fraternities and sororities on campus for the school year 1946-47 were released Saturday by the registrar's office.

Farm House topped the men's list with the year's high average of 85.525, and Kappa Alpha Theta led the sororities with 81.25, only .10 higher than second place Chi Omega. Alpha Gamma Rho was second high fraternity for both semesters.

Although the highest fraternity ranking for the first semester last year was 4.55 points higher than the top sorority average, the lowest ranking was higher than six fraternity averages.

Farm House Again

Farm House fraternity has headed men's lists for 15 years, records show. A men's scholar-ship cup, awarded annually, was in continuous possession of the Farm House from 1932-42, except for 1937, when Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the honor.

No Other Rankings

No ranking of other organized houses, societies, clubs or an alluniversity average were tabu-lated this year. The great number of students makes compilation prohibitive, the registrar told The Daily Nebraskan.

First and second semester averages for the school year 1946-47 follow:

Lincoln residents with rooms and housekeeping privileges for these people are asked to phone the university housing office, 2-7631, Ext. 161.

Led by All-America candidate George Taliaferro and the hard charging Harry Jagade, the Indiana eleven outplayed the Huskers in every department while running rough shod over the Memorial Stadium turf.

Indiana opened the contest and advanced the pigskin to the Nebraska 25 before the Husker line held. But Nebraska's offense sputtered and the Hoosiers again backed the Scarlet to the goal post shadows before Cletus Fischer broke loose on a 32-yard scamper up the east sidelines to midfield,

Once out of the rut, Nebraska battled the Hoosiers on even terms throughout the remainder of the first period.

Jagade Scores

Taliaferro, Indiana's dusky triple-threater, intercepted Del Wiegand's pass at the quarter. On four plays Coach Bo McMillin's boys had racked up three successive first downs and had the ball on the Husker five-yard stripe. After staging a brief goal line stand, the Huskers wilted as Jagade rammed over from a half yard out for the game's first Quarterback Rex Grossman's placement was good to boost the Hoosiers lead to 7-0.

When both of Grossman's kickoff attempts after the initial touchdown went out of bounds, the Huskers took over on the Indiana 40-yard line, but the Hoosiers stymied Masterson's "T" guided students and took over on the fin corner and rolled into the end

Fischer, Myers Spark

Sparked by Fischer, the Husker T warmed up late in the second canto. Cletus intercepted a Hoosier fumble on the 46 then advanced 39 yards on a pass from Wiegand. With only seconds remaining, James "Squat" Myers flipped at strike to Ralph Damkroger on the two-yard line. But the gun sounded ending the half

Two Members Added to Bizad Research Staff

Dr. Edward Palmer, head of the university's department of business research, has announced enlargement of the staff to carry out the work of the department's business studies. He named Miss Inez Conley and Mr. Carl Wilson as new members of the staff.

Miss Conley was formerly engaged in statistical research with the Kansas State Employment Service, while Mr. Wilson comes to the department to serve as a graduate research assistant.

"The program this year will probably include a study of busi-ness fluctuations in Nebraska as measured by the new business index which the department has developed," Dr. Palmer said, "as well as a proposal for a greatly enlarged system of reporting business and economic data from
