Cancel the Flowers . . .

At a convocation held yesterday morning in the Union ballroom, a group of university students tried to present a sincere and informative picture of the tuberculosis drive and its purpose on this campus.

A handful of students attended.

Aside from the fact that the convocation took lots of time and planning, the drive behind the convocation has taken an even greater amount of time and planning. And the purpose of the drive itself is of immediate interest to everyone of us.

As has been explained, the campaign, if successful, will enable Lancaster county to purchase a mobile-x-ray unit to be used by the university in future years. The unity used this year for x-ray pictures was borrowed from the state health department.

The $4,000 goal set for university contributors is less than one-fifth of the total cost of the unit, which is $25,000. The remainder will be given through the Lancaster county campaign. Surely 9,000 students can put the drive on its feet.

Booths are open daily in the Union, Sosh and Andrews, and on Ag campus. Cancel the flowers and join the drive.

scholarships and government aid to qualified students.

5. The encouragement of such student-operated institutions as hostels, dormitories, dining halls, etc.

6. The stimulation of student dramatic productions, art exhibitions, concerts, sports events, etc.

7. Facilitation of student exchange and travel.

The Student Council and the delegates are interested in finding out how the students feel about these pertinent questions, for it is the opinions of the students that will dictate the voting procedure to the delegates. For these reasons a fill-in ballot will be printed in tomorrow's Nebraskan, and it is hoped that all students will take the opportu-

Ag Union Closes For City Campus Christmas Party

The ag union will be closed Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. for the Student Union party down-town. It will also be closed on Thursday at 6 p. m. for the Union employees party.

There will be a matinee dance from 5 to 6 and a square dance from 7:30 to 8:45 p. m., according to Mrs. Hiatt, manager.

The Ag college Christmas program will be held Wednesday night in the Activities building gymnasium. All students and faculty members are urged to attend.

ity to fill in the poll and return it to the Student Council.

It is apparent, as was pointed out at the World Student Congress at Prague, that students all over the world are faced with certain responsibilities, and it is believed by this group that one way in which these responsibilities of the American student can be realized is by the establishment of a non-partisan organization representative of all students of the United States, democratic in principle and practice, and devoted to the needs and problems of students.

The topics that have been scheduled for discussion at Chicago show that this organization is preparing for the betterment of students everywhere.

Representatives from almost all of the national student organizations as well as a majority of universities and colleges throughout the country will be present at the conference.

Audience Applause Proclaims Success of 'Messiah' Oratorio

BY SAM WARREN.

Handel's "Messiah" was given a rendition Sunday in the coliseum which so pleased the pre-war sized audience that a deluge of well-earned applause descended upon Conductor David Foltz, his soloists and the complete group as the 'Hallelujah Chorus' brought to a close another performance of a campus tradition of some 20 years' standing.

Making his initial appearance at the university as conductor of the Choral Union orchestra and chorus, Mr. Foltz directed with a freshness and vitality that brought buoyancy and aliveness to the entire performance. A characteristic ease showed a more than competent knowledge of the score.

Soloists Satisfying.

The four singers formed a particularly satisfying group of soloists. If any one of them could be singled out as especially effective, it would be Tenor Dayton Smith who from his familiar initial recitative "Comfort Ye, My People" thruout his few solos displayed a power and yet softness of quality perfectly suited to oratorio style.

Equally well-received was Dale Ganz, whose difficult baritone solos were handled with deftness and ability. His baritone has a penetrating brilliance that carried it the length of the accoustically-poor coliseum, and a fullness that makes for pleasant listening.

Contrasting Colors.

The contrasting colors of the soprano and contralto's voice quality balanced the solo selections. A resounding sweetness and clarity of Miss Martha McGee's soprano lent a delicacy to her interpretations and made especially delightful the four short recitatives from Luke beginning with "There were shepherds abiding in the fields." However, she failed to make the most of "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," the final solo which to many people climaxes the oratorio, so that it lacked conviction.

In the person of Mrs. Pauline Anderson, the audience found a contralto of richness and vibrancy that made "He Was Despised" one of the most effective airs of the performance.

But as usual, it was the chorus

Cornhusker Pictures

All unaffiliated students, Motor Boards and fraternity men must have their pictures taken this week if they desire to appear in the class sections, Joan Fankhauser, Cornhusker managing editor announced today.

Miss Fankhauser added that absolutely no pictures will be taken of sorority and residence hall women unless their photos have been lost. She emphasized that all class section and fraternity pictures must be taken before Christmas.

that made the outstanding impression aside from the 'Hallelujah Chorus' which never fails to "go over," the best-done choruses were probably, "Surely He hath borne our griefs," "Since by man came death," and "O Thou that tellest good tidings." Only in an isolated instance or two did the chorus pull ahead of the orchestra, notably in "All We Like Sheep."

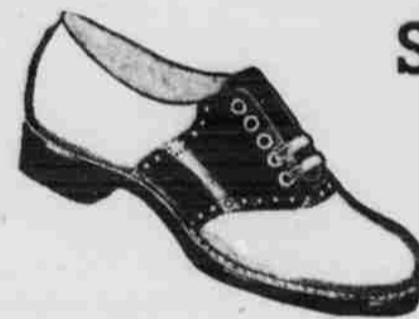

A gratifying precision in the string sections was the chief contribution of a well-prepared orchestra. Myron Roberts at the organ and Earnest Harrison at the piano completed an integrated accompaniment.

English Instructor Renamed Head Of Committee

Miss Mamie Meredith, English instructor has been asked by L. W. McKelvey, of Northwestern University, president of the American Business Writing Association, to continue as chairman of the Committee to Survey and Publicize Materials Favorable to the Progress of Business Writing.

The committee, previously headed by Miss Meredith, and now resuming its prewar activity, consists of sixteen members besides Miss Meredith. The members range from New York to California and from Vermont to Texas.

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will meet tonight at 6:45 in the Y.M.C.A. rooms of the Temple building, according to Don Crowe, president.
