

UN Team To Battle Razorbacks Today

The undefeated Nebraska Cornhuskers will get their toughest test of the young basketball season today, Friday and Saturday when the eight-team tournament at Kansas City gets underway.

In addition to the six conference teams, the University of Arkansas and Southern Methodist are in the field which will play in the double bracket elimination tournament at the Kansas City auditorium.

Coach Harry Good's Huskers, boasting wins over South Dakota 68-37, Ottumwa Navy 65-45, and Drake 48-44, will open the action this afternoon at 2 p.m. against the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Thirteen players were on the UN traveling squad which left last night. Paul Shields, Monrovia, Indiana; Dale Livingston, Hastings; Bob Korte, Fairbury; Joe Brown, Nashville, Tennessee; Ken Anderson, Creston, Iowa; Waldo Winter, Lincoln; Rod Cox, Lincoln; Joe Loisel, West Point; Bob Cerv, Weston; Gayle Lebsack, Lincoln; Claude Retherford, French Lick, Indiana; Don McArthur, Lincoln, and Matt Keating, Omaha, made the trip.

Big Boy.

Arkansas boasts a 6-foot 11-inch center in George Kok who was one of the best in the southwest last year. The Razorbacks finished second in the Southwestern conference in the 1945-46 season.

Coach Phog Allen's Kansas Jayhawkers and the Oklahoma Sooners are early favorites in the meet, altho the other teams in the field are unknown quantities capable of springing surprises.

The Oklahoma quintet, victorious over Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Texas Tech and Warrensburg Teachers in four starts, will follow the Huskers into action. Coach Bruce Drake's ball team tackles the stubborn Kansas State Wildcats at 4 p. m. Gigantic Gerald Tucker, Allie Paine and Dick Reich are back from Sooner teams of earlier days, and team with Paul Courty, Scooter Hines and Ken Pryor to form a potent aggregation.

Wildcats Surprise.

Jack Gardner's K-Staters have been one of the surprise of the Big Six season to date. The Wildcats won three consecutive games before dropping a 54-41 decision to Iowa University. Even in defeat the Kansas State five was impressive for they pushed the Hawkeyes all the way and led for the first 11 minutes of the game.

Missouri and Southern Methodist open the evening round at 8 p. m., to be followed by Kansas and Iowa State at 9:30.

With Charlie Black, Otto Schnellbacher and Ray Evans back for more duty on the hardwoods, the KU mentor, Phog Allen, is not moaning too loudly, for the Jayhawks appear to be one of the teams to beat.

Should Nebraska topple the Arkansas crew they will meet the winner of the Cyclone-Kansas clash. If the Huskers lose, they will be matched with the loser of the Iowa State-Kansas tussle.

Finals Tilt.

Play continues on Saturday with the championship battle booked for 9:30 Saturday evening.

Good has indicated that he will stick with his usual starting lineup for the Arkansas game. That means that Claude Retherford and Joe Brown will open at the forwards, Rodney Cox will be at center and Joe Loisel and Don McArthur will handle the guard slots.

Equipment Wanted

Track Coach Ed Weir stated Wednesday that any man who has checked out track equipment must report for track immediately or he will be required to turn in the equipment. This is an effort to outfit men who have expressed a desire to report for track but cannot do so due to the shortage of equipment.

Retherford Leads Husker Cage Scorers

Claude Retherford, harum-scarum forward from French Lick, Indiana, paces the University of Nebraska basketball scorers after three games.

The Hoosier hotshot has piled up a total of 31 points to lead teammate Don McArthur by 10 points. McArthur came through with a 14 point performance against Drake to jump into second place.

Three other members of the usual starting five hold down the next positions. Center Rod Cox is two points behind McArthur with 19 tallies, just one better than Joe Loisel's total of 18. Forward Joe Brown, although kept out of the Ottumwa game because of injuries, is next in line with 13 tallies.

Team Total.

As a team the Huskers have compiled 181 points against 126 for the opposition.

In the three games thus far Retherford has shared high point honors once. Gayle Lebsack took the award once as did Don McArthur. Rod Cox divided honors with Retherford in the opening game against South Dakota.
