NU Squad Favored in K-State Tilt

Coach Potsy Clark's Husker eleven were being slated as 20 point favorites against an equally downtrodden Kansas State squad. The injury riddled Nebraska squad did not seem disheartened by its 27-15 defeat suffered at the hands of UCLA. Both Potsy Clark and Ralph Graham will be handicapped by loss of top players. Graham has been forced to shift two backs to his forward wall. The Wildcat mentor has also indicated he would use Harold Nebius at right half instead of left.

Three Men Out

Clark has three players who will probably see little or no action against K-State Saturday afternoon. Kenny Fischer, who sprained his ankle in Tuesday evening's scrimmage, will probably miss this weekend's tilt. Brother Cletus may also miss the game Saturday. His leg injury has not shown the rapid improvement that was indicated earlier. Tom "Trainwreck" Novak has been working out without pads all week and it is doubtful whether he will start.

Nebraska players who may start Saturday are Howard Fletcher and Bob Schneider at the ends and Fred Golan, Jim Godfrey combination playing tackle.

DiBiase May Start

Big Mike DiBiase may be back at one of the starting guard positions replacing Darwin Salestrom. Ardie Means is slated for the other guard but may give way to Fred Hawkins who has been fighting for the slot the past week. Bobby Costello will probably get the nod at center. Tom Novak is still having troubles and the big Omaha center may view the game from the bench.

The starting backfield is likely to be the same as started against UCLA last week with Junior Colopy at blocking back; Del Wiegand at left half; Bill Mueller, right half; and Phil Young, fullback.

Don Strasheim, Gerald Ferguson, Dick Hutton and Gerry Moore could be an alternate starting backfield.

Kansas State will depend on the passing of Dana Atkins to carry them to a victory. Wildcat Coach Ralph Graham is well aware of the weak Cornhusker pass defense.

Potsy Clark is also aware of the squad's thin air defense and has indicated that the team will pour it on in an effort to outscore the K-Staters.

Missouri and OU Primed for Vital Contest Saturday

Coach Don Faurot's Missouri Tigers and Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners tangle at Norman this Saturday in one of the top grid games of the year.

Neither team has suffered a setback since their opening games. Oklahoma bowed to Santa Clara in their season opener and Ohio State smacked Mizzou to ruin the Tigers' debut.

High spots on Oklahoma's record so far are the three victories over Texas U., Texas Christian and Texas A. & M. Missouri hit their peak with a 20-14 upset win over SMU and have romped over Navy, Kansas State, Iowa State, and St. Louis by comfortable margins.

The Sooners have held the upper hand in their duels with the Tigers since Faurot has been at the Missouri school. Oklahoma has whipped Faurot eight times, tied him once and have dropped three decisions.

Both teams feature top-notch offensive fireworks. Coach Wilkinson will be using the "split-T" which was developed by Faurot during his reign as coach of the Iowa Seahawks in 1943.

Campus Capers

BY JANET STRATTON

One of the more important sports clubs connected with W. A. A. is Orchesis, a club for those girls interested in modern dance.

Orchesis has been on the campus for twenty-three years and has grown steadily during that time. Early in October, tryouts were held for the organization. 106 girls tried out. Amy Jo Bergh, president, has announced the names of those girls taken into Pre-Orchesis, junior dance group, and into Orchesis itself. The girls were selected upon the basis of their skill, style, interpretation and originality, and grace.

Those taken into Pre-Orchesis are: Lois Clark, Eleda Starch, Cherrie Ann Bengston, Carolyn Proksp, Toni Fleming, Nancy Licher, Sherril Von Bergen, Bette Booth, June Hornby, Marjorie Reeves, Bev. Thompson, Mary Sue Holland, Jean Saling, Jeanette Armstrong.

Sharon Fritzer, Marge Arendt, Anne Whitam, Ann Crawford, Mary Hischer, Ardy Tilly, Shirley Sidles, Diane Thomas, Joen Williams, Joan Swan, Jackie Hoss, Winnie Davidson, and Beverly Wood.

Those girls taken into Orchesis are: Marilyn Bergh, Vera Doerschner, Pat Holderman, Pat King, Mary Jane Louik, Kay Moore, Dorothy Lathrop, and Adele Muliken. The club, under the direction of Dr. Eileen Lochart, is now preparing its annual Christmas program, and plans to entertain Lincoln business groups.

Weight lifters may still enter the all-campus physique and weight lifting contest. See Bob Higgins in the body conditioning room in the Coliseum or call 3-5126 evenings. All students are eligible to compete in the contest.

Council . . .

Change Affects Profit Little

Council President Dale Ball pointed out that the change in ticket prices asked by the Council will not affect the profit made on the dance more than $5.00. This figure was based on the budget turned in by the Cadet association and the changes that this reduction would necessitate.

Ticket sales for the Military Ball were stopped today so the Council and the Cadet association could reach an agreement about ticket prices.

According to the constitution of the Student Council it has the authority to advise student organizations and if this advice is not carried out they may take away the organization's constitution. Appeal may be made by the organization to the Council judiciary committee and then to the Faculty Senate if it does not feel that the Council is justified in their action.
