

Commissions Available in Air Component

Individuals who formerly served in the World War II Air Force as officers or enlisted men, are eligible to be commissioned into the regular component of the Air Force, headquarters announced today.

Detailed information is available in Room 201 in the Armory

Those who are pursuing a post-graduate course in the following fields or who are obtaining a B.S. degree in June, are of particular interest to the Air Force: civil engineering, electricity, physics, meteorology, law, chemical engineering, electrical engineering, industrial and production engineering, metallurgy, physiology, psychology, and aeronautical engineering.

Applicants must have served in the Air Force since December 7, 1941. They must be under 27 years of age, or not more than the period of service over the age of 27. Their prior service record must indicate honorable and efficient service.

Prior officers selected will be returned to the permanent grade of Second Lieutenant, USAF, and in the temporary grade in the USAF corresponding to their grade held before separation from the service. Enlisted personnel selected will be returned to active duty in the permanent grade of Second Lieutenant, USAF.

This committee, headed by Ivan Liljgren, includes Sue Bjorkland, Keith Kegley, Neil Miller, Don Smith and Jim Lutz.

Sears Award Winners Invited To Banquet

All recipients of scholarships from the Sears Roebuck foundation are invited to a dinner to be given Tuesday, May 18, at the Cornhusker hotel, according to an announcement from Dean W. W. Burr of Ag college.

The dinner is sponsored annually by the Sears Roebuck foundation and the Lincoln Sears Roebuck store. A representative from the foundation will be present at the dinner and H. A. Schimm, manager of the Lincoln store, will be in charge of the dinner. Miss Margaret Fedde of the Home Economics department is also on the committee for the dinner.

Invitations will be sent out from the Dean's office this week. Any holders or recent winners of Sears Roebuck scholarships who do not receive invitations should check at the Dean's office to receive an invitation and have their names put on the list.

Acceptances for the dinner should be in the Dean's office by May 14. Over 100 students are now attending Ag college on Sears Roebuck grants.

Corn Experiment Given Additional $3,000 Donation

Gift of $3,000 from the Kellogg Co. to help develop a white hybrid seed corn for Nebraska to the University of Nebraska Foundation was announced Wednesday by Perry W. Branch, director-secretary.

The company has given the university $6,000 previously for this research project, which is under the direction of David McGill and John Lonnquist of the agriculture college agency department.

Since 1943 the project has developed several promising varieties. The research seeks a variety which will combine high yield, standability and early maturity for central Nebraska, principal white corn area in the state. White corn is used for cereals, sizing, paste and a number of other industrial products.
