Editorial Briefs

Popularity among University audiences is the factor which has resulted in the annual brass choir concerts. Received with hearty enthusiasm in the first performance in 1948, the concert has become an event to which students and faculty members look forward to each year.

With students it's not the Square Deal or the New Deal or the Fair Deal, but so many of our class-mates seem to think that, each and every time they receive a grade, they are getting the worst kind of a Raw Deal. Never satisfied with their marks they continually pester their instructors and readers with moaning and complaints.

The "Red hysteria hoopla has landed on local front pages recently with special significance. In the current "witch-hunt" of a last-ditch Republican recovery program, Senator McCarthy, behind the cloak of Congressional immunity, has named Owen Lattimore as Russia's number one spy in America.

news and views

By George Wilcox National

KEY WEST — Reaction to Senator McCarthy's charge of communists in the state department has a new high with the report of President Truman instructing heads of the government agencies involved to ignore subpoenas of the senate loyalty investigating committee for loyalty files.

WESKIT SUITS

Ultra-Smart fine check waist-coat suit for Spring. Slim skirt with group of 3 pockets and trouser darts. Expertly tailored. Perfect fitting waist coat, has 3 buttons and 2 tiny pockets. Navy and blue check, pink and gray or brown and white.

AMSTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS — U. S. Secretary of Defense Johnson arrived by plane from America to attend the meeting of the defense ministers of the 12 Atlantic pact nations.

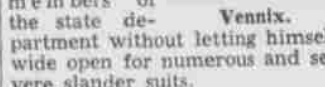

LONDON — Informed British observers are convinced that Soviet Vice Premier Molotov has taken over almost all executive powers in Russia. This position practically "settles" the question of Premier Stalin's successor.

IOWA CITY — Robert Bednasek told the jury in his murder trial that he was in love with the girl he is accused of strangling and then broke down crying. He and his girl friend were pinned and thus, according to George Jackson his girl friend, were engaged.

worth reading

BY ARTHUR J. VENNIX.

The other day, as I was browsing thru a group of theses, I ran across The Contempt of U. S. Congress, by Tan-ju Lu. Besides being very readable, it's a really good explanation of how to write the youthful senator from my home state can stand in congress these days and "cast aspersions" on members of the state department without letting himself wide open for numerous and severe slander suits.

Miss Lu's thesis was presented to the University of Nebraska in partial fulfillment of the requirements for her masters degree. It is available in the thesis collection and can be had by inquiring at the Circulation Desk, Love Library.

The color of the picture may vary, depending upon which side of the fence you stand. I've found a review of Walter Bedell Smith's MY THREE YEARS IN MOSCOW (Social Studies Reading Room), in a magazine titled "Soviet Russia Today."

On a recent occasion, it was called to my attention that I had reviewed a book and referred to its author as he, when the author's sex was not masculine. That reminds me of the time I precociously informed a professor that she was referring to Isadore Gilbert Mudge, author of GUIDE TO REFERENCE BOOKS (Education Reading Room.)

Last week I was pressed for time in the preparation of this column. I did the un pardonable—for a book reviewer—and reviewed Drew Middleton's STRUGGLE FOR GERMANY without having had the book in my hand.

For several months Miss Wilder, our Documents librarian, and I have been despairing over what we were going to do with the tons of mimeographed material we have on the Nuernberg Military Tribunals. This material is arranged in no conceivable pattern, and to discover a pattern and rearrange it would take months.

Don't Like Chain Gangs? Read First, Then Sign

Are Nebraska students gullible? Have they been reading petitions before adding their names to the immortal list of petition pests? Are you sure that teacher rating petition you signed didn't have a clause permitting the sale of beer in the Union, the elimination of teachers, a program of approval for cutting classes all semester or the elimination of 10:30 nights of university women?

The petition circulated read: "We, the undersigned, so signify we favor the elimination of final examinations for seniors, the grade for seniors during their last semester in the university to be based on regular class work."

Among those who signed were a campus editor, the leader of a campus peace movement, one of the "big 4" on the steering committee and the president of one of the classes.

While this book is ostensibly a record of the activity about improvement of our relations with the Soviet Union, in reality it is a tale of how the Ambassador set about not doing his job and how he compensated for this by rewriting all the standard anti-soviet slanders, putting them into the diplomatic pouch first, and serializing them afterwards.

Nebraska Named U.S. Agronomist — LeRoy L. Zimmerman has accepted a position as assistant agronomist with the Pure Food and Drug division, Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington, D. C.

Nebraska Experiment — It would be an interesting experiment at Nebraska if the following petition could be passed by the AWS board, assuming that the noble body, like most students, does not read petitions.

BY PAT WIEDMAN

Little Miss Muffet is the new title given to Marv Kohl, Sidney, his spider at the Sammy house, laid an egg. Newly named Sonia is being closely watched by all the boys. Several thousand infants are expected. Please keep us posted, Marv.

Phi Psi Jim Blankenship should be paying union dues. He ran the elevator in the Blackstone Saturday night during initiation banquet, personally conveying all brothers to the feasting hall.

Junior AkSarBen ball tops the list of Ag parties. Jack Wilson and Marilyn Kuhlman, Merwyn French and Jan Linguist and John Wilkenson and Cleo Yenny will be viewing the antics of Pick and his Tophatters.

Do you mind if I read this petition over first? The campus editor had asked: "Last year I signed something or other for the removal of roofs from houses, so now I'm careful what I sign."
