

Farmers Fair Plans Revealed At Convocation

Ag students got a good idea recently of what to expect at this year's Farmers Fair, April 29-30.

At the annual Farmers Fair convocation, presided over by Don Smith, Fair manager, the students learned of the tentative plans for the Fair as set up by the different committees.

Bob Eggert, chairman of the rodeo committee, gave a brief report on the activities of his group. A semi-permanent arena for the rodeo is in the making west of the beef cattle barn. Materials for the arena have arrived and construction will begin sometime this week, according to Eggert.

THE PROGRAM for the rodeo is going to include calf-roping, saddle and bareback bronc riding, cow-cutting, wild cow milking, and the always interesting co-ed calf-matching contest.

Among other events planned for the fair is the cotton and denim dance, Friday evening, April 29. Music will be furnished by Jack Swanson and his orchestra.

Saturday morning there will be a parade and the different departments will hold open house. The rodeo will begin early Saturday afternoon. There will also be a special program for the ladies sometime after lunch.

A BARBECUE will be offered Saturday evening. This will be restricted to Ag students, faculty and alumni, because, according to the board, they only have facilities to feed from 700 to 1,000 people. They feel this is the only way they have of limiting the number.

Dr. Brooks, one of the faculty advisors, gave a short talk on the coming Fair.

CE's to Sponsor New Type Movie

"Highway, U.S.A.," a three dimensional movie produced by Barber-Greene company and sponsored on the campus by the Civil Engineers, will be shown in Love Library auditorium, Thursday, April 7, at 7:30 p. m.

The movie will feature a new type of photography called stereoscopic photography. The movie must be viewed through special polaroid glasses which have one red lens and one green lens. The effect achieved by this type of movie is a clearer and more realistic view of the subject than ordinary movies. The movie depicts the beauty of America's highways, and it also shows many scenes from some of the national parks, Grand Canyon and Niagara Falls.

The CE's will have as their guests, the Lincoln Engineers Club and the State Highway department.

April 16 Deadline For Vet Supplies

Veterans authorized to obtain books and supplies which might not be available until after April 16 may obtain them by signing a charge ticket in advance at the book stores.

No books or supplies for the current semester will be issued to veterans at government expense after April 16, as indicated on present semester purchase authorizations.

Veterans graduating at the end of the present semester should retain their purchase authorizations after April 16 for use in renting caps and gowns for June commencement exercises.

Engineers Hear John Deere Head

H. W. Worthington spoke on "Trends in Tractor Design" before a group of 75 ASAE and ASME members and faculty people Wednesday evening.

Worthington is a Director of Engineering Research with the John Deere Tractor works in Waterloo, Iowa.

His speech covered such topics as future use of lower grade fuels, improvement in materials used in engine construction, recent power attachments and factors concerning the comfort and convenience of the operator.

Worthington will interview Ag. E's and M.E.'s who are interested in power implement work.

"HOW ABOUT A TICKET to the E Week banquet?" says Paul Albro as he sells a ducat to Don Walker. Prof. J. H. Smith delays his explanation of Walker's test paper while Albro makes the sale. Tickets for the Engineer's Week affair are on sale through departmental societies.

Radio Show Will Interview Grad

E. M. Gershter, graduate assistant in modern languages, will be interviewed Monday afternoon at 4:15 on "Meet the Professor."

A native of Nebraska, Gershter worked for Army intelligence during the early years of American military occupation of Europe. He will tell of his many varied behind-the-scenes experiences with MISX, Military Intelligence Group.

Two Delegates Leave Tuesday For UNESCO

Nebraska university will be represented by Sue Allen and Bill Edmundson at the national conference of UNESCO in Cleveland, Ohio, this week end.

The delegates left Tuesday morning for the conference headquarters where they will give a full account of Nebraska's model UNESCO conference held last February. The three day session, March 31, April 1 and 2, is attended by national officials of UNESCO.

Miss Allen and Edmundson were elected delegates from a list of nominees appointed by the University executive UNESCO board. Edmundson served as a delegate at the conference and on the executive board and Miss Allen was director general of the model conference. They are both Arts and Science majors.

Committee members who chose the delegates were Dr. Frank Sorenson, Dr. Leroy Laase, Shirley Quisenberry, Eloise Paustain, Marion Crook and Dr. Donald Kline.

NU Alumni Attend Trade Institute

Nebraska alumni are taking or having taken training in the American Institute for Foreign Trade in Phoenix, Arizona.
