College Columnist Tests Tips On Dance Cutting-in-System

(A columnist of the College Heights Herald gives tips on dance etiquette.)

"There's a few important rules about the cutting-in-system that everyone should know. Never cut in again the minute the girl has been snatched from you. Dance with someone else first.

"Don't argue if someone cuts in on you. Let the girl go for the minute. You can cut back later.

"Don't push, shove, grab, or deliver a knockout blow when cutting in. A tap on the shoulder, a smile, or 'please, May I' is enough of a signal.

"At a public dance or one where girls may be unescorted, there are also several rules to remember. Be careful to see if a girl came with an escort before asking her to dance. If she didn't it is perfectly proper to introduce yourself and ask for a dance. But if she did, you should ask the escort to introduce you to her. After you've danced with an unescorted girl, you may take her back to the place you found her, thank her for the dance, and excuse yourself. Don't ever leave her standing in the middle of the floor.

"Don't try to force a name or address out of a girl. If she is unescorted and you'd like to take her home, you can tell her so, but chances are you won't make first base by trying to command the situation.

"Here's one sure tip. Don't try to keep up a steady stream of conversation while you dance. You don't have to talk at all. Act as though you were so entranced with the girl, the music and the movement that words fail you. Your dancing will be better, too. "Never carry a lighted cigarette on the dance floor and don't smoke in the dance hall unless it seems to be the general practice, and even then, it's a questionable social practice.

"Loud talking, boisterous laughter and kiddish cutting-up are out of place at any dance. Very frequently rowdy actions reflect on all of your associates, your family and your organization. Make a good impression on people—don't be a roughneck."

China, Burma, India Veterans Slate Reunion

China-Burma-India Veterans of World War II will hold their first national reunion at the Wisconsin Hotel in Milwaukee on August 27, 28 and 29, at the invitation of the Wisconsin China-Burma-India Club.

The three day parley will enable CBI servicemen to renew many old acquaintances and participate in the establishment of a national Veterans of the CBI organization. A fun program has also been arranged.

Brig. Gen. W. Fritz Briedster, of Wisconsin, a former CBI commander will be one of the convention speakers. Other notables familiar with the history of the CBI theater are expected to be on hand. Representatives of other CBI clubs will also attend.

The reunion will get under way on Friday August 27, with a party at the new and beautiful Blatz Brewery, a general reunion and open house. Business sessions will compose part of Saturday's program. The convention banquet will also be held on this day.

Sunday, August 29, will be known as China Burma India Day at the Wisconsin Centennial Celebration and the group will attend festivities at the state's birthday celebration.

A special program for the wives and sweethearts of CBI veterans will also be arranged for the three days.

Further information regarding the convention and reservations may be had by contacting Attorney Lester P. Dencker, state club president, 616 W. Michigan St., Milwaukee.
