Fielder Trio Program

Sonata No. 8 in D Major Leclair (1697-1764)

Adagio
Allegro
Sarabande

Leclair occupies a prominent place among the great classical masters. No imitator of the Italians, there is a distinct national French element in his gracious vivacious writing.

Premier Concert Rameau (1683-1764)

La Coulicam
La Livre
Le Vezinet

The father of Rameau was an organist but intended that Jean Philippe should be a magistrate. At the Jesuit College Rameau neglected his classical studies to such an extent that his parents were requested to remove him. A composer of real invention and originality, he enjoyed privileges accorded only to talent of the first rank. The movement of this concert are named for friends of his.

Sonata Da Camera Piene (1863-1927)

Prelude
Sarabande
Finale

Piene succeeded Cesar Franck as organist of St. Clotilde in 1890. He was holder of a Prix de Rome at the time Debussy was granted one. Known more for his light little pieces, "Serenade" and "Parade of the Tin Soldiers," Piene has written much chamber music. This work was sponsored by the Coolidge Foundation.

Eugene Goossens, member of a musical English family, was long the conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony. The past two years he has been in Australia. This impressionistic suite is self-explanatory.

Cradle Song (Wiedemann) Brahms
Etude (Opus 10, No. 3) Chopin
Dedication (Widmung) Schumann

A program is hardly complete without a composition by Brahms, Chopin, Schumann -- so great is their music, and so beloved by people of all nationalities. Who is not familiar with Brahms' Cradle Song? Dedication by Schumann is a favorite of every lover of German lieder.

About the Artists

Organized in its present form three years ago, the Fielder Trio played numerous engagements throughout the middle-west and south with increasing success and popularity. Twin brothers Arthur and Alex Fielder are cello and flute soloists with the Kansas City Philharmonic and Dallas Symphony, and have been playing trios since they started playing their respective instruments. After their discharge from the army, they secured the services of Miss Jean Wynn (who became Mrs. Arthur Fielder) and the trio was on its way, now a permanent organization.

Pictured above is a copy of the first Cornhusker Kernels Klub certificate issued in Nebraska. The Kernels Klub was initiated by Football Coach George "Patsy" Clark, with an eye to keeping everybody in Nebraska interested in Cornhusker football. "Signing them early," Clark will enroll in membership any male child born to a mother in Nebraska upon application. After only two months of activity, the Klub has already between 500 and 600 members. The certificates are signed by both Clark and Chancellor Gustavson. Application may be made by writing to the Nebraska athletic office. The first certificate issued—the one pictured above—went to Alex J. Cochrane, jr., son of Alex Cochrane, football end and N club president. Clark said the only factor that would keep a child from membership would be if it were a girl!

Oklahoma Gets German Diesel Research Lab

STILLWATER, Okla. (I.P.). A fully-equipped German Diesel engine research laboratory, valued at more than one million dollars, will shortly be transplanted to the campus of Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College. Location of the former Klockner-Humboldt-Deutz laboratory here will provide this institution with one of the two largest Diesel engine research centers in the United States. With allocation of the laboratory, President Harry G. Bennett of Oklahoma A. & M. announced establishment of the Oklahoma Institute of Technology, replacing the Division of Engineering of the College. Currently, Pennsylvania State College maintains the country's largest Diesel engine research center. The KHD laboratory, formerly located at Oberursel, Germany,

Healthier Habits Needed at Finals

DENTON, Tex. (ACP). A study (made by a faculty-student health committee of the Texas State college for women) finds a marked need for better study habits and health practices before and during final examinations. As a result of the findings it was proposed that teachers give one period to discuss study habits and that teachers give thorough reviews in their courses.

In the study, some of the more frequently practiced bad habits were studying for long periods of time without adequate rest, wasting time by visiting, studying inefficiently in groups, using stimulants, smoking to excess, neglecting to eat a well-balanced diet and failing to obtain the needed eight or nine hours of sleep each night.

In proposing the thorough review in classes, the committee felt that the pressure of over-anxiety to maintain a high average in a course would be relieved. Also it would help the students who are frightened by the strong emphasis placed on the importance of examinations.

DEADLINES.
Any organizations who wish to submit articles or announcements to The Daily Nebraskan should turn them in by Wednesday for the Friday issue and by Saturday morning for the Tuesday issue.
