

AUF Fund Drive Opens

Revere Ride, Dinner Head Drive Plans

A starvation banquet at the Union yesterday successfully opened the All University Fund drive.

Today approximately 15 carloads of AUF solicitors will ride from the Mall through principal campus streets. This Paul Revere ride will serve to distribute pamphlets which advertise the drive. Visits will be made at all organized houses.

A 50c TICKET, purchased at the Starvation banquet, was good for a cookie and a cup of coffee. Proceeds were added to other AUF contributions. The meal was served between 4:45 and 7 p. m. in Parlors XYZ of the Union.

Kosmet Klub, with $100, and Corn Cubs, with $50, led the list of organizations making contributions by Saturday noon. At that time faculty donations totaled $105. The drive will continue through Feb. 11.

Peggy Lawrie is head of the AUF planning committee which also includes, Ted Gunderson, head solicitor; Jo Lisher, unorganized students solicitor; Laverna Acker, ag solicitor; Fritz Simpson, publicity director; Neil Atkinson, assistant publicity director; Mary Helen Mallory, clerical; Joel Bailey, special events; Jane Traphagen, art chairman; Al Short, YMCA representative; Ardith Tilly, YWCA representative; and Betty Bloss, treasurer.

APPROXIMATELY 300 students solicitors will canvas all University campuses during the next week. Proceeds from the drive will go to the World Student Service Fund, United Negro College fund, Community Chest and USO.

Contributions to individual funds are combined in AUF, the only drive of this nature to be conducted this year. It replaces the usual two campaigns. For this reason, final receipts are expected to exceed last year's record-breaking total.

Evans Wins Author's League Award for Poetry Contributions

National recognition "for creative contribution to American poetry" has come to Oliver Evans, instructor in the English department at the University.

The Authors' League of America has awarded $1,000 to Evans for his poems, which have been published in over fifty magazines, including Harper's and Yale Review. He was recommended for the grant by Tennessee Williams, author of "Streetcar Named Desire," and "Glass Menagerie." The committee of selection included John P. Marquand, Maxwell Anderson, author of "Winterset," Oscar Hammerstein II, Elmer Rice, Bernard DeVoto and Glenway Wescott.

IN DECEMBER Evans was awarded $100 by the American Literary association for the best unpublished poem on the American scene. His poem, "Honor Roll," should have special meaning to college students.

NU to Compete In '49 National Bridge Tourney

An invitation has been received by the University to compete in the 1949 National Intercollegiate Bridge tournament, along with 174 other colleges and universities across the nation.

During the past two months three series of preliminary rounds have been played to select the four high teams for this contest. Top ranking players so far are teams: Barrett and Nordgren; Longman and Terry Atkinson and McDermott; Smith and Gotschel. Only undergraduates are eligible to play in the duplicate Contract Bridge event for the title and silver trophy.

The preliminary round, sponsored by the Union, will begin Feb. 23. This round is played by mail in each individual school, and the 16 highest ranking pairs will meet for the face-to-face finals on April 22 and 23 at the Drake hotel in Chicago, where the players will be guests of the Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament committee.

To insure representation of all parts of the country in the finals the country is divided into eight zones, with two pairs from each zone qualifying for the finals. Nebraska is included in the Western Zone, made up of 25 schools, including North and South Dakota schools; the University of Colo-

The action took place in the final minute of the game near the Colorado basket and precipitated a near riot on the Coliseum floor. rado; Colorado School of Mines; Stanford; Montana State University; Universities of Denver, Oregon, Washington, New Mexico, and many others.

The entire nation is being represented in the preliminary rounds-by-mail by forty-five states and the District of Columbia. In each school a local bridge instructor has charge of the tournament, which is sponsored by a group of college alumni and officials interested in developing Contract Bridge as an intercollegiate sport in which men and women can compete on an equal basis.

Local tournaments are under the directorship of Dale Ball, and are sponsored by the Union Competitive Games committee.

Kosmet Klub Gives Colleges Library Fund

Each of the ten colleges of the university will receive $100 to buy periodicals and books through a donation made by the Kosmet Klub, according to an announcement from President Norbert Tiemann following their meeting.

Letters have been sent to the dean of each college asking them to choose a list of books, periodicals or other material that can be placed in the library to be used as reference material in that college. The Kosmet Klub will purchase the desired publications and see that they are placed in Love Library for use.

Prof. E. L. Schramm, faculty adviser of the Kosmet Klub, is in charge of arrangements. The money to be used for the entire $1,000 donation will be taken from the general Kosmet Klub fund.

Last year the Kosmet Klub gave $500 to the Love Memorial library for use of purchasing books and periodicals for general use in the library. This year it was decided to give equally to each college so that reference materials could be obtained for all colleges rather than for general use.

Kosmet Klub also has donated money from their fund to the Red Cross, AUF and other campus organizations and charities.

Bufs Topple By 45 to 43 In Hectic Tilt

BY CUB CLEM.

Managing Editor.

The Marquis of Queensbury rules were the law at the Coliseum Saturday night as the Cornhusker cagers eked out a 45-43 victory over a tough Colorado team. The final score does not begin to tell the real story of the rough and tumble game.

In the final minute, as an incensed Buffalo team was scrapping for possession of the ball, Carr Beseman, rugged Colorado center, and Anton Lawry began swinging fists under the Buff basket. Inside of two seconds the playing floor was crowded with players, officials, students and two lone policemen engaged in a reasonable facsimile of a gang war.

QUICK ACTION by cooler persons, especially Colorado coach "Frosty" Cox and Husker trainer Buck Barger, soon brought the crowd under order. Even with this temporary lull, it took a full five minutes to run off the final minute of the game. Before the final gun sounded, the busy referees called five technical fouls and disqualified two players, Beseman and Lawry, from the game.

Aside from the fisticuffs and the usual excitement of a close contest, the game held little interest for the fans. Nebraska's passing game was off, and their shooting was generally wild. The teams scored only 14 field goals apiece.

The victory was the Scarlet's seventh in a row and their fourth conference win against no losses. They remain at the top of the Big Seven basketball heap.

COLORADO GOT off to a 5-2 lead, and then were tied at six-all before Nebraska went ahead 11-8. A sudden spurt, led by Bob Rolander put the Buffs back into a commanding lead at 22-14.

Claude Retherford paced a Husker rally which set the half-time margin at 25 all.

The game resumed its give and take ways after the intermission. When Rolander, the best man on
