against the west coast powerhouse.

Lipps, Thomson Out.

Guards Bob Lipps and Center Jim Thomson are believed to be definitely sidelined for the season's finale, due to leg injuries picked up in the fray with the Oklahoma Sooners last Saturday.

The Nebraska team is quartered in the Huntington hotel at Pasadena and will work out during the week at the Occidental college field. Several sight-seeing excursions will be included in the week's activities, along with plenty of serious preparation for the game on Saturday.

A crowd of over 100,000 is anticipated for the tilt which will be played in the vast Los Angeles coliseum.

Uclans Rank Fourth.

This week's Associated Press ratings show that the nation's sportswriters rank the Uclans in fourth place among the football elite. Only Army, Notre Dame and Georgia hold higher spots in the gridiron ratings.

Unbeaten in nine starts this season, Coach Bert LaBrucherie's outfit has won over Oregon State, Washington, Stanford, California, Santa Clara, St. Mary's, Oregon, Montana and Southern California, to take the Pacific Coast conference championship as well as the host's role in the Rose Bowl.

Neal Mosser May Be Lost To Cage Squad

The Husker basketball squad received a severe jolt last week when Neal Mosser, an outstanding candidate for one of the guard posts, was hurt in scrimmage. Coming toward the basket for a set up, Mosser was trying to pivot away from a player who had fallen on the floor when the fallen player's elbow caught Mosser in the back of the knee, tearing the ligaments loose. He was taken to Lincoln General Hospital, and it is feared that he may be out for the season.
