Engineer Week Rodeo Competition Soars; Slate Features Parade to Highlight Fair

Engineer's Week will begin Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at which time all students, faculty, and public may attend Open House. The Open House, feature of the two-day annual event will allow all interested persons to view the engineering laboratories, special displays, lectures, demonstrations, films, and other exhibits that have been prepared for the occasion.

Convo in Union

Engineer Week activities also include a convocation with one of the nations top men in chemistry, Francis Curtis, as guest speaker. Students will adjourn to Pioneer Park following the convocation for the annual field day and picnic.

There will be a banquet that evening. Awards will be presented to the winners of the various games to be played at the afternoon picnic.

Banquet Concludes

Displays have been arranged by the architectural, civil, chemical, and electrical engineers.

Among many of the displays open for inspection will be the equipment used by the Naval Science classes in the newly built armory.

The banquet in the Union at 7:30 p.m. Friday will end the '48 edition of Engineer's Week.

YM to Show Film 'Life Dances On'

The last of a series of foreign films sponsored this year by the University YMCA, "Un Carnet De Bal," will be shown in Love Library Auditorium at 8:00 p.m., April 30 and May 1.

This film, whose English subtitle is "Life Dances On," has won several film awards, and has been acclaimed by such magazines as Time, The Nation, and New Republic. It was directed by Julien Duviver, and stars Raimu, Harry Bauer, Lois Jovet and Pierre Blanchard.

Admission is fifty cents. Tickets may be obtained from any YM or YW member, and at offices in the student Union, Ellen Smith hall, and the Temple building.

By Merle Stalder

With the date of the Farmers' Fair rodeo less than a week away, the rodeo hands who plan to compete in the various events have been practicing in the newly constructed arena with their roping and cutting horses.

Some bucking stock has been available for use by mpp entered in the bronc and steer riding contests. Several student owned horses were brought in during the weekend and more will arrive the latter part of the week.

Plans are completed for a Farmers' Fair parade to begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 1. The parade will leave Ag campus, pass thru the city campus, proceed down O street and return to Ag. The University Pep band, which is to furnish music for the rodeo, will be included in the parade as well as all rodeo contestants and a number of floats.

Competitions Listed

The list of competitive events for the rodeo include the following: bareback bronc riding, steer riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding and a cutting horse contest. All of these events will be run off in 2 or 3 sections, except the cutting horse contest which will climax the program.

The cutting horse contest is a newcomer to the Farmers' Fair rodeo and has been added to rodeo and horse show program thruout the midwest only in recent years. Most of the horses entered in this event come from the sandhills region and require considerable training for proficiency.

Women Chase Cows

Interest in the Coed Calf Catching contest has soared as the date for the rodeo draws near. Entries of teams have been pouring in and competition is expected to be spirited. The program will be complete with songs by a cowboy quartet and the antics of two rodeo clowns.

The rodeo will begin at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 1. Jack King, well known midwest rodeo and horse show announcer, will handle the verbal account of the rodeo and can be counted on to bring the audience some colorful bits of rodeo history. Bleachers with a capacity of 2,000 people are being put up along the south side of the arena.

Judges Are Old Hands

The judges are: Ab Burke of Lincoln, veteran horse show judge and owner of several prize winning stock horses; Frank Jones of Lincoln, big money winner in the Cheyenne rodeo of 1917; Fred Knorr of Lincoln, a well known horse show judge. Competition in all events is limited to regularly enrolled students; rodeo association rules will be followed by all contestants.

Prizes for the winners of the various events including the Coed Calf Catching contest will be on display in the Union beginning Tuesday, April 27 at the ticket booth. Tickets are fifty cents for adults and twenty five cents for children.
