

Taylor Suspends Young Democrats

University students found their interest in political party affairs revived Wednesday and Thursday by activity on their own doorstep.

Another chapter was added to the Berman story this week when the Lincoln Young Democrats charter was suspended by State Chairman Vernon O. Taylor, St. Paul, Neb.

Taylor's action came after Eugene Berman, university junior, attended a meeting of the state executive committee in Grand Island Saturday and sponsored a motion which would have permitted the Lancaster Young Democrats to register two lobbyists in the name of the state organization at the state legislature.

Berman Not Official

Taylor stated that the reason for rescinding the motion was because Berman, "who at the meeting held the official proxy of an elected state officer of our organization, introduced a proposal when he held no official right to do so."

The organization is not in any way objecting to the proposed fair employment practices act which will be the subject of the lobbying Taylor declared, but he is objecting to the fact "that a Wallace man came into the meeting without authority" and acquired passage of the motion.

Taylor announced that he had suspended the charter until the Lancaster Young Democrats

See TAYLOR, Page 8

Nu Meds Hear Pfeiffer Dec. 8

Addressing the monthly Nu-Med meeting Wednesday night, Dr. LaVerne Pfeiffer, local urologist, discussed the improvements in surgery of the excretory tracts of the human body and the advantages of streptomycin in the treatment of diseases of the digestive and excretory system.

Nominations for next semester Nu-Med officers, made at the meeting, include the following: president—John Kahle and Tom

YM to Show French Film At Library

The prize-winning French film, "Song of the Streets," will be shown in a series of three performances this week-end in Love Library auditorium. Sponsored by the YM, the movie is noted for the symphonic score by the European composer Hans Eisler.

Specific times for the showings are 8 p. m., this evening, and 8 and 9:30 p. m., Saturday. The second viewing will permit spectators of the basketball game to see the movie.

"Song of the Streets" is a film in which Eisler's characteristic music is to be heard. It creates and drives forward the rhythm of the story. All the terror and anxiety of a pursued man, along with his own realization of the inevitability of his capture, is projected in the music.

Eisler, who has written the background music for literally dozens of European films, recently commented, "To write music for the movies is of the greatest importance to the modern composer. Through this medium he is able to reach the largest audience that has ever existed in the history of music. In the next 20 years the musical taste of the nation will be fashioned, for the most part, by the music written for the movies."

The film stars the favorite Jean Pierre-Aumont, Madelin Ozeray, Vladimir Sokoloff and Marcelle Jean-Worms.

Powell; vice president—Leland Gartrel, Ruth Johnson, and Jerry Tyner; secretary—Rex Hoffmeister and Bob Long; and publicity chairman—Benny Robinson and Glenn Sobeslavsky.

The election will take place at the next meeting on Jan. 12, 1949.

'Turnabout' to Rule Friday At Mortar Board Ball

Gene Krupa

Presentation of Eligible Eight To Highlight Annual Formal

BY RUTH ANN SANDSTEDT

"Turnabout is fair play" will be the rule Friday evening for the Mortar Board ball, traditional turnabout dance, starting at 9 p. m. in the coliseum.

Highlighting the ball will be the unusual presentation of the eight eligible bachelors at 10:30 p. m. The eligible eight were chosen from 22 candidates in an all-coed election.

Music for the dance will be provided by Gene Krupa and his orchestra. Known as the "king of drums," Krupa says that his band, on many tunes, stresses ballad work and harmony. He was among the first to say that the era of blatant swing has gone and bands should be fashioned to suit dancers. Among Krupa's honors is his selection on every all-American swing orchestra.

Tickets will be on sale at the door. Spectator tickets are 50 cents and a section of the balcony of the coliseum will be roped off for spectators. Ticket takers will remain at the door until the end of the ball.

For the Mortar Board Ball, coeds traditionally do the asking, escorting, wining and dining. In addition they present their dates with corsages of their own design.

Before the ball all members of Mortar Board and their dates will be the guests of A. Q. Shimmel for dinner at the Cornhusker hotel.

Lundquist To Address Convo at 11

... In Stuart Theatre

The first in a series of annual Sigma Tau convocations will feature Dr. Eugene E. Lundquist today at 11 a. m. at the Stuart theatre. Dr. Lundquist is the director of research on aircraft structures for the National Advisory committee for Aeronautics.

Prior to his appointment as director of research for the NCAA Dr. Lundquist was responsible for considerable research in aeronautics and for his design and construction of wind tunnels for testing.

He will address the assembly on "The Graduate School of Experience." The purpose of the series of convocations is to acquaint students with outstanding men in the engineering profession.

Dr. Lundquist is a Nebraska Civil Engineering graduate, a member of Sigma Tau, Pi Mu Epsilon and Sigma Xi. He received his Honorary Doctor's degree in engineering from the University of Nebraska in 1944 and the following year was elected a fellow of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

The NCAA is an independent agency of the government and is responsible directly to the President and Congress. It was established in 1915 to supervise and direct the scientific study of problems of flight with a view to their practical solution.

Union Party To Feature Talent Finals

The Union participants will compete for cash prizes Saturday night at 10 p. m. in the Union ballroom. The six finalists will appear during intermission of the jukebox dance which starts at 8:30 that night.

The free entertainment event has been set to begin after Saturday's basketball game in the Coliseum. Students have been urged by Al Tully, chairman of the Talent Bureau committee, to combine the show and game in "an inexpensive student night."

"Dri Nite" Club Featured
The ballroom Saturday will be set up with the special features of a "dri-nite" club, with individual tables and special decorations.

The six students selected by the committee for the show are: Henry Pederson, accordionist; Sue Kent, blues singer; John McEvoy, dramatic reader; Jane Simpson and Mary Jane Lamb, tap dancers; Eric Herman, cowboy ballad singer; and Mary Gaines and Neil Atkinson, pianists.

Although it was originally planned that only five persons should appear in the show, the quality of the top six acts prompted the committee to extend the number participating for the cash prizes.

Cosmopolitan Club to Honor R. G. Gustavson

The Cosmopolitan Club will hold its annual banquet in honor of Chancellor R. G. Gustavson in the Persian Room at the Cornhusker hotel Saturday, Dec. 11, at 6 p. m.

Among those attending the banquet will be Mrs. Gustavson, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Hoover and Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Champe. The banquet is sponsored each year by the foreign and American members of the Cosmopolitan Club.

Plans for entertainment were announced by the president of the club, Jacques Levi. Entertainers include Paul Dzavik of Czechoslovakia who will sing and play his guitar, Walter Willi, Switzerland, Claude Hannezo, France, and Dorothy Lidolph, United States, will sing several French Christmas carols. A piano solo will be provided by Robert Johnson, United States, and a Persian folk song will be sung by the Persian members of the organization.

Students planning to attend the cage encounter between the Huskers and Iowa Teachers, should have activity ticket number "8" ready for presentation at the gate, along with their ID cards.

Ag College to Present Traditional Yuletide Choral Program Dec 15

Yuletide festivity will be the keynote at the annual Ag college Christmas Program to be held Wednesday, Dec. 15 at 8 p. m. in the College Activities building. Sponsored by the Ag Exec Board, the program is a traditional affair on Ag campus.

Bringing the Christmas message at this year's program will be Rev. Rex Knowles, resident pastor at the Presbyterian Student House. New this year on the Nebraska campus, Rev. Knowles came here the first of September from Oneida, New York. Rev. Virgil Anderson will pronounce the invocation and Rev. John Wichelt will give the benediction.

Messiah Excerpts Given
Excerpts from Handel's Messiah will be presented by the Ag College chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Altinas Tullis. Solos from the oratorio will be sung by Oryl Lee Fischer and Pat Hanlon, Ag students. The chorus also plans several other Christmas works including "Sheep and Lambs" by Homer and "The Penitent" by Van de Water.

Miss Miriam Bratt will accompany the chorus and Garreth McDonald, a music school student, will play the organ throughout the program.

Audience Sings Carols
Mrs. Tullis will also lead the audience and the chorus together in traditional Christmas carols.

The auditorium in the Activities building will be decorated with greenery and will be lit by candlelight. Betty Beckner and Marge Reynolds, senior Ag Exec Board members, will light the tapers.

Co-chairmen elected by the Exec Board in charge of the Program are Neal Baxter and Betty Beckner. Committee members and their chairmen are: Decorations, Lloyd Wirth, chairman, Jack Baird, Alice Boswell and Gwen Monson; publicity, Louise McDill, chairman, Phil Keeney and Marge

Reynolds; and program, Jack Dewulf, Phil Keeney, George Pinkerton, Frank Leoffel and John Osler will usher.

Bourne Addresses AICe Members

Seniors applying for jobs should consider themselves as salesmen trying to convince the interviewer that the company will be benefited by their employment, according to Dr. R. M. Bourne, instructor in economics and labor relations, who spoke at the regular AICe meeting yesterday.

Speaking on the topic "Facing Interviewers," Dr. Bourne said that two preliminary steps are helpful before contacting the interviewer: First, have a general knowledge of the company, and, second, have a written detailed personal history for inspection.

Rhodes Finalists Selected

Two Nebraska university students, Ted Sorensen and Eugene Luschei, both of Lincoln, were selected as Nebraska's Rhodes Scholarship candidates late Thursday.

They will compete in Des Moines, Ia., Saturday with ten other candidates from Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, South Dakota and Minnesota. Four men will be chosen and will be eligible for minimum two-year scholarships at Oxford university in England.

The scholarships at present amount to about $2,000 per year and are granted on a two-year basis. A third year of study at Oxford depends in part upon the scholastic record attained there.

Sorensen and Luschei were chosen from among seven Nebraska candidates.

The selections were made by the Nebraska Rhodes Scholarship Selection committee. Membership of the committee includes Chancellor R. G. Gustavson.

Sorensen, 20, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sorensen of Lincoln. He is a second year student in Law college and a member of the university debate team.

Luschei, 20, is the son of Mrs. Helen M. Luschei of Lincoln. He formerly lived at Gering and took two years at Nebraska Wesleyan university before transferring to the University of Nebraska. Luschei is now a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Footballer Novak Takes Surgery

Tom Novak, standout Cornhusker football player for the past three seasons, was operated on at Lincoln General Hospital Thursday morning.

Novak's left elbow has been giving him trouble and doctors found he had a bursitis condition.