

MORE BEANIES—Innocents promote Cornhusker spirit by selling beanies to freshmen George Peter, Bob Schleiger and "Pooch" Roper. Men in long robes are Martin Pesek and Stanley Johnson.

Frosh Cap Sale Gets Underway

Selling freshman beanies to the 1947 crop of freshmen is big business, as Martin Pesek, Corn Cob president, can testify.

Already 850 of the red caps are adorning freshmen skulls, but more than 600 are still ownerless, Pesek reports. To meet those 600 bare-headed freshmen, a freshman cap booth will be set up in the Student Union Tuesday, from 2 to 6 p. m. The Innocents, men's senior honorary society, will be in charge of beanie sales.

New Furniture Placed In Crib

After a long delay the red and cream furniture for the Crib in the Student Union has arrived and will be installed Monday, September 22.

Five booths will be installed on the south wall. All the booths are constructed of red duratone plastic, a new material which is more durable and more comfortable than leatherette according to Duane Lake, Student Union manager.

The tables will have cream tops with a chrome base and chrome rimming. Since anchoring the tables and booths is a tedious task, the tables won't be anchored until Thanksgiving in order that the Crib can remain open now.

It is hoped that a new sound system and new draperies can be purchased for the Crib, sometime during this school year to make the remodeling complete, Lake commented.

In Commemoration Of The Men Of Nebraska Who Served and Fell in the Nations Wars*

*Inscription on the University of Nebraska football stadium in memory of Nebraska men who died in World War I.

Two years have passed since the man-made atomic hell rocked Hiroshima.

Two years have passed since the goose-stepping Hitlerites were stamped into the rubble-dust of a broken Germany.

Two years have passed with the recollections of World War II sidetracked by the feverish patter of World War III talk.

Two years of broken body building, house hunting, skyrocketing living costs, and mental adjustment have replaced the memory of world wide holocaust.

Two years—and the debt has not begun to be paid.

A statue is a cold and impersonal dedication, a building, little more than brick and mortar. To create a living memory, a combination of three quantities must be attained: a building and a statue with psychological warmth.

Personification of these quantities lies in the erection of a campus chapel as a dedication to former Nebraskans. A chapel open day and night for personal meditation, a chapel large enough to accommodate students for university religious functions.

A main consideration of many colleges and universities in providing students with a well rounded education has been the erection of a center of worship. This phase of a student's life has been overlooked in this, our own college community.

To finance this one grand memorial, students, faculty, administration, school and state, as well as individual citizens should support such a project with determination equalled only by that support displayed when our country was at war.

The realization of such a goal will not be accomplished in a day, a week or a year, but should be an eventuality of short coming. Each nickel and each dollar contributed will bring the goal one step closer.

Seven years following the Armistice in 1918, Nebraska spectators saw their first football game from the university's Memorial stadium. Seven years and completion; two years and no progress . . . but five short years remain to equal our predecessors!
