

Church Groups Plan Regular Weekend Meetings, Services

Campus church groups have planned regular services and meetings for this week end.

The regular meeting of LSA will be held from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. at the First Lutheran church, 17th and A streets. Lloyd Neve, the national president of LSA, will talk to the group. A bus, leaving the Union at 4:45 p. m. will take students to the church.

Mass.

Msgr. George Schuster will say the Newman Club mass for Catholic students in Parlors X, Y and Z of the Union at 11 a. m. Sunday. The Newman club rooms have been moved from the second floor of the Temple building to the basement of Temple. They are open all day.

Chancellor Gustavson will be guest speaker at the Sunday afternoon forum at the Presbyterian Student House at 5 p. m. He will speak on 'Atomic Energy and Its Peace-Time Uses. After the forum, he and Mrs. Gustavson will be guests at the fellowship hour. All students who wish transportation to the Ag Variety show and auction to be held at the Activities building tonight, are to meet at the student house.

The Lutheran chapel service will be held Sunday morning at 10:45 in Room 316 of the Union with the Rev. H. Erck in charge. His sermon topic will be "Ye Are Made Nigh by the Blood of Christ." Elaine Putenson will accompany the hymns, and Willis Jahde will sing.

Orchestra To Present Specialties

Among the University Orchestra's scheduled numbers for Sunday's concert at 4 p. m. in the Union ballroom are four compositions of particular interest. They include a modern composition, two special arrangements and one of the great concertos written for piano and orchestra.

Concerto.

Mozart's "Concerto in D Minor" is the number which Ernest Utner, one of three soloists, will play. Emanuel Wishnow will conduct the concert and commented yesterday that the work could be considered a "pattern for the concerto of the classical period" which Mozart represents. "You couldn't find a better one," he stated. The RCA Victor catalogue lists more recordings of this concerto than any other.

First Arrangement.

Horner Keller's recent "Serenade for Clarinet and Strings" will be heard for the first time in Lincoln when Donald Wenzlaff performs it with the string section of the orchestra. It is an impressionistic composition especially well suited to the capacities of the clarinet, according to Conductor Wishnow.

As for the arrangements, the first is an arrangement of Frescobaldi's "Toccata" by Hans Kindler, now conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington, D. C. It will be the opening selection by the orchestra. The other is an accompaniment setting of an old Scotch air arranged by Mr. Wishnow for baritone Cleve Genzlinger, who will sing a vocal group.

Six Coeds Will Enter Illinois Debate Contest

Six women members of the university debate squad leave today to participate in the Illinois State Normal University debate and discussion conference, Friday and Saturday.

Whether or not labor should be given a direct share in the management of United States industry is the subject to be debated. Members of the squad participating in the debate are: Mary Dye, B. J. and Marthella Holcomb, Eloise Paustalin, Helen Plasters and Jacqueline Wightman.

Donald O. Olson, university speech instructor in charge of the trip, said that in addition to six rounds of debate three rounds of discussion will be held concerned with steps necessary to lessen or eliminate labor-management strife in the United States. Debate squad member Don Kline will participate in the discussion but not the debate.

Accompanied by Gerry McKinsey, graduate of the university in 1946 and now an instructor at both Norfolk High school and Norfolk Junior college, beginning debate students of the junior college listened to two university practice debates Wednesday afternoon. Miss McKinsey was a member of Mortar Board and President of Tassels in 1945-1946.

Directory Lists Good Weekend Phoning Data.

Now that we're plugging the sale of the Student Directories, or anything, BUT—! Have you bought one? Are you thinking about buying one? Aw, go on, buy one! You have no idea how valuable such a little gem can be and for only 50c, too.

Why, only today, our esteemed managing editor, Miss Cawood, asked that esteemed scribe of the Daily Nebraskan, Dake Novotny, whether there were more students named Jones or more named Sweeney and Peterson. And what do you think the erudite one did? Why, looked in the Student Directory, of course, and came up with the following answer:

Thirty-seven Joneses, three Sweeneys, and 27 Petersons. The only logical conclusion is that there are more Swedes in this school than anybody. If you don't believe us, just try counting all the pages of Johnsons, Andersons, Ericksons, Hansens, and Larsons.

Then there are a couple of other conclusions which might occur to the simpler mind: (1) That Dake Novotny has lost his mind, or (2) that Mary Alice Cawood is trying to get all the Student Directories sold so she won't have to buy one, or (3) that Pat Jensen is wasting our time and talents by making us write this

Kreisler Appears Here January 17

FRITZ KREISLER.

Fritz Kreisler, who has been a leading artistic and box-office attraction for the last 30 years, will appear at the Coliseum Jan. 17, as the fourth presentation of the Lincoln Newspaper series.

No violinist of the time has equaled Fritz Kreisler in his hold on the public, according to newspaper accounts throughout the country. Season after season audiences jam the concert halls whenever he appears. His playing stirs musicians and laymen alike. Kreisler admits his liking for playing in public. Suggestions that he might want to retire, he is 72, but he scoffs at the notion and during the past few years has played 20 performances a season, with a demand for three or four times that many.

Some years ago, a leading critic said: "There are many violinists but there is only one Kreisler." This statement has been reiterated in many ways by many people throughout the years, and recently the New York Times reported: "When Fritz Kreisler came on the stage at the start of his recital yesterday afternoon in Carnegie hall, the vast audience, which filled the auditorium and platform to capacity, rose and stood in homage to the great violinist who still remains the undisputed master in his field."

Tickets are on sale at Walt's Music Store, 1141 O St., and mail orders are now being received. Prices range from $1.20 to $3.60, with the usual 50 cent section for students.

Drawing his experiences with programs such as "Man on the Spot," conducted from the corner of 16th and Farnam in Omaha, and "Sports by Bremser," a nightly sports review, Bremser will be well qualified to speak to the radio students.

Bud Levinson, vice-president of Alpha Epsilon Rho, explained that a discussion period will follow Bremser's talk and that the radio commentator will welcome questions from the floor pertaining to a field of radio coverage of special events and news. The vice-president urged non-members of the radio honorary to feel free to attend the meeting on January 14.

Tryouts

Today's tryouts for "Angel Street" will be held from 3 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. in Room 201 of the Temple building. Students interested in trying out are reminded that they must attend at least two of the tryouts to be considered for a part. Final tryouts will be announced later.
