As I Was Saying...

BY VAN WESTOVER.

Some fall in, others fall out, the little cogs are getting in gear, the big wheels are turning, Homecoming is upon us, and with all ingredients thrown together, no one can keep his life a secret and might just as well put it down on a table like an open book.

Going all out for a big "welcome grad" week-end are the Cobs and Tassels who are importing Elliott Lawrence and his boys for the Homecoming dance on Saturday night. Speaking of importations, Virgie Adle is dragging Joy Soper all the way from Boulder for the hop and reports that he is even going so far as to shave for the occasion. Bob Birdsall is caught with two dates on his hands for that night and can't decide whether he should drop Mildred Kenney or Jane Bridgeman. Bruce Perrine will squire Burdette Pecha if he can remember what her first name is long enough to get her there. Among others to be seen together will be M. A. Dosek and Frank Piccolo, Jo Lisher and Bob Swaim, and Cherie I'Vele and Bill Mickle.

News from the dating front brings in the name of Dean Killian who is broken hearted because Jean Leisy refuses to go out with him any more. Now on the rebound, Dean is pouring out his boyish heart to Joan Fickling as he dates her and tells her all about Jean.

If you should see two girls, each with pistol in hand, walking 20 paces apart and ready to draw,

Honorary Colonel Candidates Honored at ROTC Reception

The Cadet Officer's association was host to the six Honorary Colonel candidates at a reception in the Union Wednesday night. The finalists are Lois Gillett, Beryl Letspeich, Sherry Swanson, Jackie Wightman, Phyllis Harris and Betty Aasen.

After the tea, the cadet officers selected the 1948 Honorary Colonel who will reign at the annual Military Ball, Dec. 3. Her identity will remain a secret until her presentation at the dance.

The selection of the Honorary Colonel is sponsored annually by the Cadet Officers association. At her presentation at the Military Ball, the Honorary Colonel will wear a costume designed by the winner of the contest which was opened for this purpose. The contest is the first of its kind ever to be staged at the University. All entries must be in by Friday, Oct. 29. They should be sent to room 108, Military Science.

The 1948 Honorary Colonel will be the sponsor of the ROTC for the remainder of the school year and will take part in some of its activities. Last year's Honorary Colonel was June Gast.

Latest results from what was once a thriving organization known as the Derby Club is the break-up between Joyce Buck and George Randol, and the turning of Joyce's attentions to Bob Carlson.

Gardner Johnson is seriously considering going steady with Marilyn Clark (that is, when her folks approve of the arrangement).

The outcome of a beautiful whirl-wind summer romance in scenic Colorado is Pepper Bruce's big move from Texas to Nebraska to be closer to Jo Weatherbee. Mighty chilly out there in the cold, isn't it, Al?

Lucky Jack Meehan will personally measure each honorary colonel candidate for the costume to be worn by "her nibs" at the Military Ball. By the way, remember that the deadline on entries in the costume contest is tomorrow.

Chapter 1 of The Saddest Story You've Ever Heard. Everything was going along great in the life of Knave Bruce Beach. He was really going to town in an attempt to win Princess Mary Jane Lamb all for his very own. Lo and behold! A big, black cloud is blotting out the sunshine, and all is gloomy in the world as villainous Sir Gordon Gealy prepares to enter the scene on his white charger. Continued next week when Chapter 2 will be brought to you.

Formal reception were cadets Lt. Col. Meehan, Lt. Col. Batten, Col. John, PSM&T; Capt. Kelly, faculty adviser for the Military Ball, and Dean Johnston. Also in the receiving line were the six Honorary Colonel finalists and their escorts, Lt. Dolan, Capt. Turner, Lt. Bruce Cunningham, Lt. Porchy, Lt. Zierzan and Major Hanson.

Scoop Haunted by Spirit Ghost On Eve of Homecoming Game

The lonely reporter worked late at night, pounding out a story in the deserted Rag office.

A ghostlike half-visible figure drifted in the doorway and glided toward the reporter. As it came closer it laid a clammy hand on the reporter's shoulder.

"I am School Spirit," cried the apparition.

Scoop, the reporter turned around. Scoop was terrified. His hair did an Orphan Annie. His teeth chattered like castanets doing time to the 12th Street Rag.

"School spirit?", chattered Scoop.

"Yes, I am a ghost. I died long ago. I have come to haunt those who once knew me when I was alive."

"I have never seen you before," said Scoop.

"Yes you have. You can sometimes hear me in a school yell. Sometimes there are mediums who try to call me back from the dead. They wear red sweaters with a white "N" on them and they hold mass seances. But they cannot call me back."

"Why," came Scoop's eloquent question.

"A mass seance is no good unless every one joins hands and spirits, and I have seen no show of hands at the Great Games."

"Perhaps there is too wide a gap between student sections in the great games to permit a joining of the hands," was Scoop's subtle comment.

"I must leave now," cried the ghost, they are calling for me in Kansas. With a snap of his fingers the ghost had left.

Scoop seemed to wake up out of a dream. Was it all a dream to him? The whole thing seemed too realistic.
