

Orchesis to Present Annual Dance Concert May 13; 14

Company G Wins ROTC Merit Award

Climaxing the ROTC parade of 1,300 cadets Thursday afternoon was the presentation of the Honor Company award to Company G, commanded by Cadet Captain Roswell Howard.

Six other awards of merit were presented to cadets of the regiment. They are:

Prof. C. J. Frankforter presented the Frankforter Infantry award for the outstanding first year advanced student in infantry to Cadet 2nd Lt. Donald G. Canady.

LT. COL. JOHN W. Thomas, head of the ROTC engineer unit, presented the American Military Engineer award for the outstanding senior engineering student to cadet Lt. Col. Marvin L. Klug.

Capt. James B. Kelly presented the U. S. Field Artillery Association award for the outstanding advanced student in the artillery branch to Cadet 2nd Lt. Glenn Elliott.

Lt. Col. Alex C. Jamieson presented the Air Force Association award for the outstanding first year advanced student to Cadet 2nd Lt. John D. Campbell.

CAPT. OREN B. Bryant presented the American Ordnance Association award for the outstanding first year advanced student in the ordnance branch to Cadet 2nd Lt. John B. Westcott.

Captain Bryant also presented the Military Efficiency award for the outstanding second year basic student to Cadet 1st Sgt. Darrell Timmons. This award was based on leadership and scholarship and was given by Nebraska's company of Scabbard and Blade.

Grads to Get Membership in Alumni Group

All recipients of degrees at the June 6th commencement exercises will be given a year's membership by the university.

Memberships will include a year's subscription to the Nebraska Alumnus, the organization's magazine, published monthly except during July and August. Reports on the activities of classmates and friends and news relative to the University are carried in the magazine.

When graduates receive their degrees, a card will be enclosed to be returned to the Alumni association office. No postage is required.

It is necessary that all seniors make a special effort to fill out the card and return it so that the association will have a record of each alumnus' activities and his or her address, Morton Steinhart, association president, stated.

The Alumni association maintains the only records kept of alumni of the University following their departure from school.

Twenty to Participate in Program Celebrating 22nd Year at Nebraska

Orchesis will present their annual Spring Dance Concert at Grant Memorial Hall at 8:15 p. m. Friday and Saturday, May 13-14.

In celebration of its 22nd year on the campus, Orchesis will present a varied program in which twenty students will participate. The concert will be highlighted by two dramatized dances, a comedy ballet, "Time Out for a Dream," and an original version of Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition."

Block and Bridle Initiates Eleven

KOIL Searches for Talent For Omaha 'Amateur Hour'

Attention, talent! The search is on for amateur university talent to appear on the coast-to-coast "Original Amateur Hour" Wednesday, May 18.

Time and place for special audition to be held Tuesday, May 10, will be announced later.

When Ted Mack and the Old Gold Amateur Hour originates at an Honor City, this time Omaha, it is customary to have included on the program as much local talent as possible.

In line with this policy, special auditioning facilities of KOIL will be made available for all talented entertainers in this area who aspire to represent Omaha when it is saluted on radio.

Producers of the program (the original Major Bowes staff) will consider individuals or groups, vocalists, instrumentalists, or a

Ag College Holds Judging Contest

Ag college was host Friday to the 32nd annual vocational agricultural judging contest. Over 650 vocational agricultural students from 53 Nebraska towns participated in the event.

Sponsored by the various departments at Ag college, the men entered the contest by teams to judge all types of livestock, poultry, project records, crops and soils management and farm mechanics. College department representatives supervised the judging.

The contest was in the general charge of the state department of vocational education.

MYSTERIOUS LITTLE MAN POPS UP ALL OVER TOWN

LINCOLN, MAY 8.

Detectives can't explain the mystery of a little man dressed in red, with lather all over his face, who has been popping up in local bathrooms while men are shaving. He hands the shaver a Pal Hollow Ground Razor Blade, and disappears. He does no harm; in fact, the men report that Pal is the best blade they've ever used. Yesterday he showed up in this office and left a note reading: "Pal Hollow Ground is the slickest, quickest blade going. They're in all good stores - you still get 4 for 10¢, 10 for 25¢, 21 for 49¢, 44 for 98¢ - Double or Single Edge." Strange case, isn't it?

The comedy ballet depicts an office scene in which the secretaries go off into flights of fancy. The maid dreams of being a famous artist, a career girl goes in for politics, bobby soxers perform a boogie number, and the girl in love floats in a dream world. The office day is climaxed when the hard-boiled boss puts across a big business deal and declares a holiday.

Director of the show and of Orchesis is Dr. Aileen Lockhart. Students to participate in the concert include president of Orchesis, Amy Jo Bergh, Kay Cople, Vera Duerschner, Dorothy Edling, Pat Halderman, Marian Hamilton, Nell Holiday, Ruth Alice Johnson, Lois Kaminska, Pat King, Myrtis Kurk, Dorothy Lathrop, Pat Myer and Kay Moore.

The rest of the dance troupe includes Adele Mulliken, Patti Nutsch, Jeanne Peterson, Elizabeth Quinton, Andrew Morrow, John Kirsch and Charles Jones.

combination of both. They will also consider exceptionally talented impersonators, imitators, roller skaters, magicians, acrobats, dancers, jugglers, whistlers and all sorts of novelty acts.

Vocalists and instrumentalists may perform in jive, blues, popular, standard, semi-classic, operetta, concert, classic or grand opera and oratorio categories. There is no age limit for applying for an audition. The only requirement, aside from talent, is that applicants be non-professional in the entertainment world.

The radio broadcast will be part of a two and one-half hour entertainment which will originate at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum, under auspices of Omaha Post No. 1, the American Legion, for the benefit of the Post's Veterans' Welfare activities.

Little Man on Street Takes Man Off Street

BY FRANK JACOBS.

All eyes were focused on the overall-clad laborer. He had tried to remove a brightly-painted skull and cross-bones from in front of the Union. He shook his head and muttered:

"It's pretty good paint." This writer, always on the search for feature material, had noticed the toiler in his perspiring endeavors and was watching him carefully. After all, this was another phase of Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week.

THE WORKER had quite a technique. First he would saturate the sign and about forty square feet around it with gasoline. Then, standing away at a safe distance, he would deftly flip a blazing match onto the awaiting liquid. As the flames died down he would pick up his metal scraper and attempt to remove the weakened paint. The final step included the rubbing-out process with a section of gunny-sack.

If this complicated process didn't work the first time, the begrimed laborer would pick up his convenient gasoline can and start the process all over again.

Sensing the great potential news value in such goings on, this reporter was quick to grasp the opportunity for an interview.

When asked if removal was difficult, the laborer answered, "It's the cement that makes the differ-

BOB ALLEN, Phi Delta Theta and Best-Dressed Man On Campus, receives a check for $60 from Jack Lowe, manager of Harvey Brothers, sponsors of the BDOC contest. The presentation was made at Kings ballroom, Friday, April 29. Honorable mention went to Fig Flagg, Alpha Tau Omega, and Bob Ackerman, Delta Upsilon. This year's contest marks the first renewal since the traditional festivities were interrupted by the war. Judges included a committee composed of faculty members and coeds.

Corn Cobs Name Five Seniors To Frosh Governing Council

The new Corn Cob Governing council, designed to assist in the formation of the new Freshmen Men's Pep group, has been announced by vice-president John Connelly. The council will assist in formulating the policy and supervision of the new group and will work with a similar group of Tassels.

The council is composed of senior Cob members elected by the old members of the active body. The members are: Jack De Wulf, Bud Gerhardt, Lefty Gloystein, Wes Koatz and Bob Sim.

THE NEW freshman group is to be composed of from one hundred to one hundred and fifty freshmen with a like number coming from the freshmen women. The purpose of this group is to create spirit and improve the operation of the card section at the football games. The members will also be expected to attend all rallies and other functions of a similar nature.

Members of Corn Cobs are also planning their annual freshman smoker for prospective workers at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in parlors B and C of the Union. Specific qualifications for workers will be published later.

However Rodney Lindwall, Cob President, stated, "All unaffiliated students of sophomore standing are invited to attend. And all organized houses are invited to send two qualified representatives. We are doing this so that the new workers can assist in planning for the Big 7 Outdoor Track meet and other functions that will occur throughout the remainder of the year."

Biz Ad Society Banquet Marks 25th Birthday

Twenty-five years of activity on this campus were celebrated last week by Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary Business Administration society.

Initiation of 17 new student members and five new faculty honorary members was announced at the group's banquet.

Student initiates are: Leo M. Adams, Kenneth H. Anderson, Glenn D. Anstine, Dale Ball, Virgil M. Dissmeyer, John A. Eilers, Robert Stuart Franke, Thelma J. Grush, Robert L. Hagen, Phillip S. James, Ernest F. Fruhbauer, Donald J. Mathes, William McKay, James H. Moore, Arnold K. Pierson, T. J. Prosser and Richard B. Rundquist.

FACULTY HONORARY members include Dana F. Cole, F. C. Blood, George M. Darlington, C. M. Elliot and Edward B. Schmidt.

Prof. Karl M. Arndt presided as master of ceremonies at the banquet, and Dean Earl S. Fullbrook reviewed the history of the organization. Mr. Cole was principal speaker, discussing "Expanding Opportunities in the Field of Accounting."

Three charter members of the chapter, James McLellan, Hoyt R. Hawke and Dean Emeritus J. E. LeRossignol, were present.

Registration

Upperclass registration officially closed Saturday, according to Dr. Floyd Hoover, assistant registrar. Those failing to register when their numbers came up will be given a chance to do so Monday morning.

ence. The coarser the cement the deeper the paint goes. Now over at Ellen Smith, I worked twenty minutes and it didn't do no good."

As to the method of application, he mused, "Looks like a brush to me. Yep, must have been a brush—cept these letters above the skull. They were probably stenciled."

HE THEN EXPLAINED how he had been hired to work on his "spring project" all over campus. It took him an average of twenty minutes for each sign.

When asked, "Doesn't that take quite a while?" he snapped, "Hell, at a dollar-ten an hour, who cares!"

He had some trouble with many of the emblems. Several "just wouldn't come out!" That led to a question about the paint, whereupon he laid his scraper and can of gasoline aside, raised himself to a crouching position, blinked a few times and wearily shook his head as he admitted:

"It's pretty good paint."

Pederson Tops Spelling

Cadet Master Sgt. Henry F. Pedersen was awarded the merit medal for the ROTC spelldown in the manual of arms.

The medal is awarded on the basis of proficiency with the rifle. Pedersen will have to defend his title next week.
