Nu-Meds Hear Morgan Discuss Medical Advances

Doctor Harold C. Morgan, Lincoln obstetrician and gynecologist told the Nu-Meds of the advance of medicine in the United States Wednesday night at a meeting in the Union.

Dr. Morgan explained the advance of the American Medical association from its inauspicious rural beginning to its present highly organized system.

Yell King Pesek Announces Rules Regarding Card Stunts

In order that there will be a successful card section for the game against the Jayhawks Saturday, Yell King Martin Pesek has announced the rules to be observed by those sitting in the card section.

(1). Cards should be in proper order and ready to flash as soon as the first half ends, since the flashes are prepared to coincide with the band formations.

(2). No one should leave their seats in the card section after ten minutes of the second quarter have been played.

(3). If there are empty seats, all persons should move toward the center of the card section so that only the edges have to be filled. This will make it easier to fill vacant seats.

(4). Cards should be held with the long side horizontal and the short side vertical.

(5). Signal for raising the cards will be the chant: "One, two, three, UP!" The same signal will be used for lowering: "One two, three, down."

(6). Since paper cannot be obtained as in pre-war years, students are asked not to destroy their cards. Later in the game, they will be passed to the aisles. Corn Cobs will collect them so they may be re-used at later home games.

The original order of the stunts has been changed, and beginning with No. 5, numbers 4 and 3 will follow. Stunts No. 1 and 2 will not be used. Arrangements has been made for two Corn Cobs to hold small replicas of the stunts in front of the card section so that students can see what the cards will form.

After the band has marched on to the field and played the "Star Spangled Banner," Pesek will announce the 172nd birthday of the U. S. Marine Corps. The band will then play the Marine hymn. Everyone is requested to join in the singing of the hymn.
