

Sigma Nu Drops Phi Psi's; Betas Fall in Water B-B

Sigma Nu, led by Bob Rogers, came splashing back in the final 30 seconds to tie Phi Kappa Psi six-all and then to go on and win in an overtime by a 9-6 score Wednesday night.

Rogers was the hero of the game, scoring all three of the Sig Nu overtime points, but it was Bob Isham that gave him the chance with a long heave just before the end of the regulation play that tied the count.

Rogers got his three on a goal and a clinching free toss with 23 seconds remaining in the overtime.

The Nu's went ahead early in the game and led 1-0 for almost the whole half. The Phi Psi's caught fire in the dying moments and potted four markers and led 4-1 at halftime.

The Nu's tied it up at 4-4 with two minutes gone in the second half. Ed Lewis put the losers ahead once again, 6-4 to set the stage for Isham's heave.

Rogers netted the highest total, getting six. Lewis of the Phi Psi's garnered four.

Betas Fall

Bill Greer scored four points for Beta Theta Pi Wednesday but his mates scored none and the Betas went down to their first defeat, a 4-5 setback at the hands of Phi Delta Theta.

The win enabled the Phi Deltas to move into undisputed first place in League I competition and dropped the Betas to second.

Top Phi Delt scorers were Bob Phelps and Steve McKenzie, both getting two.

AGR's Climb

Alpha Gamma Rho made a 6-1 halftime margin over Presby House hold up during the second canto to win their contest by a 6-3 score. The AGR win moves the aggies ahead of the Presbys into second slot in League III with a 3-1 record.

Bill Brinkman was the top point getter for the winners, earning a night's total of four. Bill Bayreuther of Presby was right behind with three points to his credit.

The Presbyterians are now in third position with a 1-1 record.

Two-Minute Rule Seems Doomed

The National Association of Basketball Coaches convention Tuesday discussed to great lengths the controversial two-minute rule of today's cage sport.

Rules changes were the main item of discussion at the meeting of the National Association of Basketball Coaches convention Tuesday.

"Almost every coach we polled wants to do away with it," Paul Hinkle of Butler, chairman of the College Rules Committee, said. "We have scores of suggestions for a substitute."

The most popular suggestion, Mr. Hinkle added, deal with imposing stricter penalties on teams for fouling. "One proposal is that two free throws be awarded for every deliberate foul," he said. "Another is that when a player is fouled in attempting to make a basket he be given a chance to make 3 points."

Allen suggests Phog Allen of Kansas University, who had just received the award of Basketball's Man of the Year, declared: "We now have a game that's impossible to officiate and almost impossible to play properly. It's all pass and run. It's mass hysteria."

Dr. Allen recommended two major rules changes which he said would bring back some stabilization to the cage sport. They are:

- 1. Return of the center jump on a rotation basis. 2. Make the present two-minute rule prevail for the entire game. "We ruined the game when we took away the center jump," he declared, "Let's bring back the jump but put it on a rotation basis."

"That is, a coach would have to give a jumping order to the officials before every game, just as baseball managers do. After each field goal a different player would jump for each side. Of course, there could be no substitution for a player whose turn it is to jump next.

I think also we need sterner measures to discourage fouling, so I would make the present two-minute rule a 40-minute rule."

petition, divided into ten leagues of 16 each. As much as possible, men from the same organization were not put into the same leagues.

All those winning their first tests will participate in the second rounds on Friday of this week and Monday of next.

Basketball's Man of the Year Award to Phog Allen

Kansas' Phog Allen was honored with the award as Basketball's Man of the Year Tuesday in New York. Allen won out over three other nominees in the final voting. These three were Herb Read, retiring coach at Western Michigan College; George Edwards, former University of Missouri coach and head of the national rules committee, and Coach Arthur "Dutch" Lonberg, Northwestern, now K. U. athletic director.

The veteran Kansas coach engineered his Jayhawkers into a late season rally and a share of the Big Seven conference title with Nebraska and Kansas State. His K. U. charges almost downed mighty Bradley in the N.C.A.A. district five playoff, also.

Offer Congratulations Many coaches offered congratulations to Phog after he received the award.

Among them were Bruce Drake, Oklahoma; Vadal Peterson, Utah; John Bunn, Springfield, Mass. college; and Jack Gray of Texas. Allen was an organizer of

CCNY Tops Bradley To Complete 'Slam'

City College of New York completed the first "grand slam of basketball" Tuesday night by stopping Bradley University in the NCAA finals 71-68 at New York.

CCNY won the National Invitation crown ten days ago by whipping the same Bradley outfit, that time by a score of 69-61. No team before now has ever been able to eram the two big national tournament titles into a single season.

Norman Mager, wearing an ugly two-inch gash over his left eye, scored a driving lay-up goal in the last ten seconds Tuesday to give CCNY its "slam." Mager's goal came with City College leading Bradley by a lone point and the Bradley Braves closing in fast.

Three minutes before the end of the first half, Mager was sent sprawling to the floor after a head-on collision with Aaron Preece of the Braves.

Mager, with a two-inch gash pouring blood over his left eye, had to be led to the locker room for medical attention.

There he had five stitches taken in the wound. He reported for action at the start of the second half.

Buffalo Golfers To Cal & Arizona

BOULDER, Colo. — Colorado University's golf team will get a jump on old man winter this week on their annual spring training trip to Arizona and California.

Six matches have been scheduled for the four-man links squad, which will be led by player-coach Bill Forbes of Greeley. Coach Les Fowler turned the reins over to Forbes early this week when he was forced to take a hurried leave because of illness in his family. Fowler will again take over the squad when it returns.

Other members of the touring Silver and Gold troupe are Henk Heinley, Chicago; Sid Poling, Ottumwa, Ia.; and Bill Detweiler, Grand Island, Neb. Qualifying scores posted by the team members in a high wind at the Boulder country club course were: Forbes, 236; Heinley, 238; Detweiler, 241; Poling, 242. Squadmen who missed the "big trip" were John Strobel, Barrie Weiss, and Joe Feehan.

The six-meet schedule: Friday, March 17—University of Arizona, Tucson. Monday, March 20—UCLA at Wilshire, Los Angeles. Tuesday, March 21—San Diego State, San Diego. Wednesday, March 22—USC, Los Angeles Country club, Los Angeles. Thursday, March 23—San Jose State, San Jose Country club. Friday, March 24—University of California, Marevasta Country club, Berkeley.

At the recent high school state basketball tournament, 7,386 programs were sold, 7,591 apples, 6,487 sacks of pop corn, 9,635 cold drinks, 15,982 ice cream bars, and 1,281 candy bars. The boys made a total of $1,991.88 at the tourney. This sum doesn't include the $595.31 which the boys in the stands on the court made. However, the boys working behind the counter were paid a flat sum of $75 an hour.

Final Handball Pairings Out Pairings for the six handball finals were revealed Wednesday. The six champions of their respective leagues will begin a final playoff this week to determine the All-University handball champ. Only two league champs were uncrowned at this paper's printing. Leagues II and III have yet to play their finals. In league II Joe Good of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and George Peters of Beta Theta Pi are still in contention. League III finds Jim Schlegler, Phi Gam and Harry Meginnis, Phi Delt still without defeat. The playoff pairings are as follows: Winner of Meginnis & Schlegler vs. Bye. Jack Andrews vs. winner of Good & Peters. Cozy Kline vs. Jim Hill. Doug Dudley vs. Bye. The first round of the playoffs must be completed by Apr. 4.

Omaha Knights Cop First Playoff Tilt The Omaha Knights, Nebraska's professional hockey contribution, gained a one game lead in the final playoffs of the U.S.H.L. by trouncing the Minneapolis Millers, 6-1. The rampaging Knights scored four times in the second period to chill any Miller hopes of a win. In the semifinals, both Omaha and Minneapolis had taken straight sweeps of the first three games, Omaha over Kansas City and Minneapolis over St. Paul. The Millers finished second to the Knights in regular season play. The second game of the best three of five series will be played in Omaha Thursday night. The Knights' parent team, the Detroit Red-Wings were not faring as well, however.

The average amount made at the home football games this year was $7,500. Including all sporting events this year, the athletes have received $9,000 in profits. Klein also pointed out that the salesmen are chosen from every branch of the athletic department, major and minor sports alike.

Before coming to Nebraska, he was athletic director at Kearney State Teachers for 10 years and director at Crete for another 12 years. He has been at Nebraska for 5 years.
