

Taus Capture Sixth Straight, Betas Topped

Three Class A games held the spotlight in intramural cage action at the P.E. courts Wednesday night.

Alpha Tau Omega led the way with a 25-16 victory over Phi Gamma Delta. Jack Carroll's six points and excellent floor play highlighted the Taus' sixth straight win.

Delta Sigma Pi all but ruined Beta Theta Pi's hopes for a playoff berth by scoring an 18-15 upset. Bob Baum's 11 points led Phi Kappa Psi to a 32-27 triumph over Sigma Nu.

MARION SISLEY poured in 14 points to lead the Delta Chi's to a 21-14 win over Kappa Sigma. In other A encounters Sigma Chi romped past Cornhusker Co-op, 31-5, and Sigma Phi Epsilon topped Alpha Sigma Phi, 26-20.

Ed Carter's ten points helped the Sigma Phi Epsilon B team swamp Alpha Sigma Phi, 32-7. The closest B title of the evening saw Beta Sigma Psi edge out Sigma Chi, 22-21.

In Class C action Sigma Alpha Epsilon dumped Delta Tau Delta, 26-14, and Alpha Tau Omega scooted past Sigma Phi Epsilon. The ROTC five rocked the Pirates, 24-12, in the only Independent league game, as Pill Rollers got a forfeit from Plainsmen.

Biffer Leaves For Nebraska With 'Regret'

DURHAM, N. H.—Although he considers himself highly honored in being named head football coach at the University of Nebraska, J. William "Biff" Glassford, admitted that he leaves the University of New Hampshire with great regret.

As he began packing his football shoes, track-style sweat pants, old football jersey and baseball cap which constitutes his coaching "uniform," Biff expressed gratitude all around for "excellent cooperation from many people" during his three-season coach career at UNH.

BIFF SAID, "The good record that Wildcat football teams have had in the past three seasons is not achieved by any one man, and I consider myself very fortunate in having had the help and cooperation of many people at the University of New Hampshire.

"First, I want the boys who have played on the Wildcat team since 1946 to know that I appreciate very deeply their great fighting spirit and teamwork. They have made possible this new opportunity for me.

"I ALSO OWE a great debt of appreciation to assistant coaches Ed Stanczyk and Pat Petroski for a sound job of teaching fundamentals to the backs and linemen and for good teamwork in the coaching staff.

"The good wishes of alumni and administration of the University of New Hampshire have helped to inspire both coaches and the players to their best efforts. Every coach needs and appreciates that kind of background support. I leave UNH with great regret."

Although a member of the Yankee conference, University of New Hampshire football, through its coaches, have been closely allied with the Big Seven of the Missouri Valley. In 1915, Bill Cowell, an alumnus of Kansas, became head coach at Durham. He was succeeded 22 years later by George Sauer, an alumnus of Nebraska. Sauer's successor was Chick Justice, another Nebraska graduate. The lend-lease policy was in vogue when Sauer returned to the Big Six to coach Kansas in 1946, and when Biff Glassford left UNH this year to become head coach at Nebraska.

RAY MAGSAMEN.

Magsamen in Standout Job Since Service

Ray Magsamen, Albion, Cornhusker football end and hurdler, is deserving of a full salute.

Ray came out of the service in 1946 weighing around 230 pounds. He worked daily to get off the excess weight, and has worked daily since then to keep it off.

As a result, Ray has been the Cornhusker sensation of the young track season. Ray has scored 17 points in two dual meets. He won the high hurdles and tied for first and second in the low hurdles against Iowa State.

In the Minnesota-Nebraska dual, Ray won the low hurdles and was second in the high.

"The only thing we fear about Ray is that he will work himself into 'staleness,'" Coach Ed Weir says. "And in this particular era it is mighty unusual when you worry about a lad because he is too conscientious."

Cornhusker followers are expecting Magsamen to find himself on the football field next fall. The speed that he is developing in track, they point out, will come in mighty handy for him at an end position. Ray now weighs 191 pounds.

Coed Capers

There will be a WAA council meeting Friday, Feb. 4, at 5 p. m. in Grant Memorial hall.

Phil Allen, intramural coordinator, has announced that basketball practices will not start until next week, but that they will be run on the same schedule as was set up for this week. Two practices are required in order to be eligible to play.

A health permit is also necessary for all those who are planning to play.

Women's hours have been extended during UNESCO conference meetings. Women are to be in as soon as the sessions are over, around 10:30 and 11.

Huskers Test KU Cindermen In Dual Meet

The University of Kansas comes to Memorial Stadium Saturday for an indoor dual track meet against Ed Weir's Nebraska Cornhuskers, unbeaten in duals against Iowa State and Minnesota. The meet starts at 2:30 p. m.

It will be the season's first test for Millard E. "Bill" Easton's Jayhawkers.

The race that is expected to highlight the Husker-Jayhawk dual is the half-mile. Harold Kopf, Nebraska 880-yard runner, is unbeaten this season but he has not been under 2 minutes for this distance. Reports drifting up from Lawrence indicate that Coach Easton has a sophomore, Pat Bowers, who has been turning the distance in better time during workouts.

SEVERAL OF the 1948 meet champions will be competing again. Bob Karnes, who won the mile and 2-mile for Kansas; Loyal Hurlbert, Nebraska quartermiler; Bob Crowley, Kansas broad-jumper; Bill Moomey, the Nebraska, low hurdle winner; Dick Hutton, Nebraska, winner of the 60-yard dash; Bob Berkshire, Nebraska, high hurdler and Jim Martin, Nebraska, half mile, are among the 1948 champions who will be defending their titles.

Nebraska won the meet in 1948, 68 to 36.

The meet entries:

Colorado to Provide Stiff Big Seven Test Saturday

Colorado's Buffaloes will provide the opposition Saturday night at the Coliseum as Coach Harry Good's cagers go after conference win No. 4. Tipoff time is 7:30 p. m.

The Buffs will be looking for their third victory against three defeats in Big Seven play. Coach "Frosty" Cox's crew must win this one to stay in the running for the conference title.

In last year's encounter the Huskers took narrow victories, both games being decided from the foul line. Nebraska took a 59-55 game at Boulder, and won 58-53 on the Coliseum maps.

THIS YEAR'S Colorado squad is featured by underclassmen with the starting five composed of juniors and sophomores. The recent Colorado surge has been attributed to the fiery play of two sophomore guards, Wayne Tucker, al Istater from South Pasadena, Calif., and Fred Johnson.

Back from last year's starters are Forwards Kendall Hills and Bob Rolander and Center Carr Besemann. Rolander, 6'5, is the leading scorer on the Colorado squad this season with 124 points in 11 games and is the top board man on the team. He was second only to Brannum, Michigan State center, in personal fouls last season, with an average of four per game.

Colorado works from a double post and makes extensive use of single and double screens. They are probably the hardest driving team in the league. This may account for the high number of fouls which they have compiled thus far in the season.

The starting five will average 6'3 against 6'4 for Nebraska, but this may be raised if the towering 6'10 Rod Bell is inserted to replace Besemann at center.

NEBRASKA will probably use the same lineup which has carried them to three consecutive conference wins. The only questionable position being the forward spot to be played by either Dick Srb or Rod Cox. Srb stood out in his initial starting roles against Kansas State.

The B team meets the freshmen at 5:45.

Probable starting lineups:
Nebraska Colorado
Malecek Hills
Cox or Srb Rolander
Whitehead Besemann
Cerv Tucker
Retherford Ley
