Latest Destruction . . .

Some people never realize it when they have a good thing.

The Crib in the Union was entirely redecorated for this year—new murals, new booths with new upholstery. The redecoration was badly needed and most students appreciate it.

However, there are always those few destrurtive souls who feel that they must put their mark everywhere. These same individuals carve up desks, chairs and walls all over the campus.

The latest destructive escapade has taken place in the Crib. A survey of booths in the Crib show that someone has quite systematically and deliberately made slashes in the upholstery on the booths. The marks are made in the seats and backs of the booths. Also, the piping of the upholstery has been cut off in small sections in several of the booths.

There is no need to go any further in saying that there is absolutely no excuse for such destruction.

Campus News In Brief

A joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W., Tuesday night on the Ag campus at 7:30 will feature a series of colored slides illustrating the rapid modernization, which has been taking place in Turkey the past 25 years.

A rug, some Turkish jewelry and trinkets will be on display.

Persons interested in studying the "Faith of the Episcopal Church" are invited to attend the Inquirers Class, each Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Canterbury club room of the University Episcopal Church. The Rt. Rev. Howard R. Brinker will be guest of honor at a Canterbury Club luncheon Thursday noon. Tickets are available in the Club room until Wednesday noon for 40 cents.

Pi Mu Epsilon will meet Nov. 16 at 7:30 p. m. in Room 209 Burnett hall.

There will be a Phalanx pledge meeting Tuesday night at 7 p. m. in the Armory.

Union Dance committee will meet in room 316 at 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Schinn to Speak At Ag YM-YW

Miss Ruth Shinn, YWCA director, will speak to a joint meeting of the Ag Campus YM and YW Tuesday evening about her experiences in Turkey. The meeting will be held in the Home Ec parlors at 7:30.

Arriving in this country this fall after teaching three years in Turkey, Miss Shinn is head of the university YWCA. Her talk will be highlighted by slides and pictures of Europe and the Near East.

Singing and a short entertainment preceding the meeting will be led by Truman Bachenberg and Mavis Musgrave.

The Ag YMCA and YWCA Cabinets will meet prior to the evening meeting at 5 p. m. in the Ag Union.

Union-Alls By Lee Best

Sadie Hawkins day is over, with a large number of elated females and a corresponding number of deflated males. The Union party was really full of highlights and sidelines which bear a post mortem number of orchids and onions (to borrow from Melick).

The prize union of the evening was the wolf-gal who chased her L'il Abner into the door marked "Gents." Witness, Janitor Johnny, swears the red face could be seen in Kansas City.

No sideline at the party were the decorations created by the Dance committee. The most popular spot of the evening was the "Shmoo Inn", where Kickapoo Joy Juice and Mountain Dew were in great demand. Costume prize winners Shirley Ruff as Daisy Mae and Bob Braden as L'il Abner won tickets for cash value in the Crib.

The actual race might not have been exactly as Al Capp planned it, but it was certainly good for "kicks!" The gals had to carry the fellas' feet, while they ran the length of the ballroom on their hands. Fastest team, Shirley Ruff and Buck Buchanan, say its because Buck has such big hands. That gallon of mountain dew prize really was welcome after this ordeal.

'Nuf said for Sadie Hawkins. Another big event of the month has been the checking out of pictures in the lending library. Three pictures remain of the collection, but Don Crowe, one of the borrowers, became so interested in the library that he made a cash donation for the purchase of additional Van Gogh prints. The initial donation for this purpose was made by the Kosmet Klub, and the Hobby committee would like to present the plan to some interested group for use as a permanent philanthropy.

Coming up this week: The big Dimitry Markevitch concert, with the University Symphony accompanying. Tickets are free, and a limited number are being checked

LETTERIP

Dear Editor,

The undersigned heads of organized houses wish to put themselves on record as protesting the excessive price of the Military Ball tickets. We feel that it is high time that some form of resistance be exerted against student organizations which charge such exhorbant amounts for traditional campus social events.

Therefore, we are urging all the members except cadet officers of our respective organizations NOT to attend the Military Ball.

AIRWAVES

"I am the creator of all moods . . . love, hate, joy, sadness.

"I am a ghost. I haunt you in your dreams. I remind you of warm lips, of the roar of sea against the rocks, or the gentle fall of leaves in the autumn air.

"I am here and then I am gone. I touch your hand. I whisper words into your ears that you shall never forget. You reach out for me but I am gone. I shall haunt you as long as you live.

"I am all these things and yet I am nothing . . .

"I am Music."

Probably the best collection of moods of love, hate, joy and sadness at the University is the library of music kept by the radio section in the little room off studio A in the basement of the Temple. There, over 3,000 records are filed. These are for use in any radio play that is produced in the Temple. The library boasts such names as Khachaturian, Stravinsky, Rossini, Brahms, and even unfamiliar ones . . . Ibert and Glazounoff. Head of the music library is Dorothy Butman. Music director is Jim Johnston and assistant directors are Barbara Rayburn and Shirley Sabin.

Today's Authors of the Ages production brings you the age-old and beautiful story of Ivanhoe by Sir Walter Scott. William Dempsey, director of the radio section of the speech department, has announced the largest cast ever used in a radio play. Playing the leads are Don Johannes as Prince John; Max Lee as Ivanhoe; Olive Gettman as Lady Rowena; Gaylord Marr as Brian De Bois; Bob Lundberg as Gurth; Dwight Smith as Wamba and Paul Harrington as Peter the Hermit.

The mood of the play will be set with music by Prokofiev. It will be a mood of "medievalness," the period of knighthood and fair ladies, in short embodying the romance of the dark ages. Music is sometimes used to replace difficult sound effects, encountered in plays. In Ivanhoe, to replace the sounds of battle in a tournament, music is used. Instead of the clash of battle-axe and lance and the ring-of armour . . . agitated music will be used. Yes, music certainly is the creator of moods.

out from the Union office or school of music.

Look forward to Holiday Happenings in the next two months. There are plenty of contests, programs and special entertainments, including Talent Bureau, Ping-Pong tourney, Dri-Nite Club, and an open house, to fit the season, so:

Come to the Union—It Suits!

Today's Farm Flashes On The Air program on KOLN at 4:30 p. m. will feature an on-the-spot interview at the Ag College, where Chuck Johnson and Charlie Dugdale will interview men at the internationally famous tractor-testing laboratory. The interview will be wire-recorded and played back.

A dramatized poem will be the theme of Thursday's Playwright's Matinee . . . The Pied Piper of Hamelin. It's the story of the man whose magic flute led away all the children and rats of Hamelin, because he did not receive payment for his efforts to rid the city of the rats. The play promises to be exceptionally good due to the manner in which it is written; there is a variety of voices and most of the lines are short and punchy. This makes for good radio reading.

Note: It's coming soon! It's called "simulated broadcast." The radio section is working on a plan which will call for the use of almost all the talent available in radio. Watch for it in the future.

Baseball Coach Tony Sharpe announced that a very important meeting will be held tonight for all freshmen interested in playing fresh baseball. The meeting will be held in the "N Club" Room in the Coliseum at 7:30.
