

DAILY NEBRASKAN

Vol. 50—No. 67

LINCOLN 8, NEBRASKA

Thursday, January 5, 1950

Council Provides Student Election of Three Judges ... In Proposed Court

An amendment providing that four judges of the proposed Student Court will be elected from the Student Council and three from students at large was the result of Wednesday's Council meeting.

The four Council members would be elected from and by Council members and the students-at-large would be voted on at an all-student election.

A motion to amend the proposed Court constitution clause concerning the election of judges came from a discussion of the practicality of the present clause. It previously read that the seven student judges of the Court would be chosen from the Student Council by Student Council election and the president of the Court would be elected by the Council from those seven.

This was the only amendment called and passed by the Council. The amendment was proposed by Don Stern, member of the Judiciary sub-committee.

Motion for Council Opinion

The motion to amend the proposed constitution resulted from a motion to call for a vote of Student Council member's personal opinions. This motion was called for by Ray Simmons, calling for a majority of two-thirds in favor of the Court, or killing it at the present. The motion was killed without a second.

This leaves the final vote of the fate of the Court to the Council at next Wednesday's meeting. At that time Council representatives will give opinions and vote as to the vote of their organizations.

Plans for Convention

Other business discussed included the tentative scheduling of a Big 7 Student Council convention to be held at Nebraska early this spring. This would be the first convention of this kind to be held in the Big 7 conference. More plans will be announced. Missouri has accepted the invitation at present, and Colorado has declined.

Louise McDill of the Elections sub-committee presented suggestions to the Council concerning publicity requirements for student elections. This is one of the main steps in revising the present Student Council Constitution election clause.

Investigations.

In preparing to write constitutional provisions dealing with campus elections, Miss McDill's committee is also investigating such items as the number of students in the respective colleges, the percentage and number of affiliated and unaffiliated students, and the range of campus organizations. The committee has met recently to discuss election rules, basing some discussion on local, state and national rules and customs.

A suggestion that the Council investigate possibilities of a campus-wide cooperative buying program was referred to the Campus

See COUNCIL, Page 4.

KAM Names Winning Shots In '49 Contest

Entries of Nadine Moriarty, Niel Shields, and Tom Reynolds placed first in the annual Kappa Alpha Mu student photo salon.

Reynolds, who topped the news class for the second consecutive year, won with "Did he?" a basketball shot.

Last year his print of the Notre Dame-Nebraska football game, placed high in the KAM international salon.

Nadine Moriarty's entry, "Study in Cans," was first in the pictorial class, and Shields was first in the table top division.

Other Winners.

Other pictorial winners were Ken Krogh in second place with "Well," and Bob Duis third with "Trail." Honorable mention went to Dallas Boltcher, Duane Nielson, Ben Bishop, Ken Lewis, and Warren Peterson.

Robert Scott was second in the table top class and Ken Lewis, third. Honorable mention awards went to Stan Sohl and Ray Morgan. In the news division H. G. Boker was second and George Turner, third.

The salon is currently being displayed in Gallery A of Morrill hall. Judges were Prof. Dwight Kirsch, Prof. F. C. Blood, and Elizabeth Quinton, instructor of art.

Math Group Initiates 13 At Banquet

The University chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics society, initiated 13 new members at a banquet meeting Wednesday evening at the College of Agriculture dining room.

Miss Lulu L. Runge, assistant professor of mathematics, conducted the initiation, and Arnold Allen of Malcolm, reviewed the life of Karl Gauss, noted German mathematician. Speaker of the evening was Dr. James M. Reinhardt, professor of sociology, who addressed the group on, "Why Criminology?"

Phillip N. Armstrong, Gordon E. Bale, N. G. Barker, William R. Blank, Anthony L. Bueltel, Berwyn B. Caswell, George B. Cobel, Charles J. Cook, Donald E. Dau, James A. Dutton, Walter G. Elwell, Adrian E. Glandon, Richard G. Hanisch, Dale R. Ingwersen, Edwin T. Jipp, John C. Johnson, Mervin L. Keedy, William D. Kerr, E. Eugene Kirsch, Edward C. LeBeau, Robert J. Mason, Forrest S. Mozer, Donald W. Proctor, James W. Reinders, R. R. Robinson, Edward T. Saad, Richard R. Short, Robert R. Smith, Edward G. Swenson, Donald R. Weyenberg and Richard A. Dudek.

Essay Contest To Award Tours

The International Alliance, corporation for the development of educational travel abroad, is holding a nationwide essay contest to select recipients of Study-tour fellowships and grants available in 1950.

University Will Remodel Condemned Temple Plant

THE PRESENT THEATRE—Nebraska's University Theater plant condemned by the state fire marshal last year, was termed "antiquated" by the Daily Nebraskan in a two-page spread on the condition of the theatre last spring. This picture, showing the backstage of the theater, was one used in the Daily coverage then.

Renovation to Begin With Auditorium

Condemned over a year ago by the state fire marshal, the Temple building is now in line for a complete remodeling, beginning with the University Theater.

Board of Regents members gave their approval of the plan to remodel the Temple, Nov. 5. An architectural firm is now preparing specific plans for the job.

Charles Fowler, director of University buildings and grounds, said today that he hopes the "plans will be completed within 30 days," though he admitted that he may be optimistic.

Theater First.

Fowler revealed that definite work will be done on the building with the theater plant the first project. He said the program may extend over a three or four year period, due to the University building fund budget and the necessity of using the building for classes.

No definite plan for the job has been submitted to the Regents, said Fowler. He commented that they approved a plan to do something about the Temple, but naturally have not been able to see any architect's plans.

To Consult Occupants.

Fowler said that both the Departments of Speech and Dramatic Art and the School of Music will be consulted about plans "since they will be the principal occupants of the remodeled building."

Approximately $150,000 has been estimated as the cost of the theater auditorium remodeling, which should begin in about three months. Fowler said tentative plans do not call for any outside changes in the building, except for a special theater entrance from the street.

The recommendation of the remodeling was presented to the Regents by members of the University Building committee, including Fowler, Dean Carl Borgmann, John Selleck, Linus, Burr Smith, Dean Earl Fullbrook, M. L. Baker and Dean Robert Goss.

Cable to Capitol.

Fowler also announced that completion of an underground cable and conduit from the University power plant to the State Capitol building is expected within two weeks. The cable will provide additional electrical power to the Capitol and the Governor's mansion.

Installation of the cable before Christmas vacation necessitated the tearing up of 14th Street for the laying of ducts for the cable. The ducts are now in and the cable is being drawn through them, said Fowler.

When the Temple was condemned last year, student reaction was immediate. Petitions were circulated; protests were heard; meetings with University officials were held. Theater, Kosmet Klub and opera plans were cancelled.

Find New Stages.

The Theater retreated to Nebraska Wesleyan stage. The Kosmet Klub presented its show at Lincoln High school. Attendance at any experimental productions or shows in the Temple was limited. This year, the University Theater has scheduled all of its five plays at the Nebraska theater in Lincoln.

In discussion following condemnation of the building, several principal ideas were presented for relief of the problem. Among them were a completely new inside for the Temple building, a Fine Arts building or a Little Theater building.

Rag, 'Shucks End Filings Jan. 6

Deadline for the Daily Nebraskan and Corn Shucks paid staff positions will be Friday, Jan. 6.

Anyone interested in applying for second semester positions on either of the two publications may obtain blanks from Bruce Nicoll, adviser to Student Publications. His office is on the second floor of the Administration Annex, Room 1, (1125 R Street). Blanks must be returned Friday to the same office.

All staff positions for the Daily Nebraskan are open for application: Editor, two managing editors, five news editors, feature editor, sports editor, society editor, ag editor, business manager and three assistant business managers.

Corn Shucks Positions

Corn Shucks positions to be filled are: Editor, two managing editors, business manager and two assistant business managers.

Only prerequisite for application is a 4 average.

Applicants will be allowed to file for only one position, however, they may indicate on their application a willingness to accept a position subordinate to the one applied for.

Students selected for the positions will be notified, before first semester examinations begin. Before choosing the staff, the Committee will hold three meetings: Jan. 6, Jan. 13, and Jan. 14. The Committee hopes to make the announcement of the new staffs.

In making announcement of the opening of filings Dr. Roger Shumate previously stated that a new program intended to revitalize University publications, will be initiated.

Broaden Content

The program's main objective See RAG FILINGS, Page 2

Ag Union Readies For First Dance

A dance befitting of the weather—the Snow-Ball.

Bobby Mills and his orchestra will furnish the music for the Ag dance to be held Friday, Jan. 6, from 9 p. m. to 12.

This first Ag union sponsored dance will be in the auditorium of the College Activities building on Ag. Admission is 60 cents per person.

A floor show will furnish entertainment at intermission, according to Gerard Pritchard, the chairman of the committee.

He also stated that the "Dell" in the Ag union will remain open till midnight.

Ag Pub Board to Choose New Countryman Staff

Selection of new staff members for the Cornhusker Countryman has been tentatively set for 8 to 10 a.m. Jan. 14, according to R. J. Graham, chairman of the Ag college publications board.

Positions to be selected for the Ag college magazine include an editor, managing editor, home ec editor, four associate editors, art editor, and a photographer for the editorial staff; and a business manager and circulation manager for the business end.

Ag Students Eligible

All applicants should come to Room 207 of Ag hall the 14th,

Graham stated. He also said that only students of the College of Agriculture are eligible for staff positions on the magazine.

Applications should include references, journalistic experience, class, number of hours taken, and average. A booth will be set up in the Countryman office at the Ag union for information concerning applications on Friday, Jan. 6 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The publications board which includes Graham, George Round, Miss Margaret Cannel, and C. C. Minter urges everyone who is interested in the magazine to apply for a position.