N.U. and the Big Muddy . . .

Nine honorable mentions go this week to University faculty and staff members participating in Nebraska's committee for the Missouri basin. These men deserve more than mention . . . they deserve our most sincere praise for active interest in their state's welfare.

Highest honors go to Dean W. V. Lambert of the Ag college for his part in the program as chairman of the committee. Nebraska can depend on him to see that the state receives maximum benefit from the Missouri valley program. The governor can depend on him for expert advice when he represents the state on the interagency committee.

More honors go to Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, who saw an opportunity for the University to extend its services in a program of such vast importance to Nebraskans. To the University student the Missouri valley program may seem of little immediate importance. But it is our generation which will be the first to receive the benefits such a project can offer.

The same praise is in order for George E. Condra for extending the University's conservation and survey and geology assistance to the basin committee. Such technical service will greatly aid Nebraska's role in basin development.

And finally, for expressing willingness to co-operate in development of Nebraska's policy, further recognition is deserved by Carl Borgmann, Harry Gould, Marvel Baker, Earl Maxwell, Roy M. Green and H. F. Rhoades.

All Nebraska is looking to these men to bring the needed balance to the Missouri basin project.

Well Modulated

Contrary to all popular belief, it is nice to be back to school. Where else can one find so much social life? The little joys of cold eight o'clock's, the three o'clock study sessions. Then come the inevitable final exams. For us they are liable to be final in more than one sense of the word. . . . As for the radio section, they are up to their usual well-executed tricks. "Authors of the Ages," Lincoln's top dramatic show, will do Boyleston's "The Key." Hollywood's got nothing on us. This is a psychological thriller that just won't quit.

At this point it seems only right to commend Gaylord Marr on the fine work he has done as director on "Authors." Gaylord is no stranger to anyone who frequents the University Theater.

Now he has taken that same high quality work and transferred it to the basement. (Here it is appropriate to mention that the radio studios are located in the basement of the Temple building.) Our literary hats off to Gay Marr,

Man of the Week

After viewing Tuesday night's basketball game with Kansas, we can scarcely give the Man of the Week award to anyone but Bus Whitehead, although we must confess we nearly picked the editor and two managing editors of this paper for the mental agony they went through in awarding The Daily Nebraskan citations.

Whitehead has been giving the Cornhuskers the spark they lost last year when Claude Retherford graduated. In singling out the elongated center, we don't mean to ignore a few other stars in the line-up, such as Tony Lawry, Joe Malacek, Bob Pierce, Joe Brown, Jim Buchanan, Bob Cerv, et al.

But we do feel that without Whitehead's presence, the team's record would not be what it is today. Against highly-touted Clyde Lovellette of the Jayhawks, the Buster looked like an All-American.

And we are becoming convinced that maybe that is just what he is.

Campus Chatter

By Jean Fenster

It has been suggested by Ajon Farber, Wednesday's Guest Editor, and seconded by yours truly that we establish a new tradition on ye old campus. One of the most famous traditions of Iowa State campus is the fact that a girl isn't a "coed" until she's been kissed under their Campanille Tower at the stroke of midnight. Being a "coed" however, indicates that you are "going steady" or one step from being pinned. In all respect to our recently constructed Mueller Carillon Tower it seems only logical that such a sentimental tradition should be inaugurated. In view of this situation we present the idea to YOU. What do you think?

The fellows at the Tau house are wondering just exactly where Doyle Buskohl's pin is at. Some think it may be at the Phi house.

Jean Loudon, Alpha chi, walked off with the laurels last Saturday night as she was chosen pledge sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Jean was escorted to the dance by Bob Dawson.

The recently elected eight Eligible Bachelors are drawing up a petition for presentation to the A.W.S. Board. In effect, they are requesting eight seats at the Coed Follies because they "feel that this gesture would do much to improve the social relations between the male and female sex . . ."

There's some rumor that Suzie Pecha and Bob McMasters have been seeing quite a lot of each other lately.

More pinnings and engagements have occurred recently. One of the most shocking candy passings Monday night was at the Tri Delt "Authors of the Ages," 9:30 p.m. Thursday over KFOR.

In typical high fashion, Studio B presents a typical drama of a typical family, called "A Typical Family." It seems this typical show contains a typical love affair, typical problems, and typical people. It also promises a lot of typical comedy. It comes on that typical radio station KLMS at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Typical, eh!

Swan Song, 1950 . . .

This being the last Daily Nebraskan of the semester, we suppose our public expects something in the way of a swan song. Pardon us if our sentiment is showing.

Not being too well practiced in the art of writing swan songs, we have looked into the writings of past editors to see what they had to say to their successors.

Two years ago the editor advised the crown prince to get into the middle of everything of importance at the University—from politics to society to sports. He wanted someone who was "in" on everything.

Last spring the editor called for a "detached" editor—one who viewed the campus "with tongue in cheek" (I translate word for word.)

We would not advise my successor to be either. Since we have always felt that it is an editor's personality more than his activities that make a good or bad paper, we would suggest that the heir apparent deviate not one bit from his past experience. We believe that he, or she, will do a much better job by keeping up any and all outside activities.

In our research into the final editorials of our predecessors, we find that they all try to sum up what they have done and what has happened on the campus in their tenure.

In some of our more optimistic moods, we have felt that we have done a good job as editor. But then we look into the vault where we store the many irate, bitter letters from our readers and think maybe we haven't. We have decided to postpone final judgment on the matter.

It is certain, however, that The Daily Nebraskan is more widely read this year. In a sense, then, we have been successful. We are sure that our successor can be even more successful next semester. The spring semester always has brought forth more big stories.

A Few Suggestions

We know the new editor will make his weight felt around the campus. Hoping we don't appear to be telling him how to run his paper, we would like to see him devote a good deal of time to the following subjects, issues we think are of prime importance at this time:

1. A new Council constitution, stating specifically its powers, duties and responsibilities. We think half of the Council's drawbacks will be eliminated once this is done.
2. Possibilities of financing a Student Union addition. This is one of the worthiest projects we have encountered during four years at the University, and the student body should back it to the utmost.
3. A teacher grading system. We feel both students and instructors can be benefited by such a system.
4. An investigation of student activities, with special attention to the methods of selecting new members. We have always felt that this campus is too full of "ticket-sellers" and rather empty as far as interested workers are concerned.

There are certainly other issues which will deserve consideration. The students can be assured they will not be overlooked by the new staff.

We conclude with an earnest wish for a successful semester.

And now, like the Arab, we fold our tent and silently steal away.

house. June Fissler passed candy to announce her marriage to Kenny Larsen—as of last October! Married during Christmas were Jo Maine and Bill Jones.

Engaged are Ted Kalstrom and Carol Russel, Norman Anderson and Marilyn O'Dey of Norfolk Junior College, Phyl Babcock and Don Clements, Gloria Ferschtman and Harold Abramson, Priscilla Horham and Don Ferguson, Myra Buckindahl and Bob Cardwell, Pat Esry and Ed Langin, Bonnie Schmieiding and Jerry Bauer, Dorothy Rogers and Norman Stehlik, Jim Phillips and Arlean Eismann, Frank Eastabrooks and Eria McClure.

Thieves—they ruin everything. Since someone stole John Peck's car over Christmas, Jan Cochran received a pin instead of a diamond—at any rate they're "engaged."

Pinned are Mary Ann Grundman and Jim Stephenson, Lou Eiler and Bob Axtell, Shirley Gessler and Bob Good, Charlene Kruse and Don Lawson, Lee Alexander and Lila Horne, Wendy Gauger and Jane Rockwell, Carmen Christoffel and Dick Kinsey, Bobbie Rosen and Marvin Hornstein, Kenneth Luckens and Barbara Henderson, Mary Lou Plank and George Mackey, Ann Scott and Stan Thelander.

According to the Sig Eps, Muscles Korniek found another muscle yesterday. Keep up the good work, Don.

Wayne "Bear" Hanchi and Charlie Collison are going steady again after a brief break-up lasting a total of four hours.

Bill Anderson reportedly has certain interests in the Alpha Xi house. Could it be Jayne Wade?

The Alpha Phis will hold their winter formal Friday night. Dates attending will be Mary Lou Keating and Bob Hinds, Dick Koziar and Shirley Randall, Suzie Stoll and her newly acquired steady—Warren Thomas, and Zanie Boches and Collin Schak.

Couples planning to go to the Delta Gamma dinner dance at the Lincoln hotel Friday night include Jo Norsworthy and Ed Donegan, Ann Raymond and Dick Phelps, Nancy Klein and Bob Kinsey, Jo Smith and Tom Harper.

Semi-finalists for the Delt Sweetheart Queen to be presented at their formal at the Lincoln Saturday night are Jan Armstrong, Marilyn Clark, Molly Houston, Sue Kimball, Ann Stevenson and Jo Zolot.

Dates planning to attend the Delt formal include Jerry Dosek and Laura Scherff, Keith Skalla and Bev Deal, Don Gerke and Doree Canady, Ray Stoyer and Mildred Richmond, Bill Cartmell and pinmate Sue Kimball, Dick Lander and Doris Gillette.

The Sig Alphas will hold their formal at the Cornhusker Saturday night. Dates attending will be Frank Kinsey and Jan Fairchild, Lynn Eller and Jo Melon, Bob Seacrest and Jo Finney, and Best Sistik and Bert Ott.
