

Dr. Hixson to Direct Ag College Instruction

Dr. Ephriam Hixson, head of the entomology department, has been appointed associate director of resident instruction of the College of Agriculture as part of an over-hauling policy instituted by Dean W. V. Lambert last fall.

This revision of Ag College administration includes an associate director of extension and of experiment stations in addition to Dr. Hixson's new post.

In an interview Dr. Hixson explained that he is anxious to help any student with problems concerning their student life—if the problem cannot be settled by the student's advisor.

Old Plan

Under the old set-up, various committees were responsible for the different phases of the Ag student's life, with the result that the student could not seek the help of any one person or committee about a particular problem.

Now it is possible for students with problems ranging from registration difficulties to social or financial problems to seek advice from one person who is well acquainted with all Ag fields. "This is no loan agency though," Dr. Hixson added jokingly, "But we get scared sometimes, then we don't think."

Committees Consolidated

Where possible, committees are being dropped or consolidated to save time of hard pressed faculty. However, the committee on course of study has been continued with Dr. Hixson serving as chairman. His job is to keep course requirement substitutions within reason.

Hixson will continue his activity in research as well as teaching. Concerns of his new position include a better course of study, new methods of instruction, job placement after graduation, and miscellaneous policies making extra-curricular activities more valuable to the student.

Union Bridge Meet Resumes Play Saturday

Bridge competition will be resumed again at the Union, this Saturday, Jan. 7, after the vacation interruption.

It was announced that the meet, the second of the local tournament, will follow the same rules that were used for the first, played Dec. 10.

Duplicate hands will be played, which guarantees that skill decides the winners. Students may still register for the tourney at the Activities office.

Winners of the first meet were Neal Atkinson and Steven Flansburg and Pat Black and Suzie Pecha.

Remaining yet in the competition are the following meets on Jan. 7, Feb. 4 and 11. In addition, a play-off will be featured between the winners to determine the first place team on this campus.

A team of eight players will be selected from the winners of the preliminaries. These will compete with winners from other colleges in a round of mail which will be played in late February, for the 1950 Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament.

From this semi-final windup, the 16 highest pairs in the nation will compete in a face-to-face final match in Chicago.
