

AUF Donations Will Help World Peace—Gustavson

Food and Supplies are Needed for Europeans, Chancellor Requests Mild Student Sacrifices

"The university campus is a part of the great student body of the world to which we must extend the hand of fellowship," said Chancellor R. G. Gustavson at the convocation sponsored by AUF Tuesday.

The Chancellor believes that if the world-wide student needs are presented realistically to the students of Nebraska they cannot refuse to make a small sacrifice to further basic understanding between nations. "Foreign students are not only doing without books, equipment and leaders, but without food, shelter and medical supplies," he stated.

"The tragedy of England, for which they are still paying today was the loss in battle of their student leaders. The same thing will happen on a much greater scale unless Europe receives aid from such organizations as the World Student Service Fund (one of the organizations supported by the AUF)."

"Future leadership for world peace must come from the students of today," the Chancellor said, as he pointed out the weaknesses in the proposals for the control of atomic energy. "We are going to have countries producing the atomic bomb in each hemisphere. The only secrets are technological ones, and they are not good secrets."

Gustavson traced the developments leading up to the atomic bomb, pointing out that only one of the contributions was made by an American scientist. Other discoveries came from France, Italy, Germany, Canada and England. A complete report of an atomic energy plant appeared in a Canadian scientific journal. An atomic plant is being built near Paris by the Jolliots, while Russia and the United States argue of plans for A-bomb control.

The Chancellor decried the starvation conditions in Europe. He pointed out that "tuberculosis has increased 25 percent in Italy and even more in Germany as a direct result of malnutrition. The disease rate varies inversely with the amount of food available."

The handful of students present heard Gustavson say, "We should all make very mild sacrifices necessary to put this drive across. All put together it will make a lot to show the students of the world that we are supporting them."

'Joan of Lorraine', First Uni Play, Opens Tonight

At 8 tonight the curtain will rise on the University Theatre's first production of the season, Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine."

Don Johannes, as Masters, and Mrs. Rita Shaw, as Joan, play the lead roles. Supporting roles are carried by Abe Katz and Dewey Ganzel.

"Joan of Lorraine" is partly a play-within-a-play. The action is centered in a New York theater where rehearsals are going on for a play which tells the story of Joan. The timeliness of the drama is in the discussion between the director and Joan and other actors as to the philosophy and convictions of the famed martyr.

Staging
One of the many interesting aspects of the play is its unconventional staging. The stage is just that—a stage. Only for a few of the more dramatic moments of the two-act episode are props brought into use. Effectiveness relies majorly upon lighting which is artistically used.

In past years the ushering system used by the University Theatre to take patrons to their reserved seats has been unsatisfactory and has been one of the causes of the delay in taking the curtain up promptly at 8 o'clock.

New System

In order to speed up the seating of our patrons, the University Theatre will use a new system this season. There are three sections of reserved seats on the main floor. Patrons holding reserved seats in the Right Section will use the West street entrance. Patrons holding reserved seats in the Center Section will use entrance Number I in the lobby of the theatre. Patrons with Left Section reservations will use entrance Number II in the lobby of the theatre.

The University Theatre request holders of main floor reserve seats tickets to check their tickets and go to the proper entrance. This arrangement will eliminate criss-crossing traffic in the auditorium and, also reduce greatly the time needed to seat our patrons orderly and properly.

The entire cast for "Joan of Lorraine" is as follows:

Joan Mrs. Rita Shaw
Masters Don Johannes
Abbey Abe Katz
Dauphin Dewey Ganzel
Al Jack McDonald
Tessie Polly Ann Rickley
Marie Mrs. Mary Wendstrand
Gerde Michael Shanahan
Elling Robert Langwell
Dallner Clara Denton
Cradwell Av Bondarin
Quirke Eddie McCutcheon
Mrs. Reeves Pauline Holm
Mrs. Sadler June Gast
Farwell Dale Wisner
Noble Robert Baum
Chartier Joe Moore
Tremolle Gaylord Marr
Kipner Jack Wendstrand
Dunois Dale Anderson
Gourcelles D. C. Slama

Dallas Williams is the director of the play.

The band will play the new school song, "Huskerland" which was composed by Harry R. Miner, who played football for Nebraska in 1907-08-10.

Six Sororities Pledge 100% AUF Support

Latest organized houses to give 100 percent support to the All University Fund drive which opens Monday, Nov. 3, are Alpha Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Delta and Kappa Kappa Gamma. Each of these houses will solicit $2 from each member or turn in an amount equivalent to a $2 per person sum.

Funds raised for the drive will go to the Community Chest and the World Student Service Fund. The world goal of the WSSF is two million, one of which is being raised by the United States. The University of Nebraska has set a goal of $13,200.

Beth Noerenberg, AUF director, pointed out that "setting the individual amount at two dollars doesn't seem so much when you realize that students in England and other countries are giving amounts per person, which equals five of our dollars."

UN Names Four Rhodes Candidates

Mervyn Cadwallader, Eugene Luschei, John MacDonald, and Elmer Sprague were appointed nominees for the 1947 Rhodes Scholarship from the University of Nebraska by the Rhodes Scholarship committee Thursday.

These students will appear before the State Committee of Selection with Mr. H. A. Gundersen, secretary, at Fremont, Dec. 10. If chosen by this committee the nominees will then report to the district committee Dec. 13. Scholars elected by this committee will enter the University of Oxford in October, 1948.

Will Provisions.

According to the will of Cecil John Rhodes, 32 scholarships, tenable at the University of Oxford, are assigned annually to the United States. In view of the fact that war service has prevented intending candidates from applying during the war years, the Trustees have authorized 16 additional scholarships to be awarded in 1947.

These 48 appointments will be divided between candidates for regular or War Service Scholarships at the discretion of Committees of Selection in accordance with the merits of applicants appearing before them. Both regular and War Service appointments are made for two years in the first instance, with a possible third year for those whose record at Oxford and plan of study make such an award advisable. No restriction is placed upon a Rhodes Scholar's choice of studies.

Qualities.

The qualities which Rhodes specified in his will as forming the basis of selection are on some definite quality of distinction, in intellect, character or personality.

Competition for Rhodes Scholarships is organized by states and districts. There are eight districts of six states each. Upon recommendation by his college or university, a prospective candidate may apply either in the state in which he resides or in the state in which he has received at least two years of his college education by

Tug-of-War Is Announced By Innocents

The annual tug of war between the freshmen and sophomore classes to decide how long the freshmen will wear their beanies will take place this year Saturday, Nov. 8, the day of the Homecoming game at 10:30 a. m. Jack Hill, homecoming publicity chairman, announced Tuesday.

Part of Homecoming Festivities.

The event will be a part of the regular Homecoming activities, and will be sponsored by the Innocents society. This year the tug of war will be controlled, as the Innocents have announced that there will be 75 men from each of the two classes participating.

Each fraternity should pick one member from both the freshman and sophomore classes to enter. Each organized group on the campus will be allowed only one entrant from each class, and the rest of the 75 will be recruited from the unaffiliated student body.

Registration Closes Nov. 7.

Registration for entrants will close Friday, Nov. 7. All who desire to enter should register in the Union at the same booth where tickets to the Homecoming Dance are being sold.

The tug of war will take place on the field north of Teachers' college. Should the freshmen win the contest, they will have to wear their beanies no longer. However, if the sophomores win, the freshmen will be obliged to wear the beanies until the first snowfall.

The Innocents are sponsoring this contest in conjunction with their activities aimed at promoting and sustaining school traditions.

The time of application. Each State Committee may nominate three candidates to appear before the District Committee, and from the eighteen men appearing before it the District Committee may select six Scholars to represent their states at Oxford.

Majors of the four nominees from the university this year include physics, journalism, history and philosophy.
