

News of the Country's Colleges

BY CHARLES MOORE

A look through our college newspaper file—just to see what the competition is doing—uncovered some of the following items. The University of Calif's ice hockey team is whipping into shape for its first game. Who they are going to find to play them is not the only problem. It seems that while the athletes cut up the ice, Calif. coeds cavort in shorts at rinkside.

Crews, rowing teams to my mning editor, are swinging into a tough schedule of fall practice. From Columbia to Seattle the campus sailors are whipping up a form. Why doesn't N. U. take up this sport? Salt Creek could easily be transformed to a beautiful waterway, and Charley Toogood would make a swell cox-wain.

An advertisement in the Harvard Crimson: "Come to Tony's place for good food and liquor. No questions asked." I don't know what more you could ask for.

a learned pastor give a seminar on marriage a few weeks ago. The Rector warned the Georgia boys not to accept the fallacy that, "the sexual act means no more than a drink of water." Fat Chance!

The Indiana Daily Student reports that police have uncovered a group of female nudists known as "The Sisters of the Naked Truth." What we want to know is—what was there for the cops to uncover?

And so it goes. Each campus paper telling the vivid story of its own school's contribution to American Education.

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, will hold its bi-weekly noonday luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, Nov. 24.
