

Fashion Plate

By Carolyn Bukacek

BY CAROLYN BUKACEK.
 "What to wear?" is a problem that looms large to the girl with scarcely 48 hours until the Homecoming Dance. There are, however, a few bright souls who, with foresight, have already made the big decision. Shirley Hahn, for example, has decided on a royal blue crepe dress. It is buttoned down the back to the waist and boasts several unpressed pleats, also in the back. The front is unusually dramatic with the lines of the dress being broken only by the long pointed collar. Knitting at its best can produce marvelous results. And it is at its best in a rust knit dress worn by Fran Copsey. The two-piece outfit features a snugly belted waist and lacey sleeves.

 Leading the daisy chain is Georgia Hilker in a navy blue crepe dress featuring said flowers. The bodice is softly draped and features a "V" neckline.
 Jane Bridgeman is quite the smoothie in a suit of fine pin-checked menswear. The grey and white outfit is highly noteworthy for its straight lines and expert tailoring.
 The other side of the picture, the casual look, can never be overlooked. Especially when peppy Susie Pecha can be seen in a brilliant plaid shirt-jacket buttoned in gold.
 One would readily conclude that pink looks well on blondes when he has seen Nancy Davis in her short-sleeved angora slip-on. By the same logic, cheers would be in order for any brunette in an aqua cardigan. Witness Nancy Glynn.

Nat'l CSF Prexy To Speak Sunday

Rhodes Thompson, Jr., national president of the Christian Student Fellowship, will speak at the Ag Interdenominational Youth Fellowship Sunday evening, Oct. 31. A junior at Texas Christian university, Thompson will report on student activity and service in the rehabilitation of the countries of Europe.

 The Ag Interdenominational Youth Fellowship meets every Sunday at 5:30 p. m. They meet in the First Evangelical United Brethren church on the corner of 33rd and Starr.
 thing Carol Erickson demurely enters the classroom in a puritan grey corduroy skirt, widely flaring and featuring a self cummerbund. Above this she wears a grey chambray shirtwaist boasting white pique cuffs.
 Nancy Noble is as colorful as the autumn foliage in a plaid wool jumper and white, long-sleeved blouse. Fran Hanson likes the swing of a bright blue skirt beneath a soft grey coat.
 That seems to cover the clothing situation pretty well to date. Especially since the Tassels started their contest to see who could wear out their red skirts and white sweaters fastest.

Delians Schedule "Screwball Party"

A Hallowe'en "Screwball Party," sponsored by the Delian Union, will be given for all independent students in room 303, Temple building, Friday, Oct. 29, at 8 p. m. "Screwball" prizes will be given to the most original "screwy" character. On the program of entertainment will be dancing, apple bobbing, and various pranks.

Denver U to Stage College Air Meet

The Pioneer Wings of the University of Denver are holding an air meet for college pilots Saturday, Oct. 30, at Sky Ranch Airport in Denver, according to word received yesterday by Paul Keller, president of the University's Flying Kernels.
 Beside flying competition the meet will include a trip to the mountains, a banquet and a dance. Any pilot interested in attending should call Keller at 5-5547 immediately for reservations
