

Wildcats Favored Over NU

BY DON BRYANT

Nebraska's unpredictable Cornhuskers will place their Big Seven chips on the table Saturday night at Manhattan when they meet the Kansas State Wildcats. It will be the Huskers first conference tussle.

GAME POSTPONED.

Due to Kansas State's lack of glass bankboards the Nebraska-Wildcat tilt has been cancelled. This was announced by Coach Harry Good Wednesday, who explained that it is a conference rule that member schools have glass boards. The game has been rescheduled on March 11.

Playing on the Manhattan cracker-box, Jack Gardner's crew will be a heavy favorite to take the staggering Nebraska gang into tow.

The Wildcats, in addition to winning two games in the Big Seven tourney at Kansas City, have been victorious in six out of eight of their non-conference games. They dropped contests to Oklahoma in the tourney, Wisconsin and Canisius, while whipping such top-notchers as Long Island U. and Washington State.

Sparking the K-State attack will be six-foot, three inch forward Rich Harmon. A unanimous choice for all conference honors last season, Harmon will probably be a thorn in the Husker's sides. Last year he hit 38 percent of his field goal attempts, while averaging 11.6 points a game.

The Huskers, who burnt up the Kansas City maples in the last game of the Big Seven Tournament against Iowa State, were unable to create even a warm breeze in their mix with SoDak U. Monday night.

Harry Good's boys have failed to show any fire power in the front ranks. If Bus Whitehead is held down or fails to find the range, the Huskers are with out any consistent scoring punch.

Jim Buchanan, fireball soph guard, is showing more than a little ability, but still needs a good deal of seasoning.

The first year men have had quite a bit of experience in the Cornhuskers early games and should help the cause, but the fact remains that, without a forward that can hit field goals, the Nebraska squad cannot hope to be a repeater in the champion seat.

The Huskers should have renewed strength when they meet the Wildcats. Joe Brown, who seems to possess more than a little basketball savvy, was held in reserve during the Jackrabbit contest and should add support if he is allowed to play.

Unbeaten Farm House kept rolling towards their second consecutive All-University Basketball championship Tuesday night with a convincing 40-12 victory over Delta Sigma Phi. Darrell Heiss led the champions with a 21 point spree.

Sigma Nu kept pace with the high flying Ag men, keeping their slate clean with a 44-27 win over Pi Kappa Phi. High point man for the victors was Bob Isham with 10 while D. Gardner of the Pi Kaps led all scorers with 14 points.

Unbeaten InterVarsity unleashed a powerful second and third quarter splurge to down Presbyterian Student House, 38-29. The Presbys, ahead 8-0 to the end of the first period, found themselves behind 8-25 at the end of the third. High point man for InterVarsity with 14 points, ten of them in the third period was Ray Lucht. Rex Knowles led the Presby scoring, dunking 15 points.

Newman Club Falls.

Previously unbeaten Newman Club tumbled out of the select group Tuesday night, falling in front of the Lutherans, 41-38. Glen Johnson led the high scoring barrage with 18 points for the Lutherans. Beechum tied the Newman club scorers with nine. Beta Theta Pi and Delta Upsilon

HIGH POINT GRAPLER—Herb Reese, 175 pound wrestler from Omaha, was high point getter for the Big Seven champion Husker team last year. As well as racking up the most points, Herb copped the loop crown in his weight and placed third in the NCAA competition as a sophomore last year.

Reese resumed his winning ways in the opening card of the Husker wrestling season Monday night by pinning his opponent in 1:59.

NU Instructor's Work Recognized

A University of Nebraska Art instructor received recognition twice during the past year for his work in painting and sculpturing.

The instructor is LeRoy Burket, whose oil painting, "Rock Inhabitants" won a $200 purchase prize at the Ninth Annual Missouri Exhibition held recently at the City Art museum in St. Louis.

Earlier in 1949 Mr. Burket's "Figure," a statue of Georgian marble, was shown in the Third International Show, one of the foremost exhibitions of its kind.

silon split a pair of games, both by similar scores. The Betas copped the A tussled by a 40-21 score while the DU's won the B game by a 44-21 score. Kasmarck led the winners in the A game with 11 points while Alexander led the Delta Upsilon B's with 13 points.

Brown Palace scored their first win of the young season with a 26-21 victory over Kappa Sigma behind the eight points of Hahnstein while Cornhusker Co-op game to Delta Tau Delta. Vandel of the Deltas was high scorer with ten markers.

McKenzie Scores All Points

J. McKenzie scored 15 points for the Methodists Tuesday night but it wasn't enough because his mates didn't score any in their tussle with Cotner House in a game that saw Cotner the victors by 19-15.

Another oddity occurred in the Alpha Sigma Phi—AIEE game. The game, having already been played, was scheduled by mistake but neither team paid any attention to that fact. It didn't matter, however. The Alpha Sigs won again, 20-16.

Alpha Gamma Rho ran into a good Phi Gamma Delta team and was beaten 31-14. Renken led the Phi Gam scoring with ten while Koph got top honors for the AGR's with three points.

Alpha Kappa Psi suffered their first defeat of the year, dropping a 16-31 game to Phi Delta Phi. Tyson led the winning scorers with 11 points.

Beta Sigs Win

Beta Sigma Psi kept on the winning trail, Tuesday night downing a hard fighting band of Delta Chi's 34-21. Bull led the Beta Sig scoring with 14 and Sisley led the losers with 12 points.

Other games saw Anderson potting 16 points to lead ASME to a 35-18 victory over the Gunners and Pioneer Co-op doubling the score on Sigma Alpha Mu, 52-26. Delta Theta Phi rounded out the night's cage competition with a 43-27 win over Geology behind Gillette and Richards.

Track Schedule Changed

The finals of all events of the Indoor Track Meet have been rescheduled for different days. The first event will be the low hurdles this Friday. A complete schedule will be in tomorrow's column.

Any freshman or sophomore interested in becoming manager for the track team should contact Coach Ed Weir or Knox Jones at the Field House any time this week.

Know Your Sport GYMNASTICS

(This is the first of a series of articles written to better acquaint the sports fans with the sport of gymnastics, before Nebraska's first home meet Jan. 14 with the University of Iowa.)

Gymnastics is one of the few truly individual sports. Its ultimate objective is physical improvement and personal achievement which becomes team accomplishment when an organized group of men compete for honors with another team.

The sport can be called "individual" because when a man is called on to perform his exercise before judges during a meet he is all by himself.

He has no opponent to defeat directly and he cannot compare his performance with that of another. He must display his own personal achievement, unaided by teammates. What he does rests on his shoulders alone.

10 Man Team

Gymnastics as practiced at the University of Nebraska is worked on five pieces of apparatus and mat tumbling. The apparatus consists of sidehorse, parallel bars, horizontal bar, flying rings, and trampoline.

Under NCAA rules, three men are entered in each event with a limit of 10 men on a team. This means that each man must be proficient in at least two events.

Each team member prepares an exercise of his own selection which will be performed in the

A majority of the holiday sport news was concerned with the big bowl games and the one which particularly interested Nebraskans was the East-West game. The reason? "Trainwreck" was playing. When Tom Novak was one of the first four players asked to play on the West team in the Shrine game, Husker followers were elated. Then when he was chosen co-captain with Lindy Berry, TCU quarterback, the fans of the Scarlet and Cream knew their faith in Big Tom was not unfounded.

The four-year All-Big Seven selection lived up to the kind of advanced notice sent out by West Coast scribes and played his usual outstanding game. Tom visited the Shrine Hospital in San Francisco and was particularly impressed with the work done with the profits of the Shrine game.

Elsewhere in New Years bowl games, Big Seven teams batted .500. The Oklahoma Sooners proved to the nation they were rightful owners of the number two spot among the country's grid teams as they walloped Louisiana State 35-0 in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

Missouri, the other conference eleven engaged in post-season activity, didn't fare as well when they fumbled to a 20-0 loss to Maryland in the Gator Bowl.

The latest rumor about a match between top rated Notre Dame and the Sooners is that Oklahoma officials are shifting their early schedule for next year to fit in a game with the Irish.

Clyde Lovelette, 6-9 Kansas center, walked away from the pre-season Big Seven basketball tourney sporting a nifty 19.7 average. The big post man scored 64 points in the meet to boost his 10-game total to 197. Not bad for a sophomore. Nebraska cage fans will get a chance to view Lovelette and his mates next Tuesday, Jan. 10, when Phog Allen brings his Jayhawk crew to the Coliseum floor.

Nebraska sport fans received another Christmas present when Dick Westin, All-State back from Benson High in Omaha, decided to enroll at the University. Westin was rated as the most dangerous runner in Omaha prep football the past two seasons. He was equally as effective on defense.

After his decision to enroll at Nebraska, Westin was quoted as saying, "I think Coach Bill Glassford and assistants are the type of men I want to play for." This strengthens Glassford's claim to bring out the cream of the Nebraska prep crop.

A recent compiling of Big Seven sports for 1949 found Oklahoma and Nebraska leading the league in individual championships. Each school won two titles outright and shared a third. The Sooners won the football and tennis crowns while the Cornhuskers were taking top honors in indoor track and wrestling. The two teams tied for the basketball laurels.

presence of three judges. Each judge evaluates his work on the basis of 100 points—60 for difficulty, 40 for style, continuity and form.

So, when a man is preparing his exercise he attempts to learn the stunts which will give him the most credit when he is judged as a team member. An exercise becomes a series of stunts so executed that there will be no break in continuity or form.

Self Confidence

Mentally and physically a man must have arrived at the level of conditioning that assures him that he can do his exercise at any time and any place. For this reason the gymnast trains from September until June for a season which lasts only about two months.

The heights to which one may rise depends upon his own physical makeup and desires. Gymnastics becomes an activity that helps the individual develop his self-confidence, a thing which is necessary if he is to be a good gymnast.

NUCWA to Hear German Student

Juergen Herbst, a University student from Germany, will give a talk on the new West German republic at the next mass meeting of NUCWA, to be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Parlor Z of the Union.

The German student will also discuss the political parties of the new Germany and the economical and social conditions that exist today.

Herbst, a geography major, is attending the University on a scholarship provided by the American Society of Friends.
