What does it take to be a champion? For the second year Coach Harry Good's Nebraska basketball team has used the simple expedient of out-scoring the opposition.

The Cornhuskers are defend-ing co-champions with Oklahoma of the Big Seven Conference and currently sharing first place with Kansas State. Coach Good has molded an offense featuring one man to carry the largest share of the scoring burden and balanced scoring among the rest of the team. 'This year's super attraction is Milt "Bus" Whitehead, six foot-nine inch center. Whitehead has tossed in 257 points in 16 games. He is averaging 16 points per game, the second highest in the conference. In the supporting roles are a quartet of Huskers who have accounted for 90 or more points and may reach the century mark after Saturday's game at the University of Kansas. The foursome includes Anton

K-State News Release

Kansas State's basketball Wildcats, rolling along merrily ords as they go, have a new kind of record to crack Saturday when they meet the Missouri Tigers in Columbia, Missouri. The Cats will be trying for their first win on the Tigers' court since 1937— 12 long years ago.

On the surface, it appears that the K-Staters, ranked 10th in the nation, should have little trouble disposing of the Tigers who haven't won a Big Seven con-ference game in five starts, But, that isn't the way it shapes up. Four of the Missourians five league losses have been on the foreign courts of Oklahoma, Iowa State, Colorado and Nebraska In State, Colorado and Nebraska In their only home conference game, Coach Sparky Stalcup's Bengals lost to Kansas 48 to 44. The Tigers are capable of beating the best as they proved in the December Big Seven tournament at Kansas City, Missouri took the championship honors in that tourney beating Michigan, Colotourney, beating Michigan, Colo-rado and Oklahoma in order

Just two years ago, K-State's title-bound 1948 squad, went to Columbia confident the long-standing linx of the Tiger court would be broken. The Tigers, who were as inconsis-tent that season as they are this one, upset the Cats 48 to

There is another factor for Coach Jack Gardner's high scor-ing Cats to consider Saturday night, That is the Tiger defense. Stalcup, a stickler on fine de-fensive play, has the best goal-guarding outfit in the conference. In five games, the Bengals have given an average allowance of 48.2 points to their opposition. But, if the Tiger sentinels ever get a testing, it should be Satur-
