Dean Issues New Parking System

Ag students owning or driving cars will come under a new set of parking regulations that will go into effect Monday, Dec. 6.

Dean W. V. Lambert met with two members of the Ag Exec board early this week to set up the parking system.

Student parking areas are located north of the Ag Union, east of the Animal Husbandry building, and north of the Ag Engineering building. Areas to be added are west of the Motor Truck lab and near the water tower. This extra space should provide room for nearly 150 additional cars. Faculty parking is west of Ag hall and east of the Plant Industry building.

There is to be no parking around the mall and no parking on the west side of the street running past the Union. Also parking will be forbidden on the street by the Dairy Industry building, and the street north of the Plant Industry building.

Beginning Monday, a campus officer will be on hand to enforce these laws. Signs will be erected to direct the parking. As explained by Dean Lambert, "We're doing this in the interest of students as well as for campus appearance. It will help greatly to prevent hazards now existing and will be a definite asset in beautifying the campus. Student co-operation will be primary in carrying out the program."

The program is similar to one which was carried out on the campus last year. With the additional parking space this year, the committee hopes there will be sufficient room for cars in parking lots without jeopardizing the safety of pedestrians and drivers.

FRIDAY! AMATEUR NITE!

We expected this...

YOUR TELEPHONE must take hard knocks as they come—and go on working.

To make sure it can, we test samples of each day's production and put telephones through the equivalent of years of service in a few hours or days. For example: we drop handsets into their cradles 22,000 times—equal to 4 years' normal use. And not just once, but from 16 different positions, we drop sample telephones from desk top height onto a hardwood surface. We even check their feet to be certain they won't scratch your table.

Here at Western Electric, we've been making Bell telephones since 1882. But telephones themselves are only about 6% of the equipment used in your service. The other 94% includes wire cable, switchboards, trucks, poles, tools, office equipment. With the exception of buildings, we make or supply almost everything Bell telephone people use—and test it with utmost care.

Guarding the quality of things used in your Bell telephone service is one way that Western Electric helps to make it the world's best.

Crop Judges Second at KC

Nebraska's crops judging team returned to competition with a rush during the past week, coping second place in the Kansas City meet and fourth place in the Chicago contest. The Tri-K team is the first to be sponsored from here since the beginning of the war.

Individually, the team placed sixth, seventh and eighth in the Kansas City meet. Don Smith, Jack Baird and Andrew Nelson finishing in that order. For their performance, the team members received silver medals, and the Ag college received a $50 scholarship which will be presented to an outstanding student majoring in agronomy.

At Chicago, Jack Baird ranked seventh high individual in the contest, as the team fell just seven points short of finishing in third place. The Nebraska squad won first place in identification.

The two contests were composed of identical divisions; commercial grading of grain, hay and cotton, judging grain crops, and identification of crops and weeds.
