

Students Elect Class Presidents

Daily
Nebraskan

Vol. 49—No. 47 Lincoln 8, Nebraska, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 1948

Theatre to Stage O'Neill Tragedy

Wednesday evening at 8 p. m., Eugene O'Neill moves into the Temple Theatre for a four-performance visit. "Beyond the Horizon," prize-winning tragedy, will play to audiences through Saturday night. Max Whittaker handles director's chores.

One of the reasons for the drama's complexity is the problem that is presented by the need for set-agins, especially in the farm-house scenes.

Stated Technical Director, Robert Black, "A contrast must be shown between prosperity and poverty. We have handled this by changing many items; the white tablecloth becomes soiled oilcloth, the once neat curtains appear bedraggled, the previously straight pictures on the wall are tilted, and the lightning in general is transferred from warmth to coldness."

Aside from the above, other contrasts are presented in "Beyond the Horizon" termed by critics, "a play of stirring characterizations," the drama encompasses a set of powerfully-engraved character contrasts.

McCullough Main Character.
Events revolve around Robert Mayo, portrayed by Eddie McCullough. In McCullough's words, "Robert is a very impractical dreamer who has dreams to travel. However, love enters and overshadows his dreams."

His brother Andy, on the other hand, played by Jack Norman, is a direct opposite. Stated Norman, "In the play, I represent the direct opposite of Robert. I can't see his idealistic nature and he can't understand my realistic views. Yet, through all these differences, a strong fraternal bond links us together."

Jane MacCuaig, on portraying Ruth Atkins, the 90 degree angle in the drama's eternal triangle, commented, "I play a shallow unsympathetic, jealous girl, caught in the web of circumstance."

Director Whittaker has stated

Student Artists Present Guild Display Work

Nebraska's art students and faculty members were well represented at the Lincoln Artists' Guild All-Nebraska Show in Morrill Hall which ended Nov. 14.

Of the 107 pictures on display, 21 were by University of Nebraska students and 20 by art department faculty members. All entries were limited to Nebraskans or former Nebraskans.

Dwight Kirsch, head of the art department, announced that three purchases were made as a result of the show. Purchases include "Insect Atomy," an oil by LeRoy K. Burkett of the art department faculty; "Bird Keepers," a drawing by Burkett; and "Bass Rocks," a water color by Dr. F. K. Richter of Chicago.

"Insect Atomy" and "Bass Rocks," purchased by the Nebraska Art Association, will remain on display in Morrill Hall; while "Insect Atomy," purchased by the Lincoln Artists' Guild, will be loaned out for display in the state.

Faculty members whose work was on display are Jim Blackman, LeRoy K. Burkett, Kady B. Faulkner, Dwight Kirsch, Elizabeth Lamb Quinton, Mrs. Kay Nash, and Hal Wilmeth.

Students who participated in show are Kathryn Cople, Roger L. Crossgrove, Donald C. Ellis, Robert Hansen, Wyonna Crossgrove, John Kirsch, Robert Lee, Rae Alvord Lugn, Rolland Mills and Ruth O. Rosekrans.

that "if there is a villain in the play it is Ruth."

Rest of Cast Listed.

Elaine Lamphear and Don Nicholls take the respective roles of the brothers' mother and father. Mrs. Mayo is sympathetic toward the dreamer Robert, while Mr. Mayo, practical farmer to the end, leans toward his younger counterpart Andy.

Others in the cast are Clare Denton as the "wiry old mariner of the sea," Captain Dick, Janice Crilly as Mrs. Atkins, Jack Anthony as Ben, and Dewey Ganzell as Dr. Fawcett.

Tickets for "Beyond the Horizon" are on sale at the Temple Theatre office.

CROP Director Will Address Vespers Group

Christian Rural Overseas Program director for Nebraska, Dwight Dell, will speak at Vespers Thursday, Nov. 18. He will present the Christian meaning of world relief under the title, "The Bread of Life."

The state head of the Christian Rural Overseas program is a former director of social action in the

Dwight Dell

Church of the Brethren and a special observer of the United Nations on problems of world relief.

Drive Sends Food to Europe

The CROP campaign started in the state Nov. 8, marking the third Goodwill train drive in Nebraska to send food and material to peoples of Europe and Asia. The train will leave Dec. 10 for New Orleans where it will be unloaded into ships.

CROP was begun after the success of Drew Pearson's Freedom train. It is sponsored by Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief. Distribution in foreign countries is handled jointly by the three groups to minimize administrative expenses.

Sections to Go to New Orleans

From Nebraska three sections of the Goodwill train will be sent to New Orleans. These foodstuffs from Nebraska farmers will be sent to foreign countries.

Reports from the state indicate a good possibility that this year's train will equal the 110 carload total attained by the Abraham Lincoln Friendship train, Dell reported. He pointed out that 75,000 volunteer workers are now covering rural areas in 18 other states for contributions to trains similar to Nebraska's.

Two Nebraska communities, Steinauer and Columbus, have erected temporary corn cribs to house contributions to the train, he added.

Student Council

Filings for Student Council senior-at-large to fill the vacancy left by Nancy Gish will be open in Dean Harper's office until Thursday. A 75 average is required of persons who wish to file.

Booths Open at 9 in Union; Only Juniors, Seniors Vote

Election of junior and senior class presidents will take place today in the Union.

Jack Selzer, Student Council elections chairman, announced that voting booths will open at 9 a.m. and will close promptly at 5 p.m. Regularly enrolled juniors and seniors in the University are the only students eligible to vote in the election.

Candidates Listed

By presenting their ID cards, students can vote for the following class president candidates: Junior, Marian Battey, Carl J. Froendt, William Mueller, and Bill Mundell; Senior, Fritz Hegwood, Barbara Turk, and Norman Walker.

Miss Battey, Arts and Sciences, is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and a member of Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honorary, and Student Foundation. Froendt was a recent delegate to the ISA regional conference. He is a member of Delta Theta Phi, law fraternity, and a Law College junior.

Mueller is a member of the varsity football team, N-Club, Student Council, and Sigma Chi fraternity. He is a Bus Ad student, Mundell, an Arts and Sciences junior, is a resident of the men's residence halls.

Senior Activities Told

Hegwood, senior president candidate, is a member of varsity baseball, N-Club, and Phi Gamma Delta. He is a Bus Ad student. Miss Turk, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, is an Ag senior. She is a Past Student Foundation board member and AUF worker. Walker is an Arts and Sciences senior, and a member of Uni-Vets and a past member of Persians.

The class officer's principal task is to plant young ivy shoots in a traditional ceremony on Ivy Day.

Last year's class officers were Glen Blinde, senior, and Jerry Johnston, junior.

'Screen Tours' Will Present Wildlife Film

"From Coast to Crest" will be the second in a series of Audubon Screen tours shown in the Love Memorial Library auditorium Nov. 17, at 8 p. m. The all-color film is a lecture by Alexander Sprunt, Jr., combining bird and scenic photography.

Alexander Sprunt

Sprunt has been active in field investigations for the National Audubon Society since 1934. His main interests have been wildlife and the problems of conservation. The films he uses have been taken by some of the country's foremost natural science photographers.

Beginning on the Gulf Coast of Texas, the film pictures such rare birds as the snowy egrets and oyster-catchers as they live a protected life in a natural habitat. From Texas the film journey is inland to the Navajos in Arizona. Here desert flowers and snow-capped mountains make a background for the life of the Navajos and their sheep.

Through the Grand Canyon, Colorado's Mesa Verde, and Wyoming's Grand Tetons the trip continues from "Coast to Crest" and ends at Yellowstone National park.

The Audubon Screen tours are sponsored by the University Extension Division and the State Museum. They are offered in the interest of wildlife protection, wise use of natural resources and conservation education. Tickets are priced at 60 cents and may be obtained at the Bureau of Audio-Visual Instruction, Extension Division.

Pocket Size Student Directory Offers Complete Name List

The Student Directory, only complete list of university students and faculty members, is nearing completion. Peggy Lawrie, editor of the book published annually by the Student Foundation, announced that it will probably be ready for sale in two or three weeks.

The Directory contains all names, addresses, phone numbers, classifications, and home towns of all regularly enrolled students in the University. It tells names, positions, offices, addresses, and phone numbers of all faculty members.

The Directory also gives information on all student houses, religious groups, and clubs on the campus. All building telephone numbers are also included in the pocket-size publication.

Local advertising supports the printing of the book so that the Foundation may sell the Directory at 50c a copy.

Members of the Student Foundation have been working the past few weeks in the Foundation office, 308 Union, on the student and faculty lists. Workers are urged to help in proofreading any weekday afternoon, said Miss Lawrie.

Business manager of the Directory is Audrey Flood. Editorial assistants have been Nancy Porter and Gloria Pinney.

Community Leaders Meet To Discuss United Nations

To learn how to interest their local areas in the United Nations and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, more than 100 leaders from various Nebraska communities are meeting on the Nebraska campus this week, Nov. 15 to 17.

The intensive three-day meeting is believed to be the first of its kind anywhere. It may serve as a national pattern for linking public interest with the United Nations, UNESCO and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Discussions Presented

The representatives from the Nebraska communities are participating in discussions, and leaders in the educational field in 15 surrounding states are attending the meetings. All sessions are open to the students and to the general public.

Chancellor Gustavson presided at the first general session Monday at Love library auditorium. The topic was, "The U.N. In Its World Setting."

Gives Opening Address

Walter Harris, New Zealand expert on U.N. education who appeared on Nebraska's U.N. educational course last summer, returned to the campus from Lake Success, N.Y., to give the opening address.

The second general session Monday evening was addressed by Roger Albright, director of education for the Motion Picture Association of America, from Washington, D.C. He presented ways in which movies can bring the story of the United Nations to localities.

Other Speakers Listed

Other speakers who will participate in the conference are: Moose Salisbury, Washington, director of public and technical information for the U.S. Atomic

Phalanx Pledges 23 New Members

Phalanx, military fraternity, held a meeting Tuesday, Nov. 9, in the Armory at which time new members were formally pledged. This year marks the second year of the reactivation of Phalanx on the campus.

The pledges are William Abts, Harlan G. Beideck, Floyd Cardinal, Harry Carpenter, John Connelly, D. A. Dutton, Sheldon J. Harris, J. P. Holman, Tom J. Irwin, L. P. Johnson, Palmer Johnson, Vincent Kamrath, Ralph Koch, Milton Maisel, R. C. Rogers, Marvin Sabotka, Howard Schneider, D. C. Smith, Robert Swanson, W. W. Wilkins, Charles R. Wilscom, Jim Woodard and Joe Youssen.

Energy Commission, Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., Love library.

Brian Meridith, Lake Success, specialist in U.N. radio broadcasts, Tuesday, 9 a. m., Love library.

Dorothy Lewis, New York, coordinator of women's broadcasts for the U.N., Tuesday, 10:30 a. m., Love library.

Etsel Pearcey, Kansas City, Mo., geographer for the Trans-World Airlines, Tuesday noon luncheon, Union ballroom.

George L. Clasheen, Washington, assistant director for educational services, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Wednesday, 9 a. m., Capitol.

Groups May Have Free Radio Spots

Does your organization want radio publicity?

Members of the promotion department of the university radio department are preparing for the obvious response to this question by offering campus groups spot statements throughout their regularly scheduled shows.

Geneve Mitchell, in a letter to all university departments and organizations, announced that requests for spots will be considered every Wednesday at 3 o'clock in Temple 27.

Groups desiring radio publicity for coming events sponsored by their organization can also contact Lydia Nekuda, 2-6965, or Miss Mitchell, 2-7875. They also can appear in person at the Wednesday meeting or write to the Radio Studio Promotion department, Temple 3.

Miss Mitchell pointed out that radio promotion has already carried spots on the Student Directory, the Mortar Board Ball, the Military Ball and other campus projects and events.

Cornhusker

The following organizations are scheduled for individual pictures at Warner-Medlin Studios this week, Nov. 15-19:

Evenings

Phi Gamma Delta
Phi Delta Theta
Phi Kappa Psi

Mornings

Acacia
Amikita
Kernels
Rundle Hall

The following organizations are scheduled for individual pictures next week, Nov. 22-24:

Morning and Evening
Sigma Alpha Mu
Sigma Delta Tau
Theta Xi