

WAVE Ensign Commissions Now Available

Applications for commissions as wave ensigns in the regular navy are again being accepted. This information comes from the Kansas City office of naval officer procurement.

To qualify, women must be between the ages of 21 and 25, graduates of accredited colleges or universities, and citizens of the United States.

Dieticians and physical therapists must have an additional year's training or internship beyond the college and may be appointed to the medical service corps. Other officers will be appointed to the line and convene at Newport, Rhode Island, in July for a five-month indoctrination course.

Service in the Waves may include shore duty in public relations, personnel training, publications, intelligence, communications, logistics, operations and in numerous other fields, both in the United States and at overseas bases. Specific training as civilians is not required prior to filing applications.

Applications for the July class must be completed prior to April 25.

Further information may be obtained and applications filed at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 239-41 U. S. court house, Kansas City, Missouri.

Crowd Laughs at Masquer 'Skyline Scandals' Premiere

By Jo Lisher

A pleasantly surprised audience laughed its way through the Nebraska Masquers' revue, "Skyline Scandals," Sunday evening in the Union ballroom.

A capacity crowd saw the honorary dramatic society present a breezy and colorful "example" of New York City life. Written by Gaylord Marr, the miniature musical lifted its eyebrows at the serious and instead injected the light touch of satire.

ROUGHLY, the revue took the audience on a tour of the metropolitan city, showing them the highpoints of interest. Main characters of the show were Mr. and Mrs. Abe Lincoln, typical Lincolnites, played with just the right amount of home-spun corn by Bill Line and Millie Hodt-walker. Their guide, the sophisticated Mr. New Yorker, was handled with proper suavity by Milt Hoffman.

With Mr. New Yorker as their guide, the couple visits the pleasure spots of the big city. One of the first places seen was a satirized version of a Broadway comedy, appropriately labeled "Private Wives." Jo Lewis and Eddie McCollough turned in top performances as the "veddy-veddy" couple.

At Carnegie Hall, Bud Winter, through his concerto-like offering of "Mairzy-doats," proved to the audience his ability at the ivories.

THE SHOW'S AUTHOR, Gay Marr, to whom much of the revue's success is due, drew more than one chuckle with his portrayal of the Greenwich Village writer. A cleverly worked-out scene in the "Village," through spotlighted flashbacks, caricatured the latest best-seller types of novels.

Last pleasure stop of the evening was at the Stork Club. Marian Crook provided a sparkling finale with her original piano patter.

Much credit is due author, crew, actors and especially the Union, which through the efforts of Director Duane Lake, helped to make the revue a success.

HE HAS BUILT A BRAND NEW CITY

The "telephone man" is mighty busy these days! Since the war, among many other things, he has built or enlarged 2,800 buildings... scores of them large enough to fit into the skyline of a modern metropolis.

These buildings are more than brick, mortar and telephone equipment. They are jobs for thousands of men and women... more and better telephone service for millions of people... more business for the towns and cities in which they are located.

But most important of all, they are an indication of the Bell System's earnest efforts to keep up with the nation's ever growing needs for communications service.
