

Vets Disapprove Governor's View On School Fund

Urge "Adequate" State Expenditure

"Active and moral support" pledged to Governor Val Peterson in a resolution passed by the Veterans' Organization on November 26, was removed by the group at a mass meeting Wednesday night.

This resolution had as its goal an appropriation from the legislature that "would put the University among the best of the land grant colleges." Action was prompted after studying Governor Peterson's budget recommendations which the univets believe to be "unbelievably inadequate."

Speakers Bureau

The Univets have also organized a speakers bureau to "promote a clearer understanding of the services of the University to the state." Speakers will all be University students giving their service free of charge.

Under present plans the bureau would furnish a speaker and, when available, a 30-minute movie covering University activities to any Nebraska organization requesting them. Requests may be mailed to Mr. Carl Booton, 209 Nebraska Hall, Lincoln.

Valentine Dance

Tickets for the Valentine Tea Dance from 3-6 today, may be bought at the door, a booth in the Student Union, or from house representatives.

Panel Avers Cooperation With Russia

Presenting their ideas from four different angles, Prof. Norman L. Hill of the political science department, Maxim M. K. Elias, Russian paleontologist, Paul Schuppach, veteran and junior in arts and science, and Walt Greenberg, senior business administration veteran, attempted to answer the question, "Is Russo-American Cooperation Possible?" over Vet's Views, a weekly radio program, yesterday in the Union lounge.

While all four speakers agreed that cooperation is definitely possible, economic, political, cultural and physical phases were investigated during the program.

Prof. Hill directed his attention to the political factors involved and discussed the respective sizes of Russia and America, correlating this information with populations, resources and policies.

Other Speakers

Elias, a fifty year old citizen of this country, spent 25 years in Russia. He attacked the problem from the ideological viewpoint, stating from his experience that the attitudes of the Soviet government do not necessarily represent those of the people.

Greenberg, a former lieutenant in the European theater and a spectator at the Paris Peace Conference, also spoke.

Weekend Activities Feature Beauty Queen Tea Dance, Saturday Penny Carnival

Coeds Show Originality At Carnival

23 Organizations Sponsor Booths

By Gracie Smith

Twenty-three booths will provide entertainment at the annual Coed Counselor Penny Carnival at Grant Memorial hall Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

Tickets for the carnival may be purchased from Coed Counselors, and a limited number of tickets will be available at the door on Saturday. Everyone attending, including participants, must have a ticket.

Shooting galleries, fortune telling, and song and dance routines will be included in the variety of booths, and the cup won by the Alpha Phis last year, will be presented for the booth receiving the most votes.

Judges

A committee consisting of faculty members has been invited to help in deciding upon the winner. The judging committee consists of Dr. Beggs of Teachers college, Mrs. Spaulding of the art department and Mr. Whittaker of the speech department.

The general committee chosen to plan the penny carnival consists of Beverly Jackson and Mary Dye, and with the help of such committees as foods headed by Priscilla Flagg and Phyllis Sorenson; posters by Jackie Wightman and Betsy Bahensky; speaking tours by Jo Fankhauser; and general publicity by Gracie Smith, the carnival is well on its way.

Coed Counselors

Daily Staff Appointments Announced

Appointees to the positions of Special Feature Editor and assistant business manager of the Daily Nebraskan are Sam Warren and Bill Wilkins. The new members were announced by Prof. David Fellman, chairman of the Student Publications Board.

Warren, who will be in charge of features for the Daily Nebraskan, is a member of Corn Cobs and Sinfonia. Wilkins worked as an ad solicitor for the Daily Nebraskan during the first semester.

Steele Talks to Soil Group

Miss Bess Steele, associate professor of design in the Home Economics Department, spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Soil Conservation Service at the home of Mrs. H. E. Engstrom, Tuesday, February 11. Miss Steele talked on home furnishings and interior decoration and led a group discussion of problems of home decoration.

Refunds for second semester subscriptions to the AWGWAN magazine will be made the week of February 10-14, inclusive. Checks will be mailed to treasurers of houses which have five or more members entitled to refunds. Call, dormitory, or other miscellaneous subscribers should call in person at the AWGWAN office in the Student Union basement during the following hours:

Friday, February 14, 4 to 5 p. m.
Students should bring their receipts, if possible. Identification cards must be presented. No further refunds will be made after February 14, 1947. Any further information may be obtained from Eldon E. Donnelly in the AWGWAN office during the above hours.

Tea Dance To Unmask 8 New BQs

Against a background of red hearts and crepe paper streamers, the university's eight most beautiful coeds will be introduced to the student body during the Valentine Tea Dance, from 3 to 6 today in the Union ballroom.

Beauty queens, escorted by eligible bachelors, will step one by one through a red heart frame onto the ballroom stage, and will walk to a large heart in the northwest corner of the dance floor to wait for their partners for the first dance.

Stairs Decorated

Red and white streamers and hearts will form the basis for all decorations, from a large red heart at the Crib door, up the stairs to the 3rd floor. Pictures of the 16 finalists will be pasted on hearts and suspended from the ceiling by red crepe paper streamers, and the west wall of the ballroom will be covered with red hearts.

Dave Haun's band will provide music for dancing and will feature vocalist Shirley Haun.

Free Brownies, Cokes

Brownies and cokes will be served by freshman women active on the Cornhusker or Student Foundation. They are: Eugenie Sampson, Georgie Rediger, Marian Battey, Janet Stratton and Pat Hickey.

Geneva Mitchell, Tea Dance publicity chairman, has announced that tickets, 50c each, are selling fast, and emphasized that no one, even spectators, will be admitted to the dance without tickets. Students may attend in street clothes, she said.

Whitcomb

The eight winners were chosen by Jon Whitcomb, creator of the "Back Home For Keeps" series, from photographs of the 16 finalists. See BEAUTY QUEENS, Page 2.

Kappa Sigmas Plan 50th Fete

To celebrate their fiftieth year of Kappa Sigma fraternity on this campus, alumni of the organization will hold a banquet at the Cornhusker hotel Saturday night.

Worthy Grand Master James A. Donovan of Chicago, national head of the fraternity, will be the principal speaker of the evening. District Grand Master William R. Evans of Kansas City, Mo., will also speak.

Charter members of the Nebraska chapter of the group are Brigadier General LeRoy Patch, Charles Turrell, William Grant, Leonard Robbins, Carl Shuff, Colonel C. C. Culver, C. A. Fisher, Charles Matson and Charles Schwarz. The latter four are deceased.

Premiere Contest Winners Will Receive Cash Prizes

Whether or not a Nebraska coed wants to look like Katherine Hepburn or a UN man like Spencer Tracy, if he or she does, each stands a good chance of getting paid for it and receiving statewide recognition.

Those whose fate it is to resemble either of the two outstanding Hollywood stars should submit entries in the contest to select two university students to act as proxies for Hepburn and Tracy at the "Sea of Grass" premiere March 4.

The two winners will receive awards of $25 each and plaques and telegrams sent by the two stars who will be unable to attend the premiere. The coed selected will be presented with a special corsage with the compliments of Miss Hepburn.

Dressed in the costumes worn by Hepburn and Tracy in "Sea of Grass," the winners will arrive at the Stuart theater in a special limousine, participate in a 15 minute broadcast, and be seated in the loge with guest state and civic leaders. Governor Peterson will make the awards to the winners on the Stuart theater stage.

All entries must be turned in to the Daily Nebraskan office before February 20. Each entry should state the student's name, address, and telephone number.
