

Seniors Give Vocal Recital Today at 4

Continuing its series of senior recitals, the school of fine arts will present Charline and Arline Shepard and Robert Rouch in a vocal recital today at 4 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

Transferring from Morningside College in Iowa, the Shepard twins are identical in tastes and interests as well as in appearance. Both sopranos, they will sing a group of four songs, each including an operatic aria. They will join to close the program in a duet-arrangement of Brahms' "The Gypsies."

While at Morningside, the Shepards were active in radio work, as well as in music. Writing and producing radio scripts, they also authored dramatic skits which they presented in various Iowa high schools. They are members of University Singers.

Tenor Robert Rouch will assist the twins, singing English, German and Italian numbers. Mr. Rouch will be remembered as the Harlequin, Peppe, in February's production of "Pagliacci." Also a member of Singers, he was a soloist in several university oratorios before leaving for the service in '41.

The complete program, which is open free to the public, is:

- Tu Lo Sai ..... Torelli
- Gretchen at the Spinning Wheel ..... Schubert
- In the Silence of the Night ..... Rachmaninoff
- Vissi D'Arte (Tosca) ..... Puccini
- Miss Charline Shepard
- Lovely is your mien ..... Moffat
- Mondnacht ..... Schumann
- Go, Lovely Rose ..... Quilter
- Che gelida manina (La Boheme) ..... Puccini
- Mr. Rouch
- Care Selve ..... Handel
- Connais-tu le pays (Mignon) ..... Thomas
