Opportunity for Art . .

On display this month in Morrill Hall is the 57th annual Exhibition of Contemporary American Art, sponsored by the Nebraska Art Association. Authorities on art have long recognized this annual show as one of the finest in the country, and it brings to the campus over 200 varied styles and media.

You can see abstract painting, works by American masters and European artists in oil, watercolor, crayon and sculpture in the galleries of Morrill—and you can see them free. In addition, if you might win on original etching, lithograph or silkscreen by entering the contest sponsored by the art department.

Gallery talks by members of the art faculty and critics from other cities on the exhibit are also featured at Morrill Hall this month. Students have an excellent opportunity to see and hear about the exhibition because no admission is charged, while citizens of Lincoln have to pay to see it.

Wandering about the halls and galleries is interesting, noticing how present-day artists interpret their world, some in lines and geometric designs, others in landscapes and street scenes. It doesn't take a thorough knowledge of the principles and mechanics of drawing to enjoy a picture or a statue.

NSA Delegates Give Report On Organization Expansion

Last December, the Student Council sent four students to represent the university at the Chicago Student Conference, a meeting in which 727 delegates represented 672 colleges and universities and 55 national student organizations for the purpose of organizing a national organization of students.

A National Continuations Committee was established for the purpose of preparing a constitution and a general plan of activity to be presented to a larger assemblage of people at the University of Wisconsin this September.

For the purpose of facilitating the activities of the activities of the organization the county was divided into 30 regions, one of which includes North Dakota, South Dakota, and Nebraska. During this past weekend a regional meeting was held at Duchesne College in Omaha, with fifteen colleges and universities participating. The purpose of the meeting was to arouse greater interest in the national organization and in the constitutional convention this summer.

Regional Officers.

Regional organization was discussed at the Duchesne meeting and regional officers were elected. The officers are Eugene Berman, of the university, regional chairman; Bill Long, Kearney state college, vice-president; Don Nielsen, University of Omaha, treasurer; Robert Nickerson, Creighton University, secretary; and Wesley Sandvig, Augustana college, publicity chairman.

Most of the meeting was concerned with a discussion of the organization, its aims, purposes, methods, and structure. Following the lengthy discussion of the proposed organization it was found that all delegates present favored the establishment of such an organization and were willing to take such a recommendation back to the campuses each represented. For this reason the meeting continued on organizational lines, the high-point being the assessment of each campus for an amount of money in accordance to a formula set up based on a per-capita and representative basis. The money is to be used to support the NCC, both national and regional, during the interim period until the constitutional conference.

May Meet Planned.

Because of the brief time that had been allotted for the conference, and because the delegates wanted to get the opinions of their campuses concerning the proposed constitution for the NSA before the region made recommendations for presentation at the constitution convention, it was decided that another regional meeting be held on May 10 and 11.

An all out drive to interest other schools in the organization and to be present at the next regional meeting and the national constitutional convention has been undertaken by the executive committee. Only four colleges from this region were present at Chicago. There were thirteen at Duchesne, and several additional schools have expressed interest in the organization and are keeping in touch with the group.

Dial Twistings . . .

BY LEE HARRIS.

Here it is Thursday already and the week has slipped right out from under us, leaving a variety of thoughts behind it. Some of those thoughts might need a slight bolstering, so let me suggest the Musical Clock as that source of spirit from which you can start out the day right. The Musical Clock is brought to you thru the facilities of station KFOR at 7:15. But that's for those early birds who rise at the crack of 6:30 to make their old stand-by, the 8 o'clock class. If you are a person of leisure on this fine March morning and are lucky enough to be near a radio as the clock strikes 10, snap your sturdy little dial twister to KFOR again and listen to Hollywood's morning favorite, Tom Breneman. This is a national program sponsored by ABC and is generally regarded as one of radio's best in the way of all around variety. Among the many feature attractions on Breakfast in Hollywood, which is broadcast directly from Tom Breneman's own restaurant, is the award to the Good Neighbor of the Day. Many letters are received by Tom telling him of some worthy person who has done something outstanding to help someone. The award is truly a worth while one, and those who win this coveted honor deserve the recognition given them.

As we travel thru the day from class to class, many things may happen to cause that tightened-up feeling within. If this is the case with you, snap the dial to KFOR this evening and listen to a pair of thrilling mysteries that will unravel all those tight thoughts that have wound their way around you all day long. Mr. Keen, the first of the two mysteries, takes to the air at 6:30 over KFOR and is followed by Suspense, a half hour later over the same station.

At 8:00, still on KFOR, the Dick Haymes show will filter thru your loudspeaker, providing you have your dial set at 1110. Another CBS production, this 30 minute show promises an interesting half hour of radio listening.

Back-tracking a bit, the Town Meeting of the Air is scheduled to take over the ABC network at 7:30 this evening. For all those who want to find out not only what has happened but also why it has happened, this is their best bet. Being the best program of its kind, Town Meeting of the Air furnishes possibly the best source of argument on the problems facing America today.

This evening, you may find out exactly what has happened in the way of the latest news by tuning in either KFOR or KFAB at 11. Both local stations offer at that time a five minute review of the news.

Tony Pastor highlights the dance band music for tonight as he carries the burden for KFAB from 11:30 to midnight. About now your small dial on the side of your radio is exhausted and takes an exit until dawn of the next day. Until tomorrow, then, sweet listening to all radio listeners everywhere.

Dr. A. L. Lugin of the university geology department will end the series of talks at 4:15 on "Navy Maps and Charts."

Members of the well drillers association will be entertained at a Dutch lunch at 6:30 tonight by the Drillers and Manufacturers. Governor Val Peterson and Dr. George Condra, state geologist in conservation and survey will address the group.

Visitors.

Visitors, especially engineering and ag students, are welcome to all the meetings, according to E. C. Reed, secretary of the association. All talks will be given in room 110 of Nebraska hall today. The conference continues tomorrow.

Officers of the association will also be elected at the short course.

that members of the university family behave as good citizens."

Immediate Suspension.

The Chancellor concluded, "because lives are being endangered by reckless driving and especially reckless driving under the influence of alcohol, I am taking this occasion to restate a university policy of long standing: students found guilty of driving under the influence of alcohol will be immediately suspended from the university."
