

Law Freshman Continue Moot Court Tourney

The Allen Moot Court Competition for college of law freshmen, continues with trials held until December 20, Monday thru Friday at the same times.

The law students are judged by practicing attorneys, instructors, and senior law students. The final winners will be announced after the last competition on December 20.

The Allen Moot competition is made possible by a bequest of the late Thomas S. Allen, graduate of the first class of Nebraska law college.

The debates scheduled for today and Thursday December 5 are as follows: Breston & Barlow (Pl.) vs Hilmes & Schwartz (Def.) December 4, 1:30 p.m.; Van Norman & Dalton (Pl.) vs. Brogan & Bukacek (Def.) December 4, 3 p.m.; Higgins & Elson (Pl.) vs. Finkle & Mc Nutt (Def.), December 4, 7:30 p. m.; Veach & Kroger (Pl.) vs. Stanley & Jacobson, L. (Def.) December 5, 3 p. m.; and Wells & Spiecher (Pl.) vs. Thorne & Wolfe (Def.), December 5, 7:30 p. m.

Orchesis Reveals Winners of Dance Program Contest

Kappa Alpha Theta, Chi Omega and Alpha Omicron Pi have been announced as winners in the elimination contest of the intramural dances which will be presented in the Orchesis Christmas program Dec. 11.

Judges for the dances were Miss Aileene Lockhart, Miss Jane Mott and Mrs. Ruthann Geissinger of the university physical education department. Dances were selected on theme, suitability of music, dance technique and dance composition.

The theme of the first place winner, Kappa Alpha Theta, was "Toy Fantasy," and the director was Georgia Lemon. Ginny Pester directed the Chi Omega dance. Their theme was "Purity and Calmness." In charge of the Alpha Omicron Pi routine were Marilyn Miller and Darlene Pothast. The dance was enacted to the music of "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

Vet Meet Debates Fraternity Values

"Are Fraternities and Sororities Beneficial," the topic for this week's Veterans' forum, will be discussed and recorded in the Union lounge at 4 p.m. today.

Military Ball Plans Nearing Wind-Up Stage

Predicting the Military Ball to be the 'biggest party of the year,' Cadet Lt. Col. Bill Hammond, ROTC officer in charge of publicity, announced yesterday that plans for the annual affair had now reached their final stage and that a capacity crowd is expected at the coliseum Dec. 6.

Chuch Foster and his band will come from Chicago to play for the Ball, bringing one of the newer name bands to the university campus. Hammond pointed out that the traditional ceremony of the presentation of the Honorary Colonel to the advanced corps will take place at 8:45, highlighting the grand march and the introduction of the university ROTC sponsors.

Replacing the souvereir saber and scabbard which were unobtainable for the 1946 ball, Hammond has announced that photographs will be taken of each couple attending the dance if they so desire. Izzy Diamond and Les Oldfield will be in charge of the photography with two full length pictures selling for $2.

Cadet Captain Dallas Cotton, officer in charge of the honorary colonel presentation ceremonies, has been notified by Mr. A. L. Lew that the honorary colonel and her party will be entertained at the Cornhusker Hotel after the Ball.
